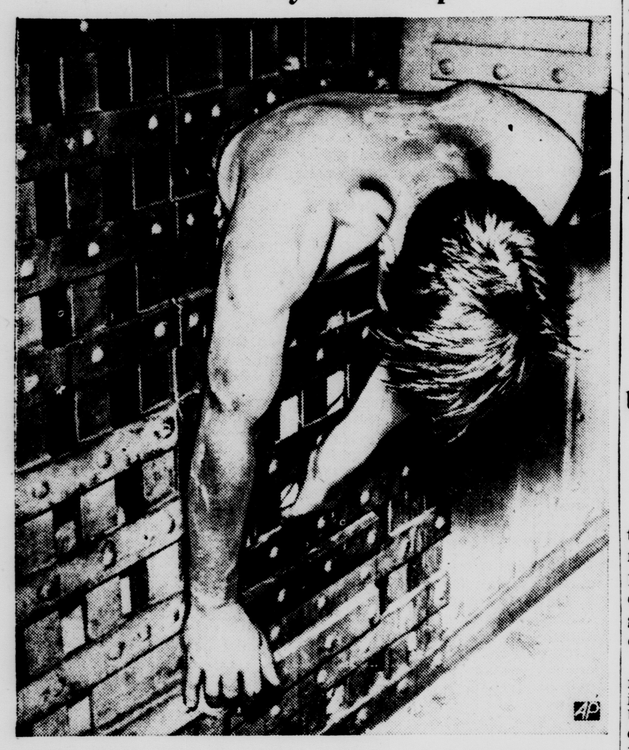
Poor Way to Escape



Jailer W. D. Mitchell, awakened by a yell in the Centerville, Tenn., jail June 15, ran to the cellblock and found James Gossett, Jr., stuck—half in and half out of his cell. The officer soaped Gossett's body, removed the prisoner's trousers, and yanked him through. Gossett, 28, charged with housebreaking, said he and a companion sawed the hole. (AP Wirephoto)

Stop-Gap Action Seen for Controls

Lawmakers Awaiting More Guidance From Voters Before Deciding

Washington, June 18 (AP)—The post-June 30th fate of economic controls program continued uncertain today. Lawmakers who must make the decisions awaited additional guidance from the folk back home.

Although Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson yesterday expressed confidence that Congress will "recognize the necessity" of extending the Defense Production Act, signs mounted that the administration may have to settle for a stop-gap extension on an as-is basis.

Counting today, Congress has at best only 12 working days in which to act.

Senators said early returns from President Truman's radio and television appeal to the people to rally round the expiring price-wage controls law have been something less than conclusive. They had expected a large volume of mail, to give them a chance to gauge public sentiment.

Mr. Truman in his speech Thursday night warned that prices will soar "through the roof" and subject the nation to ruinous inflation unless Congress quickly enacts broader new controls to take the place of those due to expire June 30.

Hopes to Beat Deadline

The Senate Banking Committee, working against time to get a controls bill whipped together before the deadline, reported that Saturday brought the first bulge in its mail volume attributable to the President's appeal—but that it was neither large nor conclusive.

Chairman Maybank (D-S.C.) said the committee will "keep driving" for agreement and that he still hopes to beat the deadline.

Chairman Spence (D-N.Y.) of the House Banking Committee said "a lot of divergent opinions" within his group made the time element highly speculative. However, he said he had some hope of writing a bill late in the week.

Defense Mobilizer Wilson, speaking on a television program (NBC's Meet the Press) turned thumbs down on a suggested four-months extension of the act as it now stands. He indicated he believed that would only result in more hearings similar to those that have been underway before congressional committees for several weeks.

On other phases of the mobilization program, Wilson said:

1. An aircraft production board, similar to one operated in World War 2, will be set up in the defense production administration within a month.

2. Under present plans, the United States will have a potential capacity of 50,000 airplanes a year by 1953.

3. A study has been ordered into the advisability of "encouraging" synthetic wool production in this country.

4. A $7,233,000,000 tax bill pending in the House "is a good step in the right direction."

Paris, June 18 (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower announced today the appointment of U. S. Admiral Robert B. Carney as commander in chief of allied forces in southern Europe.

Stolen Car Is Believed to Be Used by Killer in Oneonta, Found in Danbury

Danbury, Conn., June 18 (AP)—The search for the killer of a New York state trooper fanned out around Danbury today after police found a car they said had been stolen from a garage near the scene of the slaying in Oneonta, N. Y.

And in Oneonta, state police officers indicated the slayer probably was an interstate cattle thief, possibly from New England.

The car—a 1949 light grey coach—was found yesterday in a parking space behind the Danbury Hospital.

New York police examined it and expressed the opinion it was used by the slayer of Cpl. Arthur M. Diffendale, 33, of Otego, in an escape from their dragnet. State police declined further comment.

Diffendale was shot down Thursday afternoon in the outskirts of Oneonta by a man driving a stolen truck that the trooper had stopped. Later the truck was found abandoned on a dead-end dirt road a short distance from the scene of the killing.

The grey coach was stolen Friday night or early Saturday by a man who broke into a garage in Otego, about six miles southwest of Oneonta.

Bridge Authority Pays Off Debt on Highland's Span

At a meeting of the New York State Bridge Authority held last week action was taken by the Authority to issue $6,000,000 in bonds under the name of the Bridge Authority to pay off the remaining indebtedness on the Mid-Hudson Bridge at Highland.

This action clears the financial way for construction of the Kingston-Rhinebeck bridge.

When the Mid-Hudson bridge was built at Poughkepsie it was financed from a $50,000,000 bond issue which had been authorized for construction of schools, highways and the bridge. There exists a provision that the state will not erect additional bridges until the debt on the Mid-Hudson bridge is paid. By the Bridge Authority

New Power Explosive Is Reported

Tops A-Bomb

U. S. Officials Claim Destruction Would Surpass Hiroshima

Washington, June 18 (AP)—Military planners say the U. S. air force now has available to it explosive power greater than all the explosion from the invention of gunpowder to the atomic attack on Hiroshima.

These officials, who may not be named, told a reporter today that if the Soviets choose war, the U. S. can hurl down on Russian cities, people and armies destruction frightful beyond comprehension.

Unfortunately, only a relatively few men, none of them Russian, understand the power the U. S. has shaped into its atomic weapons, air force and sea service.

Nor does there seem a way, except for the politically dangerous demonstration of dropping a sample bomb on the Communist enemy in Korea, to convince Russia of this power of retaliation.

Not Bluffing Reds

American officials, from the highest levels down, have been speaking publicly for five years of the "deterrent" effect of the atomic bomb on Russian aggression plans. Because the phrase has been used so often, with so little elaboration, its meaning has worn thin. Moreover, it is quite likely the phrase came into existence before the real power was attained. But now officials who make the statement aren't bluffing the Russians. They are telling them.

Military men who must make the plans for any retailation say the U. S. strategic air command now has available explosive power greater than all the man-made blasts before Hiroshima, in 1945.

This means that packed into the nuclear fission weapons now in arsenals or on production lines is the total force of all the bombs, shells and bullets fired in World War 2 and the procession of other conflicts back through some 700 years or more. That force can be delivered now, against one country, in a matter of only hours or days, if the military planners are correct in their estimate.

Responsible airmen do not say this instant retaliation with atomic weapons would produce instant capitulation of Russia. But they do believe obliteration of key Russian government and industrial targets and destruction of industrial manpower would so shatter the war-making system of Russia as to make her helpless to stop advancing allied armies and navies.

Significantly, the sober, serious, behind-doors talk among military men of the vastly enhanced destructive power in American hands has come within fairly recent months.

Equally significant is the fact these men are wholly cognizant of Russia's own success in producing at least one atomic explosion and the probability that she now is manufacturing bombs.

Little Is Said

Officially, the United States has said little of the new power which has emerged from the laboratories of Los Alamos. If you look for formal, public announcements, you will find only the care-

Eccles Will Resign

Washington, June 18 (AP)—Marriner S. Eccles, a storm center in the Roosevelt and Truman administrations, will resign from the Federal Reserve Board this week, close friends said today. These sources asked not to be named. The 61-year-old millionaire banker, chairman of the board for 14 years before President Truman demoted him in 1948, was reported definite decided to quit "in a very few days" although his term on the board runs another seven years.

Would Give Dope Sellers Death Penalty

St. Louis, June 18 (AP)—The new chairman of the Senate Crime Investigating Committee today proposed indirectly that the death penalty be invoked for dope peddlers.

"The Lindbergh law was invoked to stop kidnaping and a similar measure must be taken to put the fear of God into these outlaws," Sen. O'Conor (R-Md.) said in a speech prepared for the Kiwanis International convention.

The Lindbergh law carries the death penalty.

The population of the federal hospital indicates, O'Conor said, "the percentage of narcotic users under 21 years of age has increased 600 per cent during past several years."

No Settlement Is Near in Solving Maritime Tieups

Full Impact of Stoppages Felt Today; Tourist Ships Won't Move, Union Says

June 28 (AP)—Federal mediators charted new efforts today to settle labor disputes tying up every major seaport in the nation.

But there was no early indication of a solution, at least on the east and gulf coasts.

The three-coast work stoppages, which started early Saturday, exerted their full impact at the start of the work week today.

Only Korean war and other vital defense cargoes were moving.

An official of the CIO National Maritime Union said yesterday that no more American passenger ships carrying tourist trade would sail until the contract dispute is settled.

Federal mediators here planned to renew efforts to bring the NMU and two smaller CIO unions together with representatives of 40 Atlantic and Gulf coast shipping companies.

In San Francisco, Federal Conciliator Omar Hoskins has scheduled a meeting between the striking CIO American Radio Assoiation and the Pacific Maritime Association, representing west coast ship owners.

Hoskins said he talked separately with the two sides yesterday.

The ARA walkout is holding up all American shipping there, although other Pacific maritime unions have settled with the shippers. The ARA has only 700 members on Pacific ships, but maritime law forbids vessels to sail without a radio operator.

On the east and Gulf coatsts, the 60,000-member NMU holds the key in the conflict. The ARA and the CIO Marine Engineers Benefical Association also are involved, but it is the NMU that usually sets the pattern for other maritime unions.

650 Ships Affected

During the week-end, the country's 23 major ports barely stirred in the tie-up affecting 650 ships.

The first big liner at New York piers to feel the NMU refusal to sail will be the New American Export ship, the Constitution, which is due to start its maiden voyage Thursday.

Seamen might return to work before then, but NMU President Joseph Curran yesterday warned other labor officials with passage on the Constitution to make precautionary secondary arrangements. The labor officials are going to Milan, Italy, for an international trade union meeting.

East and Gulf coast union officials have refrained from calling the tie-up a "strike" or "walkout." But the west coast radiomen announced they were on strike.

Demands are Given

The NMU is demanding a reduction in work hours at sea from 48 to 40 weekly, a 25 per cent wage increase, paid vacations, and elimination of certain "inequities." Demands by the other two unions vary only slightly.

NMU pay scales now range from $213.79 a month for messmen to 315.35 for boatswains; engineers receive from $378.66 to $696 for chiefs, and radiomen get a basic monthly wage of $352.13.

Foreign vessels and inland waterway transportation in the U. S. are unaffected by the stoppages as their crews are not members involved in the coastal contract disputes.

Blast Threatens Diners

Roslyn, N. Y., June 18 (AP)—A 45-foot ketch blew up and burned in Roslyn Harbor yesterday only 20 yards from a restaurant veranda crowded with 50 diners. The blast sent dishes crashing to the floor of the fashionable Old Mill team room, but none of the diners was injured. Several elderly women fainted. Two men overhauling the auxiliary engine of the ketch were burned seriously. The vessel was anchored in the harbor.

De Gaulle's Party Makes Strong Bid

Middle of Road Parties Still Retain Control of Next Parliament; Reds Lose Seats

Vote Is Impressive

General's Followers Win 107 Seats and Run Up 3,564,833 Ballots

Paris, June 18 (AP)—Gen. Charles De Gaulle's new party appeared on the way today to being the strongest single political unit in France's new National Assembly, but the middle of the road parties seemed to be retaining control of the next Parliament.

With three quarters of the vote in yesterday's national elections tabulated, De Gaulle's rally of the French people (RPF) had won 107 Assembly seats and had run up an impressive total of 3,564,833 votes of the 17,000,000 counted up to shortly after noon in unofficial tabulations.

In terms of popular vote the Communists still were out in front, but the Red party was losing many seats. At the three quarter mark the Communists had 96 seats and seemed on the way to losing as many as 60 of the seats they held in the old Parliament. But in popular vote the Communists were out in front as a single party, with 4,406,301, or 25.76 per cent of the first 17,000,000 votes counted. This was a little behind their popular vote showing in the last election in 1946, when their vote was 28.6 per cent of the total.

Despite De Gaulle's strong showing in this election, watched throughout the world as one aspect of the east-west war of ideas, his party did not appear to be running up the total in Assembly seats which it had expected.

The center parties whose coalition ruled the nation since 1946, to the exclusion both of the De Gaullists and the Communists had a better than even chance of keeping control in Parliament in a similar combine.

627 Seats at Stake

With 17,103,493 of the 20,000,000 vote's cast yesterday—the total eligible to vote was 24,600,-

Buried Six Years German Vet Gets Blindness Care

Warsaw, Poland, June 18 (AP)—The weird story of a German soldier buried alive for six years unfolded today.

Reliable sources said the soldier, identified only as a 32-year-old Berliner, is in a hospital being treated for blindness which resulted from entombment since 1945 in a sealed off Wehrmacht underground food warehouse.

Authorities concerned with the case were reluctant to talk, but trustworthy informants gave the following account:

The buried man emerged from his trap near the seaport of Gdynia recently with a knee-length beard and hair hanging down to his ankles. Frightened Poles ran when they saw him. Another German who had also been buried fell dead of a heart attack when he came into daylight.

The two, with four comrades, had been trapped in the food bunker when retreating Germans dynamited the entrance to prevent advancing Russians from entering. The six soldiers had sneaked in to pilfer supplies.

There were plentiful supplies of food, wine, tobacco and other stores. A hoard of candles lasted until two years ago. Since then the survivors had lived in total darkness.

Water for drinking seeped through cracks in the reinforced concrete. The men washed in liquor.

Shortly after entombment one of the soldiers committed suicide, another took his own life a few weeks later and two others died of illness. Their bodies were buried in flour which mummified them.

How the two survivors finally escaped was not explained. There were no tools in the bunker.

MacArthur Probe Is Due for Early Closing

Patrick Hurley One of Four Who Are Slated to Appear

Washington, June 18 (AP)—The Senate's MacArthur Inquiry Committee voted unanimously today to hear only four more witnesses and to close the investigation "at the earliest possible date."

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) told a news conference the inquiry may end this week or by the middle of next week at the latest.

The committee decided to call these additional witnesses:

Patrick J. Hurley, former ambassador to China.

Maj. Gen. Emmett O'Donnell, former commander of the U. S. strategic bombing force in the Far East.

Maj. Gen. David C. Barr, former commander of the U. S. 7th Division in Korea and one-time chief of a U. S. military mission to China.

Vice Adm. Oscar Badger, former U. S. naval commander in the Far East.

In addition to these four witnesses it is possible Gen. Douglas MacArthur may testify again. The committee has invited MacArthur to take the witness chair again if he cares to reply to any of the testimony the committee has heard since the inquiry started May 3.

May Appear Again

MacArthur was the first witness at the joint inquiry by the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees into his dismissal and his differences with the Truman administration over Korean war policy.

Following MacArthur to the stand were Secretary of Defense Marshall, the members of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, Secretary of State Acheson; Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, former U. S. commander in China, and Louis Johnson who was secretary of defense when the Korean War broke out in June of last year.

Russell told reporters the committee has had no word from MacArthur as to whether he wants to tesitfy again.

Today's decision to seek a quick wind up of the inquiry was made at a brief closed-door session of the inquiry panel.

Won't Call Harriman

Russell said the committee decided not to call Presidential Adviser W. Averell Harriman as a witness.

Harriman had been tentatively

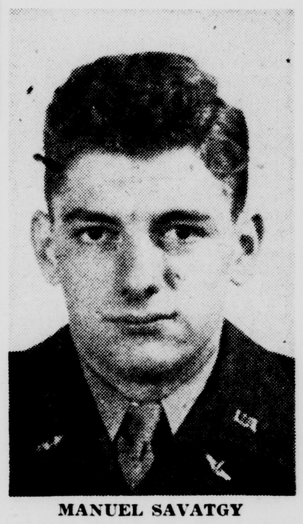
Kingston Man Dies in Crash Of U.S. Planes



MANUEL SAVATGY

Luke Air Force Base, Ariz., June 18 — Two F-51 Mustang fighter planes collided over the Gila Bend gunnery range Saturday, killing one pilot and seriously injuring another.

The public information office here said First Lt. Manuel Savatgy, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Savatgy, Kingston, N. Y., apparently died instantly.

First Lt. Richard E. Lamp parachuted to safety. He suffered a broken arm and second degree burns. He is the son of Mrs. Elsie D. Lamp of Chicago.

Both pilots were on a routine training mission. They were members of the 3595th Pilot Training Squadron that recently transferred here from Nellis Air Force Base.

Won Wings in 1948

Lieutenant Savatgy entered service in 1946 and was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1948 at Williams Air Force Base, Chandler, Arizona, and was one of the first postwar aviation cadets to be graduated from fighter school.

Lieutenant Savatgy was graduated from Kingston High School in 1946. His promotion to first lieutenant took place Sept. 11, 1949. He was transferred recently to Phoenix, Ariz., where his wife Jacqueline and seven-month-old son, Manuel, Jr., live. Mrs. Savatgy formerly lived in Corona, Long Island.

He is survived in addition to his parents, who live at 175 Washington avenue, this city, by three brothers, Arris, of this city; Evan, on duty with the U. S. Navy in Mediterranean waters; and Peter, a Coast Guard cadet now on a training cruise in European waters.

No funeral arrangements were announced. It was reported that Lieutenant Savatgy's wife and son were en route to this city from Phoenix.

Pilots Join Pickets

New York, June 18 (AP)—American Airlines and Trans World Airlines pilots have joined those of United Air Lines in picketing at La Guardia Field. The pilots are seeking wage increases on the grounds that planes they now are flying are faster and larger. Specific wage demands and present scales were not disclosed.

Two Battles Occur Over Korea Front

Troops Reappear

Replacements Are Seen in Previously Deserted Territory

Tokyo, June 18 (AP)—Outnumbered American Sabre jets destroyed six Russian-type jets and damaged eight others in two big air battles over Korea yesterday and today.

A total of 118 planes was involved in the sudden revival of jet warfare.

Sixteen Red jets made a third stab at four Sabre jets Monday afternoon—but kept at a safe distance. They fired twice on the F-IYS, then streaked back across the Yalu river into the safety of Manchuria.

All American planes returned safely, Far East Air Forces said.

Reappearance of the Red jets in force coincided with indications the Chinese may be preparing a new ground offensive.

Red troops suddenly appeared in territory they had previously deserted. Replacements steadily filtered down from the north for holding troops all along the front.

Moves Are Checked

Fierce Red defenses checked allied moves in the center of the line. But allied patrols Monday drove more than three miles into Red territoy in the west and gained slightly over a mile in the east.

Two UN armored tank patrols rumbled up the west side of the former Red "iron triangle," shooting at small Communist bands on the way. Another armored patrol trying to push up the east side from Kumhwa was forced back by road mines and mortar fire.

Small fights broke out all along the west and center. A briefing officer said Reds were still fighting a delaying type of warfare.

In the east, North Korean machinegun fire three times drove UN troops back from a commanding ridgeline, but Reds suddenly abandoned another ridge for which they had fought fiercely Sunday.

Points Are Raked

Fighter-bombers raked every strong point as the Fifth Air Force mounted 490 sorties in daylight Monday, including the jet flights along the northwestern Korean border.

F-80 pilots reported the Red jets showed more fight than ever before in the two air battles. The fight was gone in the later, long-distance passes. The two jet battles flared suddenly after a long lull.

The ground war moved over familiar territory, but stirred up strong Red resistance in unexpected spots.

The United Nations shoved a powerful task force across the Imjin river Sunday in the west, probing a reported Communist buildup area.

The task force fought through Red screening troops, but failed to contact the main body. The push carried the Allies across the 38th Parallel in the Korangpo area, due north of Seoul, on the lagging west flank of the Allied advance.

Resistance Shown

Chinese showed increasing resistance, and appeared in larger numbers, all along this flank reaching up to Chorwon at the southwest corner of the iron triangle.

Red resistance, coupled with heavy recent highway traffic and unconfirmed reports of Red buildups across the Imjin, underscored a warning last week of Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet that the Chinese might soon launch the

Alert Test Termed Successful by Davis

City Defense Head Reveals Need of Two New Raid Sirens

An air raid alert test in the city Saturday was successful in response but revealed the need of at least two new sirens, Sherwood E. Davis, city director of civilian defense, said today.

The test proved that the sirens at central fire station, the Cornell shops and the Ulster Hose Company engine house were inadequate for city-wide coverage. Results were especially poor in the uptown area, Davis said.

Two more sirens will probably give the city effective coverage,

Teen-Age Dope Epidemic Is Seen Raging in Big Cities

New York, June 18 (AP)—"An epidemic of teen-age addiction" to narcotics is raging in the nation's largest cities, a U. S. public health official says.

He says the menace is gravest in New York city, where a city investigator puts the annual amount of dope sold illicitly at $100,000,000.

These statements were made yesterday at a three-day American Legion "narcotics crisis conference" to chart a war on dope by the organization's 17,850 posts across the nation. The meeting ends today.

Dr. Victor H. Vogel, of the U. S. Public Health Service, said teen-age dope addiction has increased sharply in the last three years.

He said 52 youths were admitted to the Federal Hospital for Narcotics at Lexington, Ky., in 1948. He listed 210 admissions in 1949 and 440 in 1950. He said the estimated 1951 total was about 388.

This drop, Dr. Vogel said, might indicate a downward trend, but also might reflect the fact that state institutions now are accepting young dope addicts, a practice started only this year.

New York city supplies 50 per cent of the youngsters entering the Lexington hospital, he added,

Moose Lodge Dedicates Its New Headquarters

More than 500 members of the fraternal order and their friends were present Sunday afternoon for the dedication of the new home of Kingston Lodge, 970, Loyal Order of Moose, the former palatial Coykendall home at 156 West Chestnut street.

Principal speaker at the ceremonies in the garden, that affords a beautiful panoramic view of the Hudson river, was Malcolm R. Giles, director general of the Moose, who made a special trip from Mooseheart, Ill., for the occasion.

Referring to the aims and purposes of the Moose, he said, "if there ever was a time when brotherhood was needed it is now," and he urged that members of the Moose dedicate themselves to preparing for "a better tomorrow."

In a previous talk to 34 candidates at an initiation ceremony in Mechanics Hall, 14 Henry street, Director General Giles explained the program of the Moose at their two homes, one at Mooseheart where 900 children of departed members and their mothers reside, and the other at Moosehaven, Fla., where 400 old folk live.

Other speakers at the dedication were Edward Cline, governor, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, Assist-

Because the phrase has been used so often, with so little elaboration, its meaning has worn thin. Moreover, it is quite likely the phrase came into existence before the real power was attained. But now officials who make the statement aren't bluffing the Russians. They are telling them.

Military men who must make the plans for any retailation say the U. S. strategic air command now has available explosive power greater than all the man-made blasts before Hiroshima, in 1945.

This means that packed into the nuclear fission weapons now in arsenals or on production lines is the total force of all the bombs, shells and bullets fired in World War 2 and the procession of other conflicts back through some 700 years or more. That force can be delivered now, against one country, in a matter of only hours or days, if the military planners are correct in their estimate.

Responsible airmen do not say this instant retaliation with atomic weapons would produce instant capitulation of Russia. But they do believe obliteration of key Russian government and industrial targets and destruction of industrial manpower would so shatter the war-making system of Russia as to make her helpless to stop advancing allied armies and navies.

Significantly, the sober, serious, behind-doors talk among military men of the vastly enhanced destructive power in American hands has come within fairly recent months.

Equally significant is the fact these men are wholly cognizant of Russia's own success in producing at least one atomic explosion and the probability that she now is manufacturing bombs.

Little Is Said

Officially, the United States has said little of the new power which has emerged from the laboratories of Los Alamos. If you look for formal, public announcements, you will find only the care-

Eccles Will Resign

Washington, June 18 (AP)—Marriner S. Eccles, a storm center in the Roosevelt and Truman administrations, will resign from the Federal Reserve Board this week, close friends said today. These sources asked not to be named. The 61-year-old millionaire banker, chairman of the board for 14 years before President Truman demoted him in 1948, was reported definite decided to quit "in a very few days" although his term on the board runs another seven years.

Would Give Dope Sellers Death Penalty

St. Louis, June 18 (AP)—The new chairman of the Senate Crime Investigating Committee today proposed indirectly that the death penalty be invoked for dope peddlers.

"The Lindbergh law was invoked to stop kidnaping and a similar measure must be taken to put the fear of God into these outlaws," Sen. O'Conor (R-Md.) said in a speech prepared for the Kiwanis International convention.

The Lindbergh law carries the death penalty.

The population of the federal hospital indicates, O'Conor said, "the percentage of narcotic users under 21 years of age has increased 600 per cent during past several years."

No Settlement Is Near in Solving Maritime Tieups

Full Impact of Stoppages Felt Today; Tourist Ships Won't Move, Union Says

June 28 (AP)—Federal mediators charted new efforts today to settle labor disputes tying up every major seaport in the nation.

But there was no early indication of a solution, at least on the east and gulf coasts.

The three-coast work stoppages, which started early Saturday, exerted their full impact at the start of the work week today.

Only Korean war and other vital defense cargoes were moving.

An official of the CIO National Maritime Union said yesterday that no more American passenger ships carrying tourist trade would sail until the contract dispute is settled.

Federal mediators here planned to renew efforts to bring the NMU and two smaller CIO unions together with representatives of 40 Atlantic and Gulf coast shipping companies.

In San Francisco, Federal Conciliator Omar Hoskins has scheduled a meeting between the striking CIO American Radio Assoiation and the Pacific Maritime Association, representing west coast ship owners.

Hoskins said he talked separately with the two sides yesterday.

The ARA walkout is holding up all American shipping there, although other Pacific maritime unions have settled with the shippers. The ARA has only 700 members on Pacific ships, but maritime law forbids vessels to sail without a radio operator.

On the east and Gulf coatsts, the 60,000-member NMU holds the key in the conflict. The ARA and the CIO Marine Engineers Benefical Association also are involved, but it is the NMU that usually sets the pattern for other maritime unions.

650 Ships Affected

During the week-end, the country's 23 major ports barely stirred in the tie-up affecting 650 ships.

The first big liner at New York piers to feel the NMU refusal to sail will be the New American Export ship, the Constitution, which is due to start its maiden voyage Thursday.

Seamen might return to work before then, but NMU President Joseph Curran yesterday warned other labor officials with passage on the Constitution to make precautionary secondary arrangements. The labor officials are going to Milan, Italy, for an international trade union meeting.

East and Gulf coast union officials have refrained from calling the tie-up a "strike" or "walkout." But the west coast radiomen announced they were on strike.

Demands are Given

The NMU is demanding a reduction in work hours at sea from 48 to 40 weekly, a 25 per cent wage increase, paid vacations, and elimination of certain "inequities." Demands by the other two unions vary only slightly.

NMU pay scales now range from $213.79 a month for messmen to 315.35 for boatswains; engineers receive from $378.66 to $696 for chiefs, and radiomen get a basic monthly wage of $352.13.

Foreign vessels and inland waterway transportation in the U. S. are unaffected by the stoppages as their crews are not members involved in the coastal contract disputes.

Blast Threatens Diners

Roslyn, N. Y., June 18 (AP)—A 45-foot ketch blew up and burned in Roslyn Harbor yesterday only 20 yards from a restaurant veranda crowded with 50 diners. The blast sent dishes crashing to the floor of the fashionable Old Mill team room, but none of the diners was injured. Several elderly women fainted. Two men overhauling the auxiliary engine of the ketch were burned seriously. The vessel was anchored in the harbor.

A protest meeting of the taxpayers and parents of School No. 1 will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the fire house in Wilbur.

De Gaulle's Party Makes Strong Bid

Middle of Road Parties Still Retain Control of Next Parliament; Reds Lose Seats

Vote Is Impressive

General's Followers Win 107 Seats and Run Up 3,564,833 Ballots

Paris, June 18 (AP)—Gen. Charles De Gaulle's new party appeared on the way today to being the strongest single political unit in France's new National Assembly, but the middle of the road parties seemed to be retaining control of the next Parliament.

With three quarters of the vote in yesterday's national elections tabulated, De Gaulle's rally of the French people (RPF) had won 107 Assembly seats and had run up an impressive total of 3,564,833 votes of the 17,000,000 counted up to shortly after noon in unofficial tabulations.

In terms of popular vote the Communists still were out in front, but the Red party was losing many seats. At the three quarter mark the Communists had 96 seats and seemed on the way to losing as many as 60 of the seats they held in the old Parliament. But in popular vote the Communists were out in front as a single party, with 4,406,301, or 25.76 per cent of the first 17,000,000 votes counted. This was a little behind their popular vote showing in the last election in 1946, when their vote was 28.6 per cent of the total.

Despite De Gaulle's strong showing in this election, watched throughout the world as one aspect of the east-west war of ideas, his party did not appear to be running up the total in Assembly seats which it had expected.

The center parties whose coalition ruled the nation since 1946, to the exclusion both of the De Gaullists and the Communists had a better than even chance of keeping control in Parliament in a similar combine.

627 Seats at Stake

With 17,103,493 of the 20,000,000 vote's cast yesterday—the total eligible to vote was 24,600,-

Buried Six Years German Vet Gets Blindness Care

Warsaw, Poland, June 18 (AP)—The weird story of a German soldier buried alive for six years unfolded today.

Reliable sources said the soldier, identified only as a 32-year-old Berliner, is in a hospital being treated for blindness which resulted from entombment since 1945 in a sealed off Wehrmacht underground food warehouse.

Authorities concerned with the case were reluctant to talk, but trustworthy informants gave the following account:

The buried man emerged from his trap near the seaport of Gdynia recently with a knee-length beard and hair hanging down to his ankles. Frightened Poles ran when they saw him. Another German who had also been buried fell dead of a heart attack when he came into daylight.

The two, with four comrades, had been trapped in the food bunker when retreating Germans dynamited the entrance to prevent advancing Russians from entering. The six soldiers had sneaked in to pilfer supplies.

There were plentiful supplies of food, wine, tobacco and other stores. A hoard of candles lasted until two years ago. Since then the survivors had lived in total darkness.

Water for drinking seeped through cracks in the reinforced concrete. The men washed in liquor.

Shortly after entombment one of the soldiers committed suicide, another took his own life a few weeks later and two others died of illness. Their bodies were buried in flour which mummified them.

How the two survivors finally escaped was not explained. There were no tools in the bunker.

Washington, June 18 (AP)—The Senate's MacArthur Inquiry Committee voted unanimously today to hear only four more witnesses and to close the investigation "at the earliest possible date."

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) told a news conference the inquiry may end this week or by the middle of next week at the latest.

The committee decided to call these additional witnesses:

Patrick J. Hurley, former ambassador to China.

Maj. Gen. Emmett O'Donnell, former commander of the U. S. strategic bombing force in the Far East.

Maj. Gen. David C. Barr, former commander of the U. S. 7th Division in Korea and one-time chief of a U. S. military mission to China.

Vice Adm. Oscar Badger, former U. S. naval commander in the Far East.

In addition to these four witnesses it is possible Gen. Douglas MacArthur may testify again. The committee has invited MacArthur to take the witness chair again if he cares to reply to any of the testimony the committee has heard since the inquiry started May 3.

May Appear Again

MacArthur was the first witness at the joint inquiry by the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees into his dismissal and his differences with the Truman administration over Korean war policy.

Following MacArthur to the stand were Secretary of Defense Marshall, the members of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, Secretary of State Acheson; Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, former U. S. commander in China, and Louis Johnson who was secretary of defense when the Korean War broke out in June of last year.

Russell told reporters the committee has had no word from MacArthur as to whether he wants to tesitfy again.

Today's decision to seek a quick wind up of the inquiry was made at a brief closed-door session of the inquiry panel.

Won't Call Harriman

Russell said the committee decided not to call Presidential Adviser W. Averell Harriman as a witness.

Harriman had been tentatively

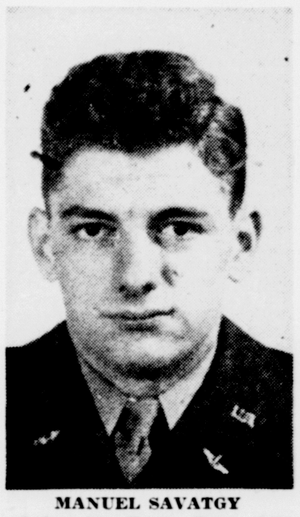
Kingston Man Dies in Crash Of U.S. Planes



MANUEL SAVATGY

Luke Air Force Base, Ariz., June 18 — Two F-51 Mustang fighter planes collided over the Gila Bend gunnery range Saturday, killing one pilot and seriously injuring another.

The public information office here said First Lt. Manuel Savatgy, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Savatgy, Kingston, N. Y., apparently died instantly.

First Lt. Richard E. Lamp parachuted to safety. He suffered a broken arm and second degree burns. He is the son of Mrs. Elsie D. Lamp of Chicago.

Both pilots were on a routine training mission. They were members of the 3595th Pilot Training Squadron that recently transferred here from Nellis Air Force Base.

Won Wings in 1948

Lieutenant Savatgy entered service in 1946 and was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1948 at Williams Air Force Base, Chandler, Arizona, and was one of the first postwar aviation cadets to be graduated from fighter school.

Lieutenant Savatgy was graduated from Kingston High School in 1946. His promotion to first lieutenant took place Sept. 11, 1949. He was transferred recently to Phoenix, Ariz., where his wife Jacqueline and seven-month-old son, Manuel, Jr., live. Mrs. Savatgy formerly lived in Corona, Long Island.

He is survived in addition to his parents, who live at 175 Washington avenue, this city, by three brothers, Arris, of this city; Evan, on duty with the U. S. Navy in Mediterranean waters; and Peter, a Coast Guard cadet now on a training cruise in European waters.

No funeral arrangements were announced. It was reported that Lieutenant Savatgy's wife and son were en route to this city from Phoenix.

Pilots Join Pickets

New York, June 18 (AP)—American Airlines and Trans World Airlines pilots have joined those of United Air Lines in picketing at La Guardia Field. The pilots are seeking wage increases on the grounds that planes they now are flying are faster and larger. Specific wage demands and present scales were not disclosed.

Two Battles Occur Over Korea Front

Troops Reappear

Replacements Are Seen in Previously Deserted Territory

Tokyo, June 18 (AP)—Outnumbered American Sabre jets destroyed six Russian-type jets and damaged eight others in two big air battles over Korea yesterday and today.

A total of 118 planes was involved in the sudden revival of jet warfare.

Sixteen Red jets made a third stab at four Sabre jets Monday afternoon—but kept at a safe distance. They fired twice on the F-IYS, then streaked back across the Yalu river into the safety of Manchuria.

All American planes returned safely, Far East Air Forces said.

Reappearance of the Red jets in force coincided with indications the Chinese may be preparing a new ground offensive.

Red troops suddenly appeared in territory they had previously deserted. Replacements steadily filtered down from the north for holding troops all along the front.

Moves Are Checked

Fierce Red defenses checked allied moves in the center of the line. But allied patrols Monday drove more than three miles into Red territoy in the west and gained slightly over a mile in the east.

Two UN armored tank patrols rumbled up the west side of the former Red "iron triangle," shooting at small Communist bands on the way. Another armored patrol trying to push up the east side from Kumhwa was forced back by road mines and mortar fire.

Small fights broke out all along the west and center. A briefing officer said Reds were still fighting a delaying type of warfare.

In the east, North Korean machinegun fire three times drove UN troops back from a commanding ridgeline, but Reds suddenly abandoned another ridge for which they had fought fiercely Sunday.

Points Are Raked

Fighter-bombers raked every strong point as the Fifth Air Force mounted 490 sorties in daylight Monday, including the jet flights along the northwestern Korean border.

F-80 pilots reported the Red jets showed more fight than ever before in the two air battles. The fight was gone in the later, long-distance passes. The two jet battles flared suddenly after a long lull.

The ground war moved over familiar territory, but stirred up strong Red resistance in unexpected spots.

The United Nations shoved a powerful task force across the Imjin river Sunday in the west, probing a reported Communist buildup area.

The task force fought through Red screening troops, but failed to contact the main body. The push carried the Allies across the 38th Parallel in the Korangpo area, due north of Seoul, on the lagging west flank of the Allied advance.

Resistance Shown

Chinese showed increasing resistance, and appeared in larger numbers, all along this flank reaching up to Chorwon at the southwest corner of the iron triangle.

Red resistance, coupled with heavy recent highway traffic and unconfirmed reports of Red buildups across the Imjin, underscored a warning last week of Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet that the Chinese might soon launch the

Alert Test Termed Successful by Davis

City Defense Head Reveals Need of Two New Raid Sirens

An air raid alert test in the city Saturday was successful in response but revealed the need of at least two new sirens, Sherwood E. Davis, city director of civilian defense, said today.

The test proved that the sirens at central fire station, the Cornell shops and the Ulster Hose Company engine house were inadequate for city-wide coverage. Results were especially poor in the uptown area, Davis said.

Two more sirens will probably give the city effective coverage,

Teen-Age Dope Epidemic Is Seen Raging in Big Cities

New York, June 18 (AP)—"An epidemic of teen-age addiction" to narcotics is raging in the nation's largest cities, a U. S. public health official says.

He says the menace is gravest in New York city, where a city investigator puts the annual amount of dope sold illicitly at $100,000,000.

These statements were made yesterday at a three-day American Legion "narcotics crisis conference" to chart a war on dope by the organization's 17,850 posts across the nation. The meeting ends today.

Dr. Victor H. Vogel, of the U. S. Public Health Service, said teen-age dope addiction has increased sharply in the last three years.

He said 52 youths were admitted to the Federal Hospital for Narcotics at Lexington, Ky., in 1948. He listed 210 admissions in 1949 and 440 in 1950. He said the estimated 1951 total was about 388.

This drop, Dr. Vogel said, might indicate a downward trend, but also might reflect the fact that state institutions now are accepting young dope addicts, a practice started only this year.

New York city supplies 50 per cent of the youngsters entering the Lexington hospital, he added,

Moose Lodge Dedicates Its New Headquarters

More than 500 members of the fraternal order and their friends were present Sunday afternoon for the dedication of the new home of Kingston Lodge, 970, Loyal Order of Moose, the former palatial Coykendall home at 156 West Chestnut street.

Principal speaker at the ceremonies in the garden, that affords a beautiful panoramic view of the Hudson river, was Malcolm R. Giles, director general of the Moose, who made a special trip from Mooseheart, Ill., for the occasion.

Referring to the aims and purposes of the Moose, he said, "if there ever was a time when brotherhood was needed it is now," and he urged that members of the Moose dedicate themselves to preparing for "a better tomorrow."

In a previous talk to 34 candidates at an initiation ceremony in Mechanics Hall, 14 Henry street, Director General Giles explained the program of the Moose at their two homes, one at Mooseheart where 900 children of departed members and their mothers reside, and the other at Moosehaven, Fla., where 400 old folk live.

Other speakers at the dedication were Edward Cline, governor, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, Assist-

New Booklet Is Available; Tells Of Child's Illness

Overcrowded classes in elementary schools and insistence on perfect attendance records are seen as hazards in guarding against rheumatic fever and rheumatic heart disease, which have been called "childhood's greatest enemy." Alertness by the teacher to early danger signals of poor health and understanding guidance of child and parent are recommended in a new booklet, "What the Classroom Teacher Should Know — And Do — About Children with Heart Disease," published by the American Heart Association and its affiliates.

Crowded classrooms are listed among the bad environmental conditions that can lead to a "strep" infection, the "time bomb" that may be a forerunner of rheumatic fever. Although rheumatic fever itself is not catching, the preceding "strep" infection is. Teachers are therefore warned that "preventing strep infections from spreading in the classroom may prevent some cases of rheumatic fever."

Teacher Is Valuable Ally

With many thousands of cases of rheumatic fever or rheumatic or congenital heart disease each year, and with rheumatic fever constituting the leading fatal disease between the ages of 5 and 19, the teacher is viewed as a valuable ally to doctor and parent in fighting this scourge of the younger generation.

"No one but a physician can diagnose rheumatic fever," the Heart Association booklet points out. "But the teacher has a unique opportunity to help in rheumatic fever control through early detection of danger signals and prompt referral to the school health service.

"There is no simple test for diagnosing rheumatic fever in its early stages. That is why teacher observation and prompt referral of the under-par child is important.

"The informed teacher, aware of the so-called 'silent' phase in the development of rheumatic fever, will be particularly observant of a child about one week to a month after he has recovered from a 'cold' or from any known 'strep' infection, such as scarlet fever."

Should Not Go to School

During the acute period of rheumatic fever, which may last weeks or months, the child should not be in school, according to the booklet.

Rheumatic fever has a "nasty tendency" to strike again and again, with possible increasing damage to the heart. "The prime concern in the treatment of a child who has had rheumatic fever," the booklet notes, "is the prevention of a second attack."

Quoting a committee that studied the problem in New York, the booklet says, "Immediately upon the recognition of a respiratory or other infection, the rheumatic child should remain home and receive prompt medical attention. Furthermore, all children with respiratory infections should be kept from close contact with the rheumatic child. This may involve some measure of physical isolation of infected children in the classroom. Less stress must be placed on perfect attendance records for all children."

Runs in Families

Teachers are told to be on special guard against the fact that rheumatic fever tends to run in families.

Advising the teacher in classroom management of the cardiac child, the American Heart Association booklet says:

"Most cardiac children can take part in the normal activities of the regular classroom. Unless medically advised, limitations or restrictions must not be imposed. For each child there must be a plan of action based on the recommendation of the child's physician. To make a plan that will really work takes the best thinking of of teachers, doctors, nurses, the school principal, and parents, with all of them working as a team.

Creates New Problems

The booklet also points out that any chronic illness, such as rheumatic fever, often creates new social and emotional problems for the child and his family. Therefore, "The understanding teacher can help parents and child to accept realistically but without exaggeration the youngster's limitations. She can help the child feel a part of his group even when his activities are limited."

It is described as important for the child's mental health and vocational future that he keeps up his school work. "When the child must remain out of school over a long period, the teacher can perform an invaluable service by advising parents how to get a home teacher," the pamphlet adds.

"Educational guidance and vocational counseling should be started early so that the rheumatic and cardiac child can be directed to vocations that do not require heavy physical labor, working in damp or dusty places, or under other bad environmental conditions that may lead to "strep" infections; school teaching, for example, in overcrowded classes of elementary schools carries some hazard from this point of view. The child should be encouraged to stay on in high school and get as much schooling as he can. This will give him a foundation for more skilled jobs."

Copies Are Available

"What the Classroom Teacher Should Know — And Do — About Children with Heart Disease," is based upon "down-to-earth suggestions" made by professional teams working on the problem. These include the Committee on Cardiac and Rheumatic Children, New York City Board of Education, and the Committee on Teacher Education of the First National Conference on Cardiovascular Diseases held in Washington last year under the joint sponsorship of the American Heart Association and the National Heart Institute of the U. S. Public Health Service. This booklet is being distributed to teachers, educational leaders, and parents. Single copies may be obtained free of charge from the Heart Committee of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, 74 John street, Kingston, New York.

DeGaulle's Party

000—the unofficial returns showed (627 Assembly seats at stake):

The Communists had 96 seats, the De Gaullists, 107 seats, the Socialists, 96 seats, the MRP (popular Republicans) 77 seats, the left Republicans, 85 seats, the latter three parties, along with some independents, make up the coalition. The independent parties and the Peasants Party had cornered about 100 seats at the three-quarter mark.

The left Republicans include two branches of the Radial- Cocialist Party and the Democratic Union headed by former Premier Rene Pleven. Pleven's party and five seats and the two Radical-Socialist wings 80 between them.

Faces Unsteady Era

On the basis of these returns, it appeared France faces another era of unsteady coalition government. The middle - of - the - road parties now in the cabinet stood off the determined campaign by the Gaullists and cut down the Communist strength in the National Assembly.

But a shift of strength within the center parties toward the right presaged new difficulties for the man who gets the task of building a new cabinet.

Of the 565 seats thus far decided, the middle-of-the-road parties took 358. This total includes right wing elements which may have difficulty in framing a common program with the Socialists, although all were united in opposition to the Gaullists and Communists.

Surprised At Showing

Most observers were surprised by the showing of the popular Republicans. Many had predicted this group would be wiped out of the Gaullists.

The coalition parties chalked up a victory for their pro-American, pro-Atlantic Pact policies. There had been assailed by the Communists as part of a preparation for attack on Russia. DeGaulle criticized the coalition's policies as subservant to the United States.

The complex election system made returns on the division of seats in the new assembly slow in reaching the capital from far-flung polling places.

Virtually all leading political figures recaptured their places in Parliament, but there were some upsets. The most dramatic of these was the defeat of Gen. Pierre Koenig, one of the top candidates of Gen. De Gaulle's party. He is the former commander of French occupation forces in Germany.

Koenig's defeat was protested by his followers who demanded an examination of 10,000 ballots which precinct election officials had thrown out.

An electrocal commission went to Strasbourg to examine the disputed ballots. The task is expected to take about 48 hours and could result in a reversal.

Schuman Is Returned

Andre Maroselli, state secretary for the air force, was defeated as a Radical Socialist candidate.

Foreign Minister Robert Schuman squeezed through and was reelected to the Assembly from his mining district, where there had been resentment against his Schuman Plan for pooling German and French coal and steel.

Wartime Premier Edouard Daladier and former Socialist Premier Paul Reynaud were among those reelected.

The final tally of returns will not be available until Sept. 3. This is because the voters in New Caledonia will not name their representative until July 2, and those in Pacific island communities will not name theirs until Sept. 2.

". . . FOR JET SUPREMACY"—A new G.E. turbojet engine, developed by General Electric and being tested at the Lockland, Ohio, plant, is far more powerful than its battle-tested predecessors of the same size. Described as "an important step in the world race for jet supremacy," the new J-47 engine will be the power plant for such fighting planes as the North American F-86 "Sabre" jet and the six-jet Boeing B-47 "Stratojet" bomber. Total power of the new engine is a secret, but it puts out far more thrust than the current J-47, rated in excess of 5200 pounds.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 18 (AP)—Oils reassumed the role of stock market leader today, but only a portion of the list followed oil higher. The rest remained unchanged or moved a trifle lower. The result was a thoroughly mixed price pattern.

Gains in the oil division ran from a few cents to more than $2 a share among leaders. Elsewhere the gains were ended at around the dollar mark.

Chemicals, utilities, and motion pictures were among the best on the upside, and there were scattered individual points of strength.

Steels, motors, and railroads were unchanged to a little lower. Losses were held within a dollar range.

Early activity was brisk with the volume swelled with the movement of a number of large blocks of stock at the opening. That represented a grouping of weekend orders for execution at one time in the interest of more orderly trading.

Madison Square Garden made substantial progress with an early gain of more than a dollar a share. The buying enthusiasm, it was believed, came from reports of boxoffice successes in the recent experiment in piping a television showing to theatres in six cities of a recent heavyweight boxing match.

Missouri Pacific Preferred lost ground after a St. Louis district court denied a plea for a postponement of a hearing on the road's reorganization plan.

Last week the stock market was higher on three days out of five with oils leading the market up in each case.

Lower were Union Pacific, American Smelting, Allied Chemical, Philip Morris, U. S. Steel, General Motors, and Chrysler.

The more active curb stocks moved ahead. Among them were American Republics, Bunker Hill & Sullivan, Cosden Petroleum, Hollinger, Consolidated Gold, Molybdenum, New England Telephone, and British-American Oil, whose directors approved a two-for-one split of common stock and approved redemption of preferred shares convertible into common.

Bond trading was quiet with prices slightly higher. U. S. Governments in the over the counter market were steady.

Red Troops Are Hit by Epidemics

Washington, June 18 (AP)—Hundreds of thousands of North Koreans and Communist troops in North Korea are stricken by smallpox, typhus and typhoid fever epidemics, Brig. Gen. C. F. Sams said today.

The North Koreans have almost no medical facilities with which to inoculate their people or to treat them after they become ill, said Sams at a news conference. Until recently he was chief of the public health and welfare section at General headquarters in Tokyo.

Sams declined to say whether American troops were affected by the epidemics. Their inoculations will protect them against most ordinary exposure to the diseases. They are not inoculated against Bubonic Plague, the army has inoculated 6,000,000 South Korean civilians, Sams added.

He said he just returned from the Far East after being on Gen. MacArthur's staff for six years and has applied for retirement.

Plans Summer Session

Lebanon, Ill., June 18 — Cpl. Betty Ann Jahn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar F. Jahn, Ulster Park, has matriculated at McKendree College here for the 1951 summer school session.

Cpl. Jahn, who is a secretary-receptionist at nearby Scott Air Force Base, is a graduate of Kingston High School, class of '48, and attended Albany Business College, Albany.

Is Promoted

Walter H. Neuls of 54 Lucas avenue, has been promoted to staff sergeant in the Marine Corps, it was announced today. Staff Sergeant Neuls has been on active duty in Korea since Sept. 15.

Laws Are Attacked

Trenton, N. J., June 18 (AP)—State laws setting a minimum price on cigarettes were declared unconstitutional by the New Jersey Supreme Court today. The acts under attack were cited as "in part both individually and in combination arbitrary and discriminatory."

Gifts Are Announced

New Haven, Conn., June 18 (AP) President A. Whitney Griswold announced yesterday that Yale received $9,053,000 from gifts and bequests, and a sum in excess of $910,000 to its alumni fund, both unprecedented amounts, during the past academic year.

Domestic Trouble

Rangoon (AP)—A wealthy business woman of Mandalay wants a divorce from her husband because living with him "makes it impossible for me to maintain the kind of home I want." The woman told a divorce court that during the 11 years of their married life her husband has taken four lesser wives and had affairs "with innumerable maid servants" in her employ.

Jeep Takes on Tank

Cairo, Ill. (AP) — A tough jeep charged an Army tank, and it proved only that tanks are still tougher. The tank was parked outside a Cairo garage, where an Illinois National Guard outfit keeps it, when the jeep came along. Not only did the jeep lose the match, its driver also lost—$100. That was the fine Magistrate Max Bevill fixed for reckless driving.

Roaring Tornado Hits Section of Texas

Dallas, June 18 (AP) — A low, roaring tornado dipped down on the small Dallas county community of Sachse today, knocking out communications and power lines.

A report that a "tremendous storm" had struck at Canton, Tex., to the east proved erroneous.

The storm at Sachse indirectly caused the death of E. O. Wharton, 63-year-old farmer who returned to his home from a field during the storm. His death apparently was caused by a heart attack.

The twister ripped into the center of Sachse about 7:30 a. m. (CST), and demolished an onion shed near the railroad tracks, blew over two carloads of onions and held up trains in both directions.

Sullivan Resigns Post

Miami, Fla., June 18 (AP)—Jimmy Sullivan, the once smiling corner cop who became sheriff of rich Dade (Miami) county, resigned today as the Senate Committee to investigate interstate crime prepared a new Miami hearing. Sullivan has been under heavy fire from the public, the Crime Commission of Greater Miami and the Senate Committee because of alleged neglect of duty in failing to enforce gambling laws.

Fires Are Checked

Firemen were called at 12:29 p. m. Sunday for a slight fire in a station wagon owned by Sid Wencs, of Rifton near 339 Abeel street. It was caused by a short circuit in the battery and was out on arrival of firemen. Another call at 1:13 p. m. today was for a fire in the car of Samuel Gally, 116 Wall street, on Wall street near St. Joseph's School. The blaze originated in a cigarette lighter and caused no damage.

Brophy Is Elected

Utica, N. Y., June 18 (AP)—John R. Brophy of New Rochelle will head the New York Department of the Milltary Order of the Purple Heart for the next year. Brophy was elected commander Saturday night at the closing session of the annual convention. He succeeds R. C. Glover of Williamsburg. The organization is composed of veterans of all wars who were wounded while on active duty.

Beef Is Stolen

New York, June 18 (AP)—Three men held up a meat truck driver early today, kidnapped him, then escaped with 13,000 pounds of beef with a wholesale value of $10,000. The driver, Human Feibish, 35, of Brooklyn, said he was accosted by the men as his truck was halted for a red light about a mile from his plant, the Central Packing Corp.

Sharkey Is Endorsed

New York, June 18 (AP)—King's county Democratic leaders today endorsed Acting City Council President Joseph T. Sharkey as Democratic candidate for the council presidency post in the November election. Sharkey is filling out the rest of the four-year council term to which Mayor Vincent Impellitteri was elected two years ago.

Grady Opens Talks On Iranian Crisis

Tehran, Iran, June 18 (AP) — United States Ambassador Henry F. Grady planned to meet ailing Iranian Premier Mohammed Mossadegh today in a move aimed at lowering the temperature of the boiling Anglo-Iranian oil crisis.

Mossadegh has just received a personal message from British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison expressing the hope that British-Iranian negotiations on the future of the billion-dollar Anglo - Iranian Oil Company — whose holdings Iran has nationalized—would be conducted in a friendly atmosphere.

Grady has been urging both sides to keep cool. Through intercession with the premier he has already obtained an extension until tomorrow for the British to reply to an Iranian demand for immediate payment of 75 per cent of the company's profits. Finance Minister Mohammed Ali Varasteh had threatened to break off negotiations unless the funds were handed over yesterday.

Iranian sources said British negotiators, at an informal meeting at Mossadegh's country residence yesterday, said it would be technically impossible to do this.

Would Advance Cash

These informants said the British, while balking at the immediate payment of profits, suggested that "if Iran is hard pressed for money, the AIOC probably could make some advance cash turnover pending continued discussions."

Until Iran nationalized her oil in April, Anglo-Iranian had been making advances to the government on royalties not due until next year. These payments, which made up the bulk of Iran's revenues, then ceased.

It was unclear whether the reported British offer referred to a resumption of these payments or to an offer made by the foreign office last Saturday to split oil profits 50-50 with Iran.

Meanwhile the tenseness of the situation was illustrated by removal of British women and children from the refinery area of Abadan. AIOC's resident manager, A. E. Drake, said all but 240 of more than 1,000 who formerly lived there with their husbands and fathers have gone.

"They were not ordered out," he said, "but we provided facilities for any who wished to go."

Drake told newsmen, however, that he had not asked for protection from any source other than the Iranian police and military. Some British warships are in the Persian Gulf and British troops are in duty within striking distance at Cyprus and the Suez Canal zone.

Heavier Crops Seen

Albany, N. Y., June 18 (AP)—The peach, strawberry and sour cherry crops in New York state this year are expected to be heavier than in 1950. Vegetable crops also have "developed well," the State Agriculture Department said Saturday in a June crop survey, issued jointly with federal agencies. The harvest of apples will be "excellent," barring unfavorable weather, the report said. It also predicted that pears and sweet cherries would be less plentiful than in 1950.

FINAL EXAMS

Sweet is the song of the Summer
With June and Commencement at hand
Scholars rejoice in its slumberous voice
As welcome vacations are planned.
Classrooms are flooded with sunshine
Dancing on half-opened books
Robins in trees offer sonnets that please
Suggestive of meadows and brooks.

Students are busy with fractions
Bravely attempting to "cram"
Latin and Greek offer scarcely a week
To conquer that final exam.
Sweet is the song of tomorrow
With Summer a whisper away
And Algebra's "X" must undoubtedly vex
On pages so sticky today.

Valleys and streams are impatient
And trout are like frolicsome lambs
But Summer must wait . . . it is sad to relate
While scholars take "Final Exams."

New Booklet Is Available; Tells Of Child's Illness

Overcrowded classes in elementary schools and insistence on perfect attendance records are seen as hazards in guarding against rheumatic fever and rheumatic heart disease, which have been called "childhood's greatest enemy." Alertness by the teacher to early danger signals of poor health and understanding guidance of child and parent are recommended in a new booklet, "What the Classroom Teacher Should Know — And Do — About Children with Heart Disease," published by the American Heart Association and its affiliates.

Crowded classrooms are listed among the bad environmental conditions that can lead to a "strep" infection, the "time bomb" that may be a forerunner of rheumatic fever. Although rheumatic fever itself is not catching, the preceding "strep" infection is. Teachers are therefore warned that "preventing strep infections from spreading in the classroom may prevent some cases of rheumatic fever."

Teacher Is Valuable Ally

With many thousands of cases of rheumatic fever or rheumatic or congenital heart disease each year, and with rheumatic fever constituting the leading fatal disease between the ages of 5 and 19, the teacher is viewed as a valuable ally to doctor and parent in fighting this scourge of the younger generation.

"No one but a physician can diagnose rheumatic fever," the Heart Association booklet points out. "But the teacher has a unique opportunity to help in rheumatic fever control through early detection of danger signals and prompt referral to the school health service.

"There is no simple test for diagnosing rheumatic fever in its early stages. That is why teacher observation and prompt referral of the under-par child is important.

"The informed teacher, aware of the so-called 'silent' phase in the development of rheumatic fever, will be particularly observant of a child about one week to a month after he has recovered from a 'cold' or from any known 'strep' infection, such as scarlet fever."

Should Not Go to School

During the acute period of rheumatic fever, which may last weeks or months, the child should not be in school, according to the booklet.

Rheumatic fever has a "nasty tendency" to strike again and again, with possible increasing damage to the heart. "The prime concern in the treatment of a child who has had rheumatic fever," the booklet notes, "is the prevention of a second attack."

Quoting a committee that studied the problem in New York, the booklet says, "Immediately upon the recognition of a respiratory or other infection, the rheumatic child should remain home and receive prompt medical attention. Furthermore, all children with respiratory infections should be kept from close contact with the rheumatic child. This may involve some measure of physical isolation of infected children in the classroom. Less stress must be placed on perfect attendance records for all children."

Runs in Families

Teachers are told to be on special guard against the fact that rheumatic fever tends to run in families.

Advising the teacher in classroom management of the cardiac child, the American Heart Association booklet says:

"Most cardiac children can take part in the normal activities of the regular classroom. Unless medically advised, limitations or restrictions must not be imposed. For each child there must be a plan of action based on the recommendation of the child's physician. To make a plan that will really work takes the best thinking of teachers, doctors, nurses, the school principal, and parents, with all of them working as a team.

Creates New Problems

The booklet also points out that any chronic illness, such as rheumatic fever, often creates new social and emotional problems for the child and his family. Therefore, "The understanding teacher can help parents and child to accept realistically but without exaggeration the youngster's limitations. She can help the child feel a part of his group even when his activities are limited."

It is described as important for the child's mental health and vocational future that he keeps up his school work. "When the child must remain out of school over a long period, the teacher can perform an invaluable service by advising parents how to get a home teacher," the pamphlet adds.

"Educational guidance and vocational counseling should be started early so that the rheumatic and cardiac child can be directed to vocations that do not require heavy physical labor, working in damp or dusty places, or under other bad environmental conditions that may lead to "strep" infections; school teaching, for example, in overcrowded classes of elementary schools carries some hazard from this point of view. The child should be encouraged to stay on in high school and get as much schooling as he can. This will give him a foundation for more skilled jobs."

Copies Are Available

"What the Classroom Teacher Should Know — And Do — About Children with Heart Disease," is based upon "down-to-earth suggestions" made by professional teams working on the problem. These include the Committee on Cardiac and Rheumatic Children, New York City Board of Education, and the Committee on Teacher Education of the First National Conference on Cardiovascular Diseases held in Washington last year under the joint sponsorship of the American Heart Association and the National Heart Institute of the U. S. Public Health Service. This booklet is being distributed to teachers, educational leaders, and parents. Single copies may be obtained free of charge from the Heart Committee of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, 74 John street, Kingston, New York.

DeGaulle's Party

000—the unofficial returns showed (627 Assembly seats at stake):

The Communists had 96 seats, the De Gaullists, 107 seats, the Socialists, 96 seats, the MRP (popular Republicans) 77 seats, the left Republicans, 85 seats, the latter three parties, along with some independents, make up the coalition. The independent parties and the Peasants Party had cornered about 100 seats at the three-quarter mark.

The left Republicans include two branches of the Radial- Cocialist Party and the Democratic Union headed by former Premier Rene Pleven. Pleven's party and five seats and the two Radical-Socialist wings 80 between them.

Faces Unsteady Era

On the basis of these returns, it appeared France faces another era of unsteady coalition government. The middle - of - the - road parties now in the cabinet stood off the determined campaign by the Gaullists and cut down the Communist strength in the National Assembly.

But a shift of strength within the center parties toward the right presaged new difficulties for the man who gets the task of building a new cabinet.

Of the 565 seats thus far decided, the middle-of-the-road parties took 358. This total includes right wing elements which may have difficulty in framing a common program with the Socialists, although all were united in opposition to the Gaullists and Communists.

Surprised At Showing

Most observers were surprised by the showing of the popular Republicans. Many had predicted this group would be wiped out of the Gaullists.

The coalition parties chalked up a victory for their pro-American, pro-Atlantic Pact policies. There had been assailed by the Communists as part of a preparation for attack on Russia. DeGaulle criticized the coalition's policies as subservant to the United States.

The complex election system made returns on the division of seats in the new assembly slow in reaching the capital from far-flung polling places.

Virtually all leading political figures recaptured their places in Parliament, but there were some upsets. The most dramatic of these was the defeat of Gen. Pierre Koenig, one of the top candidates of Gen. De Gaulle's party. He is the former commander of French occupation forces in Germany.

Koenig's defeat was protested by his followers who demanded an examination of 10,000 ballots which precinct election officials had thrown out.

An electrocal commission went to Strasbourg to examine the disputed ballots. The task is expected to take about 48 hours and could result in a reversal.

Schuman Is Returned

Andre Maroselli, state secretary for the air force, was defeated as a Radical Socialist candidate.

Foreign Minister Robert Schuman squeezed through and was reelected to the Assembly from his mining district, where there had been resentment against his Schuman Plan for pooling German and French coal and steel.

Wartime Premier Edouard Daladier and former Socialist Premier Paul Reynaud were among those reelected.

The final tally of returns will not be available until Sept. 3. This is because the voters in New Caledonia will not name their representative until July 2, and those in Pacific island communities will not name theirs until Sept. 2.

U. S. Jets Drop

third phase of their spring offensive.

Along the east coast blockading UN warships opened their fifth month of bombarding the port of Wonsan. In the first four months, the navy said, 8,635 Reds were killed or wounded.

Their main job was wrecking transport feeding the eastern and central fronts.

Press dispatches from the front themselves came under new restrictions with a tightened censorships.

Total power of the new engine is a secret, but it puts out far more thrust than the current J-47, rated in excess of 5200 pounds.

Trenton, N. J., June 18 (AP)—State laws setting a minimum price on cigarettes were declared unconstitutional by the New Jersey Supreme Court today. The acts under attack were cited as "in part both individually and in combination arbitrary and discriminatory."

Gifts Are Announced

New Haven, Conn., June 18 (AP) President A. Whitney Griswold announced yesterday that Yale received $9,053,000 from gifts and bequests, and a sum in excess of $910,000 to its alumni fund, both unprecedented amounts, during the past academic year.

Domestic Trouble

Rangoon (AP)—A wealthy business woman of Mandalay wants a divorce from her husband because living with him "makes it impossible for me to maintain the kind of home I want." The woman told a divorce court that during the 11 years of their married life her husband has taken four lesser wives and had affairs "with innumerable maid servants" in her employ.

Jeep Takes on Tank

Cairo, Ill. (AP) — A tough jeep charged an Army tank, and it proved only that tanks are still tougher. The tank was parked outside a Cairo garage, where an Illinois National Guard outfit keeps it, when the jeep came along. Not only did the jeep lose the match, its driver also lost—$100. That was the fine Magistrate Max Bevill fixed for reckless driving.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 18 (AP)—Oils reassumed the role of stock market leader today, but only a portion of the list followed oil higher. The rest remained unchanged or moved a trifle lower. The result was a thoroughly mixed price pattern.

Gains in the oil division ran from a few cents to more than $2 a share among leaders. Elsewhere the gains were ended at around the dollar mark.

Chemicals, utilities, and motion pictures were among the best on the upside, and there were scattered individual points of strength.

Steels, motors, and railroads were unchanged to a little lower. Losses were held within a dollar range.

Early activity was brisk with the volume swelled with the movement of a number of large blocks of stock at the opening. That represented a grouping of weekend orders for execution at one time in the interest of more orderly trading.

Madison Square Garden made substantial progress with an early gain of more than a dollar a share. The buying enthusiasm, it was believed, came from reports of boxoffice successes in the recent experiment in piping a television showing to theatres in six cities of a recent heavyweight boxing match.

Missouri Pacific Preferred lost ground after a St. Louis district court denied a plea for a postponement of a hearing on the road's reorganization plan.

Last week the stock market was higher on three days out of five with oils leading the market up in each case.

Lower were Union Pacific, American Smelting, Allied Chemical, Philip Morris, U. S. Steel, General Motors, and Chrysler.

The more active curb stocks moved ahead. Among them were American Republics, Bunker Hill & Sullivan, Cosden Petroleum, Hollinger, Consolidated Gold, Molybdenum, New England Telephone, and British-American Oil, whose directors approved a two-for-one split of common stock and approved redemption of preferred shares convertible into common.

Bond trading was quiet with prices slightly higher. U. S. Governments in the over the counter market were steady.

Roaring Tornado Hits Section of Texas

Dallas, June 18 (AP) — A low, roaring tornado dipped down on the small Dallas county community of Sachse today, knocking out communications and power lines.

A report that a "tremendous storm" had struck at Canton, Tex., to the east proved erroneous.

The storm at Sachse indirectly caused the death of E. O. Wharton, 63-year-old farmer who returned to his home from a field during the storm. His death apparently was caused by a heart attack.

The twister ripped into the center of Sachse about 7:30 a. m. (CST), and demolished an onion shed near the railroad tracks, blew over two carloads of onions and held up trains in both directions.

Sullivan Resigns Post

Miami, Fla., June 18 (AP)—Jimmy Sullivan, the once smiling corner cop who became sheriff of rich Dade (Miami) county, resigned today as the Senate Committee to investigate interstate crime prepared a new Miami hearing. Sullivan has been under heavy fire from the public, the Crime Commission of Greater Miami and the Senate Committee because of alleged neglect of duty in failing to enforce gambling laws.

Fires Are Checked

Firemen were called at 12:29 p. m. Sunday for a slight fire in a station wagon owned by Sid Wencs, of Rifton near 339 Abeel street. It was caused by a short circuit in the battery and was out on arrival of firemen. Another call at 1:13 p. m. today was for a fire in the car of Samuel Gally, 116 Wall street, on Wall street near St. Joseph's School. The blaze originated in a cigarette lighter and caused no damage.

Brophy Is Elected

Utica, N. Y., June 18 (AP)—John R. Brophy of New Rochelle will head the New York Department of the Milltary Order of the Purple Heart for the next year. Brophy was elected commander Saturday night at the closing session of the annual convention. He succeeds R. C. Glover of Williamsburg. The organization is composed of veterans of all wars who were wounded while on active duty.

Beef Is Stolen

New York, June 18 (AP)—Three men held up a meat truck driver early today, kidnapped him, then escaped with 13,000 pounds of beef with a wholesale value of $10,000. The driver, Human Feibish, 35, of Brooklyn, said he was accosted by the men as his truck was halted for a red light about a mile from his plant, the Central Packing Corp.

Sharkey Is Endorsed

New York, June 18 (AP)—King's county Democratic leaders today endorsed Acting City Council President Joseph T. Sharkey as Democratic candidate for the council presidency post in the November election. Sharkey is filling out the rest of the four-year council term to which Mayor Vincent Impellitteri was elected two years ago.

Grady Opens Talks On Iranian Crisis

Tehran, Iran, June 18 (AP) — United States Ambassador Henry F. Grady planned to meet ailing Iranian Premier Mohammed Mossadegh today in a move aimed at lowering the temperature of the boiling Anglo-Iranian oil crisis.

Mossadegh has just received a personal message from British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison expressing the hope that British-Iranian negotiations on the future of the billion-dollar Anglo-Iranian Oil Company — whose holdings Iran has nationalized—would be conducted in a friendly atmosphere.

Grady has been urging both sides to keep cool. Through intercession with the premier he has already obtained an extension until tomorrow for the British to reply to an Iranian demand for immediate payment of 75 per cent of the company's profits. Finance Minister Mohammed Ali Varasteh had threatened to break off negotiations unless the funds were handed over yesterday.

Iranian sources said British negotiators, at an informal meeting at Mossadegh's country residence yesterday, said it would be technically impossible to do this.

Would Advance Cash

These informants said the British, while balking at the immediate payment of profits, suggested that "if Iran is hard pressed for money, the AIOC probably could make some advance cash turnover pending continued discussions."

Until Iran nationalized her oil in April, Anglo-Iranian had been making advances to the government on royalties not due until next year. These payments, which made up the bulk of Iran's revenues, then ceased.

It was unclear whether the reported British offer referred to a resumption of these payments or to an offer made by the foreign office last Saturday to split oil profits 50-50 with Iran.

Meanwhile the tenseness of the situation was illustrated by removal of British women and children from the refinery area of Abadan. AIOC's resident manager, A. E. Drake, said all but 240 of more than 1,000 who formerly lived there with their husbands and fathers have gone.

"They were not ordered out," he said, "but we provided facilities for any who wished to go."

Drake told newsmen, however, that he had not asked for protection from any source other than the Iranian police and military. Some British warships are in the Persian Gulf and British troops are in duty within striking distance at Cyprus and the Suez Canal zone.

Heavier Crops Seen

Albany, N. Y., June 18 (AP)—The peach, strawberry and sour cherry crops in New York state this year are expected to be heavier than in 1950. Vegetable crops also have "developed well," the State Agriculture Department said Saturday in a June crop survey, issued jointly with federal agencies. The harvest of apples will be "excellent," barring unfavorable weather, the report said. It also predicted that pears and sweet cherries would be less plentiful than in 1950.

FINAL EXAMS

Sweet is the song of the Summer
With June and Commencement at hand
Scholars rejoice in its slumberous voice
As welcome vacations are planned.
Classrooms are flooded with sunshine
Dancing on half-opened books
Robins in trees offer sonnets that please
Suggestive of meadows and brooks.

Students are busy with fractions
Bravely attempting to "cram"
Latin and Greek offer scarcely a week
To conquer that final exam.
Sweet is the song of tomorrow
With Summer a whisper away
And Algebra's "X" must undoubtedly vex
On pages so sticky today.

Valleys and streams are impatient
And trout are like frolicsome lambs
But Summer must wait . . . it is sad to relate
While scholars take "Final Exams."

Children's Judge, Clergy, Officials Back Field Day

It has been announced by Johnnie's 50 Club that County Judge John M. Cashin will have a vital part in the children's field day its members are planning for July 4 at Block Park.

As judge of the children's court, Judge Cashin was extended an invitation to officiate at the second annual event promoted by the club, and he readily accepted. He said he deemed it "an honor and a privilege" to participate with the club, which he considers is doing a "splendid job to combat juvenile delinquency."

Church Endorsement

The club also announced that clergymen of various faiths have endorsed the program. Among them are the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly of St. Mary's Church, Rabbi Philip H. Weinberg of Congregation Ahavath Israel, the Rev. Frank L. Gollnick, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, and the Rev. P. N. Saunders, pastor of New Central Baptist Church.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk has given strong endorsement to the field day program arranged by the 7th ward group and Alderman-at-Large Joe Kelly is another who thinks the project is a most worthy one.

Last year's initial field day was very successful and hundreds of children enjoyed the program arranged by the 50 Club, a neighborhood organization interested in the welfare of the young folks who play at both Block and Cornell Parks.

Events for All Ages

It has been stressed by the club that all youngsters from the two parks and other areas in the vicinity of the 7th ward are welcome to compete for the prizes and enjoy the refreshments on July 4.

Races are arranged for children in these age groups: Six to eight, nine to 11, 12 to 14 and 14 to 16. There will be special events for tots of five and under. The full schedule calls for 17 events.

There are 66 prizes that have been donated by individuals and civic-minded merchants.

SOPHIE MILLER

One of the readers of this column suggests I look through The Freeman files of Sept. 10th, 1927 when Kingston dedicated the cornerstone laying of the Senate House Museum and 150th Anniversary of the State Constitution. He also says it tells about the 100 year celebration in 1877. The first chance I will try and see that paper. I think I have covered the museum cornerstone celebration in this column some time ago.

He also writes that "On St. James street opposite the Ulster Foundry an old Stone House is being torn down for a parking place back of the De Gasparis Gov. Clinton Market. This house is old. The stones were laid in lime instead of cement so it must be at least 140 years old. It used to belong to the Gray Estate." I have passed this house yet never had a chance to really stop and look. Would like to hear more about it. It must have a history and no doubt items were found in it which would be of historical interest. Perhaps the people who are tearing it down would send some information, or anyone else connected with that particular property.

Remember the house that was being torn down corner of Wall and Pearl street. I had a chance to go through it and covered it in this column at the time. There was a big black cupboard in which stood several old dishes. One of these was so odd that Mr. Everett, the gentleman who was taking down the house didn't know what it was, neither did I. It was the shape of a shaving cup. I think it had a handle on each side, like a sugar bowl. It had a top, like a sugar bowl, and on the bottom there was a round hole large enough for a thumb to go through. After mentioning it several times in this column several people informed me, it was used for condensed milk. Several days ago, Bill McBride, proprietor of McBride's Pharmacy called me that he owned such an item and would like me to have it. So the other day I had a chance to go by and pick it up. It is a beautiful item, daintly painted with spring flowers and gold rim. The handles look like stems in keeping with the floral design. One mark I can plainly read, which is enclosed in a redish brown wreath, which says, "G. D. A. Lamoge." It has a cover also, and a condensed milk can, can be slipped in to be used on the table. As far as I know, they do not make these items. It is strange with all novelties and premiums coming out with various foods stuffs that one of the condense milk companies do not have copies made of such items to go with their product. It certainly is an interesting gift.

A couple of old timers were talking about, "You remember when . . ." They mentioned Kelder's livery stable when it stood for many years on Fair street adjoining the Wiltwyck fire station. When the auto came into use, the building was remodeled and became the Ulster Garage. In July of 1929, the garage was taken down and a modern two-story building was built there. Then Montgomery Ward came to Kingston and leased it. Later came the Standard Furniture Co. and moved in. So goes progress in Kingston.

532 New Casualties

Washington, June 18 (AP)—The Defense Department today identified 532 more casualties in Korea. A new list (No. 331) reported 67 killed, 366 wounded, 79 missing in action, three prisoners of war, one death from injuries and 16 injured.

Jacoby on Canasta

KEEP OPPONENTS GUESSING

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Is it ever good play to discard from strength at the very beginning of a hand," asks a Chicago reader. "Some of the players in my Canasta club always make the first discard from three or four of a kind. Other players always discard a singleton to begin with.

"Which is better practice? Should you begin by breaking up a group or should you begin by discarding your odd cards?"

This is a very interesting question, but I have to make it plain to begin with that there is no short answer. The reasons for choosing your first few discards depend on the nature of your hand, on the skill of the opponents and of your partner, and on the need to keep your opponents guessing.

That last point is the easiest, so let's cover it first. If you always discard an odd card to begin with, the player at your right can depend on that. He can watch your first few discards and then he will know what discards are perfectly safe for him to make.

He would be equally safe if he knew that your first discard is always from strength. He would make sure never to match your first discard.

However, the opponent at your right would be up a tree if your first discard was sometimes from strength and sometimes from weakness. He wouldn,t know whether it was safe or dangerous to match that first discard.

This merely illustrates a principle that applies to nearly every card game you can think of: keep the opponents guessing. Never become so rigid in your practices that the enemy can always tell exactly what you are doing.

We'll have more to say about the first discard in our next few columns.

Q—In a six-handed game one of my partners melded out at her very first play. I was the dealer and therefore never had a chance to play. I had two red threes in my hand. What happens to those red threes?

A—Those red threes are scored exactly as though they had been put down on the table. Your side gets credit for them. Of course you lose the count of the rest of your hand.

Q — A player had two black threes and a king. She drew another black three and proceeded to meld out with her three black threes, discarding the king. Somebody said that you can't discard when you meld out with black threes. Is this true or false?

A—Completely false. When you meld out with black threes you may discard or not—exactly as you please.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

Carburetor Too Rich Makes Motorist Too Poor

Car owners who are wasting money and not getting proper gas mileage due to over-rich mixtures will be pleased to learn of a Wisconsin inventor who has developed a very clever unit that helps save gasoline by "Vacu-mating." It is automatic and operates on the supercharge principle. Easily installed in a few minutes. Fits all cars, trucks and tractors. The manufacturers, the Vacu-matic Carburetor Co., 7617-700 W. State St., Wauwatosa, Wis., are offering a Vacu-matic to anyone who will install it on his car and help introduce it to others. They will gladly send full free particulars if you write them or just send your name and address on a penny post card today.

How does your present car score on this automatic drive quiz?

Does it eliminate all clutch-pushing and gear-shifting? YES ☐ NO ☐
If your answer is "No"—it's time you switched to Packard Ultramatic Drive. No clutch-pushing, ever. No gear-shifting, either by you or by the transmission. You enjoy the last word in quiet effortless smoothness under all conditions.

Can you change instantly from Forward to Reverse? YES ☐ NO ☐
. . . for easier parking, and to rock the car in snow, sand, or mud. If your answer is "No"—better sample Ultramatic Drive. Smooth, instant change from Forward to Reverse.

Does it let you cruise in solid, direct drive? YES ☐ NO ☐
. . . for greater responsiveness and safer control—with no gas-wasting slippage, and no over-heating of the drive unit, even on long, steep grades. If your answer is "No"—look into the extra efficiency of Packard Ultramatic Drive. Best time is right now!

Will it stay trouble-free through the "long haul"? YES ☐ NO ☐
If you've paid the maintenance bills on a complicated, self-shifting transmission, you already know how important this question is! So, if your answer is "No"—the time to change is now—to a proved, completely-perfected drive like Packard Ultramatic Drive!

Several days ago, Bill McBride, proprietor of McBride's Pharmacy called me that he owned such an item and would like me to have it. So the other day I had a chance to go by and pick it up. It is a beautiful item, daintly painted with spring flowers and gold rim. The handles look like stems in keeping with the floral design. One mark I can plainly read, which is enclosed in a redish brown wreath, which says, "G. D. A. Lamoge." It has a cover also, and a condensed milk can, can be slipped in to be used on the table. As far as I know, they do not make these items. It is strange with all novelties and premiums coming out with various foods stuffs that one of the condense milk companies do not have copies made of such items to go with their product. It certainly is an interesting gift.

A couple of old timers were talking about, "You remember when . . ." They mentioned Kelder's livery stable when it stood for many years on Fair street adjoining the Wiltwyck fire station. When the auto came into use, the building was remodeled and became the Ulster Garage. In July of 1929, the garage was taken down and a modern two-story building was built there. Then Montgomery Ward came to Kingston and leased it. Later came the Standard Furniture Co. and moved in. So goes progress in Kingston.

KEEP OPPONENTS GUESSING

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Is it ever good play to discard from strength at the very beginning of a hand," asks a Chicago reader. "Some of the players in my Canasta club always make the first discard from three or four of a kind. Other players always discard a singleton to begin with.

"Which is better practice? Should you begin by breaking up a group or should you begin by discarding your odd cards?"

This is a very interesting question, but I have to make it plain to begin with that there is no short answer. The reasons for choosing your first few discards depend on the nature of your hand, on the skill of the opponents and of your partner, and on the need to keep your opponents guessing.

That last point is the easiest, so let's cover it first. If you always discard an odd card to begin with, the player at your right can depend on that. He can watch your first few discards and then he will know what discards are perfectly safe for him to make.

He would be equally safe if he knew that your first discard is always from strength. He would make sure never to match your first discard.

However, the opponent at your right would be up a tree if your first discard was sometimes from strength and sometimes from weakness. He wouldn't know whether it was safe or dangerous to match that first discard.

This merely illustrates a principle that applies to nearly every card game you can think of: keep the opponents guessing. Never become so rigid in your practices that the enemy can always tell exactly what you are doing.

We'll have more to say about the first discard in our next few columns.

Q—In a six-handed game one of my partners melded out at her very first play. I was the dealer and therefore never had a chance to play. I had two red threes in my hand. What happens to those red threes?

A—Those red threes are scored exactly as though they had been put down on the table. Your side gets credit for them. Of course you lose the count of the rest of your hand.

Q — A player had two black threes and a king. She drew another black three and proceeded to meld out with her three black threes, discarding the king. Somebody said that you can't discard when you meld out with black threes. Is this true or false?

A—Completely false. When you meld out with black threes you may discard or not—exactly as you please.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

Carburetor Too Rich Makes Motorist Too Poor

Car owners who are wasting money and not getting proper gas mileage due to over-rich mixtures will be pleased to learn of a Wisconsin inventor who has developed a very clever unit that helps save gasoline by "Vacu-mating." It is automatic and operates on the supercharge principle. Easily installed in a few minutes. Fits all cars, trucks and tractors. The manufacturers, the Vacu-matic Carburetor Co., 7617-700 W. State St., Wauwatosa, Wis., are offering a Vacu-matic to anyone who will install it on his car and help introduce it to others. They will gladly send full free particulars if you write them or just send your name and address on a penny post card today.

How does your present car score on this automatic drive quiz?

Does it eliminate all clutch-pushing and gear-shifting? YES ☐ NO ☐

If your answer is "No"—it's time you switched to Packard Ultramatic Drive. No clutch-pushing, ever. No gear-shifting, either by you or by the transmission. You enjoy the last word in quiet effortless smoothness under all conditions.

Can you change instantly from Forward to Reverse? YES ☐ NO ☐

. . . for easier parking, and to rock the car in snow, sand, or mud. If your answer is "No"—better sample Ultramatic Drive. Smooth, instant change from Forward to Reverse.

Does it let you cruise in solid, direct drive? YES ☐ NO ☐

. . . for greater responsiveness and safer control—with no gas-wasting slippage, and no over-heating of the drive unit, even on long, steep grades. If your answer is "No"—look into the extra efficiency of Packard Ultramatic Drive. Best time is right now!

Will it stay trouble-free through the "long haul"? YES ☐ NO ☐

If you've paid the maintenance bills on a complicated, self-shifting transmission, you already know how important this question is! So, if your answer is "No"—the time to change is now—to a proved, completely-perfected drive like Packard Ultramatic Drive!

'CLEAR AND PRESENT DANGER'

It is being said by some men that the Supreme Court has seriously abridged free speech in upholding the conviction of the 11 top U. S. Communists.

At the start we have to remember that freedom of speech never has been pure and absolute. You may not recklessly defame your neighbor, you may not incite to riot, you may not libel in the public prints.

In 1940, Congress passed the Smith Act, which added another restriction. That act declares that you may not teach or advocate the overthrow of this government by force or violence. Until now it has not been tested in the high court.

Overt action aimed at overthrowing the government has long been guarded against by the courts. The late great Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes set forth the guiding principle: the government may move to stop or to penalize any act which represents a "clear and present danger" to the state.

The Smith law is in effect an extension of this principle. It placed "teaching and advocating overthrow" in the same class with overt action toward overthrow.

The Supreme Court, by a 6 to 2 margin, has declared that extension legitimate. It has said, in other words, that men who teach and advocate the overthrow of our government can represent just as distinct and immediate danger as men who are about to pick up guns and revolt.

If you read even a small portion of the trial testimony in the 11 Communists' case, you can conceive why they might conclude thus. The testimony established beyond doubt that Communist leaders in this country teach a ruthless scientific technique of revolt and sabotage, and that they teach it with the intent that it shall be used.

As Chief Justice Vinson observed in his majority opinion: "It would be . . . wrong to treat it (the conspiracy) as a seminar in political theory." The teaching and practice of communism is no mere exercise in ideas. It is a highly refined planning and preparation for revolution.

By the same token, in a very important sense every Communist is an agent of the Soviet Union, since the allegiance of the U. S. Communist Party to the Kremlin also was well established by the trial. The difference between a Russian spy and a full-fledged party member is only one of degree.

Consequently, the question is: At what point in the development of this conspiracy may you move in to disrupt it? Must you wait until men are about to pick up guns against the government?

In the Smith Act, Congress said "no." It said you may curb the revolt in its formative stages, for to delay too long may be to give too much advantage to highly trained, iron-disciplined professional revolutionaries.

The Supreme Court now endorses this view. It says in effect that it is naive, foolish, and downright dangerous to look upon the activities of the Communist Party as the reasonable doings of a legitimate political party. It labels the party—properly—as a society of practicing revolutionaires.

The court does not believe such men and such a party can rightfully cloak their conspiratorial plotting with the protections of the U. S. Constitution. The free speech Communists now demand for themselves, would die the day they came to power.

The Supreme Court has very wisely decreed that American freedoms may not be used by men bent upon obliterating them. It has denied that democracy must carry within it the seeds of its own destruction.

SAVING PENNIES

If it is true that a penny saved is a penny earned, is this saying not also true of a minute saved? It is not necessarily so. A minute saved may turned out to be a very costly minute, if the rush to save it leads one into an accident. Even if there is nothing so drastic as a mishap, the habit of hurrying to save minutes may wear the body out faster, and so shorten life.

Come to think of it, this is so with pennies as well. It is well to be aware of saving, but sometimes the extra penny will buy a great deal.

And with minutes, no one will ever know what might have been learned or enjoyed if the minute had been spent instead of saved.

Since most youngsters sometime in their lifetime are going to swallow a coin or two, perhaps it is safer, as they argue, to let them first get the change in candy.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE DEATH OF DIPLOMACY

Donald McLachlan, assistant editor of the "Economist" (London), made a point last March which is pertinent today when both the American State Department and the British Foreign Office seem to have fallen upon hard times. He wrote in "The Twentieth Century" (British):

"There must have been much turning and tossing in the tombs of great diplomatists six weeks ago, when the United Nations Assembly almost simultaneously declared China an aggressor and set up a Good Offices Committee to negotiate with Peking—or at least to meditate between Peking and Washington. One needed to be neither pro-Chinese nor anti-American, nor indeed engaged on any side, to see that here was something ludicrous happening, something that common sense rejects and the diplomatist scoffs at . . ."

This is but an instance of a weakening of the delicate process of diplomacy which is the art of winning friends and soothing enemies for your country. The testimony of General Albert Wedemeyer, apart from supporting the testimony of General MacArthur, established the incapacity of the State Department to hold existing friendships and win new friends. Nor has there been a sufficient consistency in what might be called policy to make friendship secure by the knowledge of what conduct is to be expected.

General Wedemeyer had been offered our ambassadorship to China and had expended $900 on what he calls a trousseau for such service. The Chinese Communists objected to his appointment and so Mr. Acheson, then under-secretary, bowing to our enemies and scowling at our friends, withdrew the offer from General Wedemeyer.

But to get back to death of diplomacy, it would seem that the fault lies in the global concepts which prevail among specialists in foreign affairs. A diplomat is an agent whose principal is a nation. He is an envoy, a messenger, an ambassador, a negotiator. His limitations are the needs and interests of his employer. When his devotion is to those who are his direct masters, his concepts are controlled by them. When he has become a globalist, a pursuer of internationalism, he has no limitations because he has no principal, even though he is employed by one country. His mind is on world needs; not his own country's necessities. He is all things to all men.

Few of those who believe that they have been building a new world can or will recognize that the errors of our times are in a pattern of behavior; that the global view results not only in a weakening of our own country but actually in the constant strengthening of Soviet Russia. For if there is to be one world, whose world is it to be—ours or theirs? Is it to be a world based on natural law or on marxian dialectics? And what arguments can be employed—what convincing arguments—to establish Washington or even the United Nations as preferrable to the Kremlin? Each advocates universalism, but each has a different concept of management. Thus far, the Kremlin has been more successful, because it has kept itself nationalistic. It works for Russia.

The Kremlin is building a one world; Stalin is building it by imperialism, by propoganda, by force, by cajolery, by trickery, by any means at his disposal. But it is a one world concept that is the goal of Soviet diplomacy, andthe capital of that world is to be the Kremlin. It is a one world in the Russian model.

That is why their entire effort is centered now on the word, "peace." By peace, Stalin means unity, unification, the amalgamation of all countries in a federation of states within the Soviet Union, a universal state dominated by Russia. Their word, peace, means the destruction of the one world that the United States is trying to build through the United Nations.

This they call peace and all who oppose this concept of the world are war-mongers, fascists, reactionaries. And, of course, to them the worst are the Nationalists, those who still believe that their own country is worthy of reverence and that patriotism is a virtue.

When diplomacy is not guided by such virtue, it willy-nilly becomes the tool of the Soviet one world. For while it may be violent in its opposition to communism and to Russian imperialism, it nevertheless serves Stalin by developing situations beneficial to his purposes. The errors since Teheran can thus more readily be explained and understood, without personal acrimony.

That Body of Yours

POLIOMYELITIS

A physician friend once remarked that if he were living his life over again he would live in the slums and let his youngsters come in contact with all the diseases common to children so that they, and possibly their children, would develop immunity to various diseases. While few physicians would agree with this, it is true that in that disease all mothers dread—poliomyelitis—"one of the strangest features . . . is that with all the advances in sanitation and higher scale of living, poliomyelitis still seems to thrive." In the meantime, with the exception of measles, most of the other common contagious diseases have declined markedly.

In an article on "Poliomyelitis Problems," in Medical Clinics of North America, Dr. Archibald L. Hoyne, Professor of Pediatrics, Chicago Medical School, states that, considering that nearly all acute contagious diseases are more common in fall, winter and spring seasons when life is indoors and schools in session, we wonder why poliomyelitis is epidemic in the summer (usually August and September are the peak months for poliomyelitis).

While practically all cases of poliomyelitis are transmited from person to person, it is seldom possible to determine when the patient was exposed.

In regard to symptoms, Professor Hoyne points out that as in other infectious diseases, some rise in temperature is always certain to occur in poliomyelitis. Nausea, without vomiting, is often present. Headache occurs in a large percentage of cases and many adults complain of backache also. A sore or just a red throat may be present. These symptoms may be present the first two or three days with no signs of paralysis. A dropping forward of the head toward the chest may be present. There is no way of knowing whether paralysis may develop or where it may strike. A single group of muscles may become involved resulting perhaps in only a foot drop. In most cases the full extent of any paralysis comes like a thunderbolt but much less often one part after another of the central nervous system is damaged and disease progresses for a week.

As there is at present no known method of preventing poliomyelitis (vaccines), Dr. Hoyne advises patients, when the disease is epidemic, to keep children out of crowds and away from strange playmates; do not allow them to go swimming and never let them overexert themselves.

Anemia.

Y., and ask for your copy of the leaflet "Anemia."

Heck of a Troop Leader He Turned Out to Be!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — If a congressional committee ever digs deep enough into the China lobby, it will find an amazing, almost unbelievable, propaganda network aimed at influencing our foreign policy. If the British embassy ever operated such a network, The Chicago Tribune and other isolationists would scream to high heaven and the British ambassador would be recalled.

However, the China lobby has been getting away with it for years. It has been bald-faced and brazen in its moves to contribute to certain senators' campaigns, to hire powerful figures in the Democratic party, and to place slanted news articles with the press.

Heart and nerve center of the China lobby is the Bank of China in New York city. Its master-mind is the brother-in-law of Chiang Kai-shek, Dr. H. H. Kung, one of the wealthiest men in the world, who lives in Riverdale, N. Y., and drives into his office at the Bank of China two or three times a week.

Another brother-in-law of the generalissimo is T. V. Soong, who has just acquired a palatial home on Long Island. Few Americans could afford such an estate.

Neither of the two brothers-in-law has lived in China except for intermittent visits for about seven years. Dr. Kung left China shortly after the gold scandal of March 1944, when he was ousted from the cabinet and from the governorship of the Central Bank because of a leak regarding the scheduled increase in the price of gold.

This leak made millions for certain Chinese speculators close to the Chiang government, and as a result Chiang not only ousted his brother-in-law but beheaded a minor bank official, Kao Ping-fang. The latter died shouting that he was the scapegoat for higher-ups who had grown rich on the scandal and were being protected.

Lawyer Louis Johnson

Dr. Kung also controlled the China Tea Company, considered so corrupt that one member of the Peoples' Political Council, Huang Yen-p'ei, openly demanded impeachment. Kung was also in charge of the Chinese Universal Trading Corporation which handled wartime American aid to China. At present he is reported to have large holdings in the Philippines and Formosa—which may be one reason for the tremendous interest of the Chinese lobby in retaining that island.

Dr. Kung's knowledge of American politics is almost as astute as his knowledge of Chinese finance; and, well before he entered the Truman cabinet, Kung picked Louis Johnson as his personal attorney.

It may or may not be significant, that, later, when Johnson became secretary of defense, he was one of the stanchest advocates of the American support of Formosa. Johnson also persuaded the State Department to transfer an associate of the Johnson law firm, Myron Cowen, from his post as Ambassador to Australia to be Ambassador to the Philippines, where incidentally Dr. Kung also has important investments.

Dr. Kung has been a caller upon popular Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, and the senator likewise has been active in urging aid to Formosa and the Chian Kai-shek exiles.

When Bridges ran for re-election in 1948 he listed a $2,000 campaign contribution from Alfred Kohlberg of New York, the front man for the China Lobby and a friend of Dr. Kung.

It is significant that Senator Bridges not only has voted and made speeches in favor of China lobby policies, but extended one of the greatest possible favors to the Kung-Soong dynasty.

"Imperial" China Survey

In 1948, the same year that Bridges received his contributions from Kohlberg of the China lobby, Bridges appointed ex-sen. Worth Clark of Idaho as an impartial representative of the Senate Appropriations Committee to go to China and make an "impartial" report on the Nationalist government. Bridges at that time occupied the potent post of chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

The purpose of the survey was to recommend whether more U. S. aid to Chiang was justified.

What most people didn't realize about the supposedly impartial survey, however, was that Clark was not exactly in a position to be impartial. For the ex-senator from Idaho had long been a member of the law firm which represented T. V. Soong, the other brother-in-law of Chiang Kai-shek. In brief, Clark was a paid lobbyist for the China lobby.

Furthermore, part of Clark's expenses were paid by the Chinese Nationalists, despite the fact that he was supposed to be working for the U. S. Senate and the American taxpayers.

Clark came back with a vigorous recommendation that more aid be sent to Chiang, a recommendation which was duly submitted to Senator Bridges, the friend of Dr. Kung and then chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

He made this recommendation despite the fact that even such friendly observers as Lieut. Gen. Al Wedemeyer had reported shocking graft in regard to American supplies sent the Nationalists, and that much of the supplies sent Chiang had been sold to the Communists.

Coughlinite Figure

Another interesting figure in the China Lobby is William J. Goodwin, a former Coughlinite and candidate for mayor of New York in 1941 with Christian Front backing.

Goodwin has collected $65,000 from the China Lobby in the past two years and is officially registered as its Washington representative—despite the fact that he was once a great apologist for the Japanese and was quite critical of the Chinese. On Oct. 25, 1941, incidentally, Goodwin wrote a letter to Sen. Tom Connally of Texas defending Hitler.

"Why should America destroy Hitler?" he asked. "As between the two nations we are the violators of international law, not Germany."

Goodwin has been deluging editors and congressmen with propaganda regarding China and Formosa, and more recently has attached himself to Senator Taft. Apparently Taft supporters thought that he could win Catholic votes for the senator, but some observers have begun to wonder how much Goodwin may have influenced the senator's speeches in favor of using American troops to defend Formosa.

In view of Taft's long-time vigorous stand against the use of American troops in other parts of the world, this would appear to be a great victory for Chiang Kai-shek and those who represent him.

The above is only a small part of the far-flung ramifications of one of the most powerful lobbies in a town which is not unaccustomed to lobbying.

Johnson Shows Confusion of Inner Workings of U. S. Government in Talks

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 18—It's not an encouraging picture that Louis Johnson, former secretary of defense, paints as he portrays the inner workings of the United States government at a critical time in history.

It's a picture of confusion, of friction, of overreaching on major functions, of serious conflict between the Defense Department and the State Department, and of neglect of duty in our relations with foreign governments.

One could almost forget that the original purpose of the present hearings of the Joint Senate Committee on Foreign Relations and Armed Services was to investigate the circumstances surrounding the dismissal of General MacArthur. For that particular incident fades into insignificance alongside the weaknesses in our defense setup which now have been revealed to public view.

For the testimony of the former secretary of defense tells us that the United States government had no war plan insofar as Korea was concerned when war broke out there on June 25, 1950, and that no study had been given to the possibilities of an attack in that area.

This disclosure is sensational in many respects. It shows that the public which had come to believe that it could entrust the safety of the United States to the hands of the National Security Council or the joint chiefs of staff has been trusting in the master planning of our top command when no such detailed planning has existed.

Although the President and the Secretary of State and other high officials concurred in the steps that were taken to come to the aid of South Korea a year ago, the American government was caught by surprise and had to improvise from that time on. The unreadiness of our military establishment is shrouded even now in the secrecy of suppression for it would be politically damaging to the administration to allow all the truth to be revealed. Our army in Japan in June 1950 was an occupation force. It was not an expeditionary force. It lacked weapons and the means of getting them promptly. Although the Far East was known as a trouble area, the navy did not have adequate ships out there. Most of its aircraft carriers were in mothballs. No mobile force such as the marines—which is ideally suited for such quick action as was required — happened to be nearer than 8,000 miles away. The airplanes necessary for the U. S. air force to support ground troops were far away. General Bradley had publicly predicted in October 1949 that there would be no more amphibious landings and so there were no preparations for amphibious operations.

But bad as was the military unreadiness, the lack of planning for the emergency was worse. The responsibility rests upon the joint chiefs of staff about which, incidentally, Mr. Johnson had a good deal to say. Although he praised their individual abilities, he hinted more than once rather broadly that the joint chiefs faced constant pressure from the Department of State to change their military views to suit political pressures. He made it plain that he believed military men should give their military judgment uninhibited by political influences such as were constantly being applied by the Department of State.

Mr. Johnson thought there had been some improvement in this situation recently. But unfortunately all the facts are not available as yet and it is probable that the Senate committee's inquiry will not be sufficiently comprehensive to get those facts. It is beginning to be suspected by some members of Congress that the joint chiefs bow to the political winds and are subservient to the Department of State which in turn is subservient to the pressures from foreign governments.

Most amazing of all the things Mr. Johnson testified to was his statement that the Department of Defense—not the State Department—was agitating constantly to get U.N. members to send more troops to Korea. The record in the hearings shows that even American embassaies and legations abroad for a long while were not ordered to urge foreign governments to send reinforcements and that the Defense Department did most of the urging.

This is a strange commentary on the kind of management of international affairs which the American people have today. There seems to have been at the State Department an indifference to the plight of the American troops which is shocking. Again and again the joint chiefs themselves seemed to be helpless about getting more manpower to the Far East.

The conclusion is inescapable that our top military commanders today are muzzled. They do not dare to differ with the civilian side of military questions for fear of being removed or demoted. The process of intimidation which began with the removal of Admiral Denfeld and which was repeated in spectacular fashion by the dismissal of General MacArthur has resulted in a basic weakness in the command setup which is not going to be cured just by spending more billions.

Mr. Johnson was asked about the "shoestring" air force which the 50 billion dollars spent under his regime had given America—and he thought that General Vandenberg was saying all this just to get more money appropriated. This certainly raises an interesting question about the difficulties of getting facts nowadays.

Mr. Johnson also said he didn't think it was cause for the State Department to issue its "White Paper" attacking the Chinese Nationalist government which America was recognizing. He confirmed the impression that the State Department was constantly belittling and weakening the very government it was supposed to be supporting.

Maybe all the details of the confusion as between the Defense and State Departments will come out some day but the simple fact remains that all the investigating that has been done or may yet be done will only prove a lack of leadership at the very top—a blow-hot and blow-cold attitude toward the Communists in China, and a counsel of fear when there should have been firmness.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Our war with Soviet Russia actually has been in progress ever since the Bolshevik revolution of 1917. The Korean phase is tragic, but no less tragic is the fact that millions of our people spring to the defense of the two blameworthy plesidents of the political party which involved us in disaster. The recognition of the Soviet government by Roosevelt in 1933 was a mistake to say the best of it.

I have long been convinced that it was a betrayal, but those who would howl down any effort to examine the facts always raise a cry that it is wicked to discuss evil acts of men who have died. How strange it is to find native Americans who have served in our wars defending men who built up the power of our mortal enemy. Most of these Democrats and old New Dealers abhor the Soviet tyranny and the treason of the traitors in our own land. Yet they have been so confused by propaganda and their own feeling of guilt that they cannot think straight. They cannot distinguish between fact and prejudice. Their confusion does not speak well for that expensive public utility which we call "education." Accuse them of ignorance and inability to understand plain facts and they will twiddle their Phi Beta Kappas and boast of their degrees.

But Alger Hiss is an educated man. So are four or five other intellectual proteges of Felix Frankfurter who strove deviously to bring about the recognition of Soviet Russia. So are the entire cult of fanatics. Never have we spent so much for this custodial institution called public education. But never since the barbarian days in our seaport cities when unlimited

'CLEAR AND PRESENT DANGER'

It is being said by some men that the Supreme Court has seriously abridged free speech in upholding the conviction of the 11 top U. S. Communists.

At the start we have to remember that freedom of speech never has been pure and absolute. You may not recklessly defame your neighbor, you may not incite to riot, you may not libel in the public prints.

In 1940, Congress passed the Smith Act, which added another restriction. That act declares that you may not teach or advocate the overthrow of this government by force or violence. Until now it has not been tested in the high court.

Overt action aimed at overthrowing the government has long been guarded against by the courts. The late great Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes set forth the guiding principle: the government may move to stop or to penalize any act which represents a "clear and present danger" to the state.

The Smith law is in effect an extension of this principle. It placed "teaching and advocating overthrow" in the same class with overt action toward overthrow.

The Supreme Court, by a 6 to 2 margin, has declared that extension legitimate. It has said, in other words, that men who teach and advocate the overthrow of our government can represent just as distinct and immediate danger as men who are about to pick up guns and revolt.

If you read even a small portion of the trial testimony in the 11 Communists' case, you can conceive why they might conclude thus. The testimony established beyond doubt that Communist leaders in this country teach a ruthless scientific technique of revolt and sabotage, and that they teach it with the intent that it shall be used.

As Chief Justice Vinson observed in his majority opinion: "It would be . . . wrong to treat it (the conspiracy) as a seminar in political theory." The teaching and practice of communism is no mere exercise in ideas. It is a highly refined planning and preparation for revolution.

By the same token, in a very important sense every Communist is an agent of the Soviet Union, since the allegiance of the U. S. Communist Party to the Kremlin also was well established by the trial. The difference between a Russian spy and a full-fledged party member is only one of degree.

Consequently, the question is: At what point in the development of this conspiracy may you move in to disrupt it? Must you wait until men are about to pick up guns against the government?

In the Smith Act, Congress said "no." It said you may curb the revolt in its formative stages, for to delay too long may be to give too much advantage to highly trained, iron-disciplined professional revolutionaries.

The Supreme Court now endorses this view. It says in effect that it is naive, foolish, and downright dangerous to look upon the activities of the Communist Party as the reasonable doings of a legitimate political party. It labels the party—properly—as a society of practicing revolutionaires.

The court does not believe such men and such a party can rightfully cloak their conspiratorial plotting with the protections of the U. S. Constitution. The free speech Communists now demand for themselves, would die the day they came to power.

The Supreme Court has very wisely decreed that American freedoms may not be used by men bent upon obliterating them. It has denied that democracy must carry within it the seeds of its own destruction.

SAVING PENNIES

If it is true that a penny saved is a penny earned, is this saying not also true of a minute saved? It is not necessarily so. A minute saved may turned out to be a very costly minute, if the rush to save it leads one into an accident. Even if there is nothing so drastic as a mishap, the habit of hurrying to save minutes may wear the body out faster, and so shorten life.

Come to think of it, this is so with pennies as well. It is well to be aware of saving, but sometimes the extra penny will buy a great deal.

And with minutes, no one will ever know what might have been learned or enjoyed if the minute had been spent instead of saved.

Since most youngsters sometime in their lifetime are going to swallow a coin or two, perhaps it is safer, as they argue, to let them first get the change in candy.

'These Days'

THE DEATH OF DIPLOMACY

Donald McLachlan, assistant editor of the "Economist" (London), made a point last March which is pertinent today when both the American State Department and the British Foreign Office seem to have fallen upon hard times. He wrote in "The Twentieth Century" (British):

"There must have been much turning and tossing in the tombs of great diplomatists six weeks ago, when the United Nations Assembly almost simultaneously declared China an aggressor and set up a Good Offices Committee to negotiate with Peking—or at least to meditate between Peking and Washington. One needed to be neither pro-Chinese nor anti-American, nor indeed engaged on any side, to see that here was something ludicrous happening, something that common sense rejects and the diplomatist scoffs at . . ."

This is but an instance of a weakening of the delicate process of diplomacy which is the art of winning friends and soothing enemies for your country. The testimony of General Albert Wedemeyer, apart from supporting the testimony of General MacArthur, established the incapacity of the State Department to hold existing friendships and win new friends. Nor has there been a sufficient consistency in what might be called policy to make friendship secure by the knowledge of what conduct is to be expected.

General Wedemeyer had been offered our ambassadorship to China and had expended $900 on what he calls a trousseau for such service. The Chinese Communists objected to his appointment and so Mr. Acheson, then under-secretary, bowing to our enemies and scowling at our friends, withdrew the offer from General Wedemeyer.

But to get back to death of diplomacy, it would seem that the fault lies in the global concepts which prevail among specialists in foreign affairs. A diplomat is an agent whose principal is a nation. He is an envoy, a messenger, an ambassador, a negotiator. His limitations are the needs and interests of his employer. When his devotion is to those who are his direct masters, his concepts are controlled by them. When he has become a globalist, a pursuer of internationalism, he has no limitations because he has no principal, even though he is employed by one country. His mind is on world needs; not his own country's necessities. He is all things to all men.

Few of those who believe that they have been building a new world can or will recognize that the errors of our times are in a pattern of behavior; that the global view results not only in a weakening of our own country but actually in the constant strengthening of Soviet Russia. For if there is to be one world, whose world is it to be—ours or theirs? Is it to be a world based on natural law or on marxian dialectics? And what arguments can be employed—what convincing arguments—to establish Washington or even the United Nations as preferrable to the Kremlin? Each advocates universalism, but each has a different concept of management. Thus far, the Kremlin has been more successful, because it has kept itself nationalistic. It works for Russia.

The Kremlin is building a one world; Stalin is building it by imperialism, by propoganda, by force, by cajolery, by trickery, by any means at his disposal. But it is a one world concept that is the goal of Soviet diplomacy, andthe capital of that world is to be the Kremlin. It is a one world in the Russian model.

That is why their entire effort is centered now on the word, "peace." By peace, Stalin means unity, unification, the amalgamation of all countries in a federation of states within the Soviet Union, a universal state dominated by Russia. Their word, peace, means the destruction of the one world that the United States is trying to build through the United Nations.

This they call peace and all who oppose this concept of the world are war-mongers, fascists, reactionaries. And, of course, to them the worst are the Nationalists, those who still believe that their own country is worthy of reverence and that patriotism is a virtue.

When diplomacy is not guided by such virtue, it willy-nilly becomes the tool of the Soviet one world. For while it may be violent in its opposition to communism and to Russian imperialism, it neveretheless serves Stalin by developing situations beneficial to his purposes. The errors since Teheran can thus more readily be explained and understood, without personal acrimony.

That Body of Yours

POLIOMYELITIS

A physician friend once remarked that if he were living his life over again he would live in the slums and let his youngsters come in contact with all the diseases common to children so that they, and possibly their children, would develop immunity to various diseases. While few physicians would agree with this, it is true that in that disease all mothers dread—poliomyelitis—"one of the strangest features . . . is that with all the advances in sanitation and higher scale of living, poliomyelitis still seems to thrive." In the meantime, with the exception of measles, most of the other common contagious diseases have declined markedly.

In an article on "Poliomyelitis Problems," in Medical Clinics of North America, Dr. Archibald L. Hoyne, Professor of Pediatrics, Chicago Medical School, states that, considering that nearly all acute contagious diseases are more common in fall, winter and spring seasons when life is indoors and schools in session, we wonder why poliomyelitis is epidemic in the summer (usually August and September are the peak months for poliomyelitis).

While practically all cases of poliomyelitis are transmited from person to person, it is seldom possible to determine when the patient was exposed.

In regard to symptoms, Professor Hoyne points out that as in other infectious diseases, some rise in temperature is always certain to occur in poliomyelitis. Nausea, without vomiting, is often present. Headache occurs in a large percentage of cases and many adults complain of backache also. A sore or just a red throat may be present. These symptoms may be present the first two or three days with no signs of paralysis. A dropping forward of the head toward the chest may be present. There is no way of knowing whether paralysis may develop or where it may strike. A single group of muscles may become involved resulting perhaps in only a foot drop. In most cases the full extent of any paralysis comes like a thunderbolt but much less often one part after another of the central nervous system is damaged and disease progresses for a week.

As there is at present no known method of preventing poliomyelitis (vaccines), Dr. Hoyne advises patients, when the disease is epidemic, to keep children out of crowds and away from strange playmates; do not allow them to go swimming and never let them overexert themselves.

Heck of a Troop Leader He Turned Out to Be!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — If a congressional committee ever digs deep enough into the China lobby, it will find an amazing, almost unbelievable, propaganda network aimed at influencing our foreign policy. If the British embassy ever operated such a network, The Chicago Tribune and other isolationists would scream to high heaven and the British ambassador would be recalled.

However, the China lobby has been getting away with it for years. It has been bald-faced and brazen in its moves to contribute to certain senators' campaigns, to hire powerful figures in the Democratic party, and to place slanted news articles with the press.

Heart and nerve center of the China lobby is the Bank of China in New York city. Its master-mind is the brother-in-law of Chiang Kai-shek, Dr. H. H. Kung, one of the wealthiest men in the world, who lives in Riverdale, N. Y., and drives into his office at the Bank of China two or three times a week.

Another brother-in-law of the generalissimo is T. V. Soong, who has just acquired a palatial home on Long Island. Few Americans could afford such an estate.

Neither of the two brothers-in-law has lived in China except for intermittent visits for about seven years. Dr. Kung left China shortly after the gold scandal of March 1944, when he was ousted from the cabinet and from the governorship of the Central Bank because of a leak regarding the scheduled increase in the price of gold.

This leak made millions for certain Chinese speculators close to the Chiang government, and as a result Chiang not only ousted his brother-in-law but beheaded a minor bank official, Kao Ping-fang. The latter died shouting that he was the scapegoat for higher-ups who had grown rich on the scandal and were being protected.

Lawyer Louis Johnson

Dr. Kung also controlled the China Tea Company, considered so corrupt that one member of the Peoples' Political Council, Huang Yen-p'ei, openly demanded impeachment. Kung was also in charge of the Chinese Universal Trading Corporation which handled wartime American aid to China. At present he is reported to have large holdings in the Philippines and Formosa—which may be one reason for the tremendous interest of the Chinese lobby in retaining that island.

Dr. Kung's knowledge of American politics is almost as astute as his knowledge of Chinese finance; and, well before he entered the Truman cabinet, Kung picked Louis Johnson as his personal attorney.

It may or may not be significant, that, later, when Johnson became secretary of defense, he was one of the stanchest advocates of the American support of Formosa. Johnson also persuaded the State Department to transfer an associate of the Johnson law firm, Myron Cowen, from his post as Ambassador to Australia to be Ambassador to the Philippines, where incidentally Dr. Kung also has important investments.

Dr. Kung has been a caller upon popular Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, and the senator likewise has been active in urging aid to Formosa and the Chian Kai-shek exiles.

When Bridges ran for re-election in 1948 he listed a $2,000 campaign contribution from Alfred Kohlberg of New York, the front man for the China Lobby and a friend of Dr. Kung.

It is significant that Senator Bridges not only has voted and made speeches in favor of China lobby policies, but extended one of the greatest possible favors to the Kung-Soong dynasty.

"Imperial" China Survey

In 1948, the same year that Bridges received his contributions from Kohlberg of the China lobby, Bridges appointed ex-sen. Worth Clark of Idaho as an impartial representative of the Senate Appropriations Committee to go to China and make an "impartial" report on the Nationalist government. Bridges at that time occupied the potent post of chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

The purpose of the survey was to recommend whether more U. S. aid to Chiang was justified.

What most people didn't realize about the supposedly impartial survey, however, was that Clark was not exactly in a position to be impartial. For the ex-senator from Idaho had long been a member of the law firm which represented T. V. Soong, the other brother-in-law of Chiang Kai-shek. In brief, Clark was a paid lobbyist for the China lobby.

Furthermore, part of Clark's expenses were paid by the Chinese Nationalists, despite the fact that he was supposed to be working for the U. S. Senate and the American taxpayers.

Clark came back with a vigorous recommendation that more aid be sent to Chiang, a recommendation which was duly submitted to Senator Bridges, the friend of Dr. Kung and then chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

He made this recommendation despite the fact that even such friendly observers as Lieut. Gen. Al Wedemeyer had reported shocking graft in regard to American supplies sent the Nationalists, and that much of the supplies sent Chiang had been sold to the Communists.

Coughlinite Figure

Another interesting figure in the China Lobby is William J. Goodwin, a former Coughlinite and candidate for mayor of New York in 1941 with Christian Front backing.

Goodwin has collected $65,000 from the China Lobby in the past two years and is officially registered as its Washington representative—despite the fact that he was once a great apologist for the Japanese and was quite critical of the Chinese. On Oct. 25, 1941, incidentally, Goodwin wrote a letter to Sen. Tom Connally of Texas defending Hitler.

"Why should America destroy Hitler?" he asked. "As between the two nations we are the violators of international law, not Germany."

Goodwin has been deluging editors and congressmen with propaganda regarding China and Formosa, and more recently has attached himself to Senator Taft. Apparently Taft supporters thought that he could win Catholic votes for the senator, but some observers have begun to wonder how much Goodwin may have influenced the senator's speeches in favor of using American troops to defend Formosa.

In view of Taft's long-time vigorous stand against the use of American troops in other parts of the world, this would appear to be a great victory for Chiang Kai-shek and those who represent him.

The above is only a small part of the far-flung ramifications of one of the most powerful lobbies in a town which is not unaccustomed to lobbying.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 18—It's not an encouraging picture that Louis Johnson, former secretary of defense, paints as he portrays the inner workings of the United States government at a critical time in history.

It's a picture of confusion, of friction, of overreaching on major functions, of serious conflict between the Defense Department and the State Department, and of neglect of duty in our relations with foreign governments.

One could almost forget that the original purpose of the present hearings of the Joint Senate Committee on Foreign Relations and Armed Services was to investigate the circumstances surrounding the dismissal of General MacArthur. For that particular incident fades into insignificance alongside the weaknesses in our defense setup which now have been revealed to public view.

For the testimony of the former secretary of defense tells us that the United States government had no war plan insofar as Korea was concerned when war broke out there on June 25, 1950, and that no study had been given to the possibilities of an attack in that area.

This disclosure is sensational in many respects. It shows that the public which had come to believe that it could entrust the safety of the United States to the hands of the National Security Council or the joint chiefs of staff has been trusting in the master planning of our top command when no such detailed planning has existed.

Although the President and the Secretary of State and other high officials concurred in the steps that were taken to come to the aid of South Korea a year ago, the American government was caught by surprise and had to improvise from that time on. The unreadiness of our military establishment is shrouded even now in the secrecy of suppression for it would be politically damaging to the administration to allow all the truth to be revealed. Our army in Japan in June 1950 was an occupation force. It was not an expeditionary force. It lacked weapons and the means of getting them promptly. Although the Far East was known as a trouble area, the navy did not have adequate ships out there. Most of its aircraft carriers were in mothballs. No mobile force such as the marines—which is ideally suited for such quick action as was required — happened to be nearer than 8,000 miles away. The airplanes necessary for the U. S. air force to support ground troops were far away. General Bradley had publicly predicted in October 1949 that there would be no more amphibious landings and so there were no preparations for amphibious operations.

But bad as was the military unreadiness, the lack of planning for the emergency was worse. The responsibility rests upon the joint chiefs of staff about which, incidentally, Mr. Johnson had a good deal to say. Although he praised their individual abilities, he hinted more than once rather broadly that the joint chiefs faced constant pressure from the Department of State to change their military views to suit political pressures. He made it plain that he believed military men should give their military judgment uninhibited by political influences such as were constantly being applied by the Department of State.

Mr. Johnson thought there had been some improvement in this situation recently. But unfortunately all the facts are not available as yet and it is probable that the Senate committee's inquiry will not be sufficiently comprehensive to get those facts. It is beginning to be suspected by some members of Congress that the joint chiefs bow to the political winds and are subservient to the Department of State which in turn is subservient to the pressures from foreign governments.

Most amazing of all the things Mr. Johnson testified to was his statement that the Department of Defense—not the State Department—was agitating constantly to get U.N. members to send more troops to Korea. The record in the hearings shows that even American embassaies and legations abroad for a long while were not ordered to urge foreign governments to send reinforcements and that the Defense Department did most of the urging.

This is a strange commentary on the kind of management of international affairs which the American people have today. There seems to have been at the State Department an indifference to the plight of the American troops which is shocking. Again and again the joint chiefs themselves seemed to be helpless about getting more manpower to the Far East.

The conclusion is inescapable that our top military commanders today are muzzled. They do not dare to differ with the civilian side of military questions for fear of being removed or demoted. The process of intimidation which began with the removal of Admiral Denfeld and which was repeated in spectacular fashion by the dismissal of General MacArthur has resulted in a basic weakness in the command setup which is not going to be cured just by spending more billions.

Mr. Johnson was asked about the "shoestring" air force which the 50 billion dollars spent under his regime had given America—and he thought that General Vandenberg was saying all this just to get more money appropriated. This certainly raises an interesting question about the difficulties of getting facts nowadays.

Mr. Johnson also said he didn't think it was cause for the State Department to issue its "White Paper" attacking the Chinese Nationalist government which America was recognizing. He confirmed the impression that the State Department was constantly belittling and weakening the very government it was supposed to be supporting.

Maybe all the details of the confusion as between the Defense and State Departments will come out some day but the simple fact remains that all the investigating that has been done or may yet be done will only prove a lack of leadership at the very top—a blow-hot and blow-cold attitude toward the Communists in China, and a counsel of fear when there should have been firmness.

Did Lady Godiva Ride?

By FRANK TRIPP

It doesn't take much to stir up the animals. Now it's Lady Godiva who has me engaged in transcontinental correspondence. Not with the lady of course but with her fans. She seems considerably well known.

Or it might be last straw grasp for tax reform that causes people to pounce upon an obscure 20th Century scribe for exposing 11th Century slander. There is wrath about it in some quarters.

All I did was ask if a modern Godiva, willing to ride unclad through the streets of Washington, might influence the tax vultures as Godiva is said to have effected tax remission in Coventry back in the year 1040 or thereabouts.

For belated defense of the lady and doubt that she took the famous ride, I get into arguments.

You'd think that I had started a campaign to expose Santa Claus or debunk Mother Goose.

Here's how it happened; letting you in on one of the tricks of the writing trade. I thought of Godiva as an approach to tax reform. I brushed up on her weird story and found two encyclopedias that cast little doubt on its basic truth, except the part about the tailor, "Peeping Tom" going blind. Otherwise a trusting reader would accept the yarn hook, line and sinker.

I found a third encyclopedia, which declares the whole thing is the bunk, with day and date. What of it, I thought; Lady Godiva's ride is accepted by most people as authentically as Paul Revere's. So I write my story, but toss in the doubt so's to stay solid with the intelligentsia.

THEN what happens? The intelligentsia doesn't want it that way. They won't swallow the Peeping Tom part but they cling to Godiva's ride like leeches, their letters reflect.

Sorry to inter an age-old legend but it seems that even 900 years ago writing wags made a living with their imagination and one of 'em wrote a column that stuck; just like I'd like to. Here's what the third encyclopedia reveals about Lady Godiva's naked ride through the streets of Coventry:

The myth was born around 1154, a whole century after Godiva's death, its author unknown, the book says. In the next century, 1230, it was repeated and revived by Roger of Wentworth. It became an accepted legend and about 1800 Leigh Hunt, English essayist and critic, retold it. Fifty years later Lord Tennyson, English poet laureate, put it into verse.

The Peeping Tom phase didn't appear until 200 years after the story was first written. That Tom was stricken blind for peeking didn't show up until 600 years after that, as late as our grandfathers' time.

There was no Coventry in Godiva's day. There was a covent (convent) where Coventry grew up, to which the city owes its name. Lady Godiva herself had great wealth and with her husband, Earl Leofric, established a Benedictine monastery there in 1043.

IN THIS religious establishment there were only 60 wooden, single story dwellings. In creating the abbey Godiva stripped herself of much of her wealth but none of her apparel. Outside the abbey grounds there were no streets through which to ride, either naked or clothed; and no tolls existed to be remitted until more than 100 years after Godiva passed to her reward, leaving behind a legend that has misrepresented the generous lord and lady and picked up Peeping Tom and slanderous implications on its way.

In the locale from which the story came it is still celebrated. Since 1690 a stained glass window in St. Michael's Church commemorates the "ride." The oaken figure of Coventry which is called "Peeping Tom" was an image of St. George and was moved to where it stands in 1812, the dissenting authority claims.

Processions representing the ride were instituted in 1678, continued at intervals of three to seven years until 1826; then were revived with splendor in 1848 and in 1929. One is planned for this year and Sally Rand offered to do her stuff on horseback, but an English gal of equally symmetric proportions beat her out.

Looks like they have a lively Chamber of Commerce in modern Coventry.

Jets Destroy Five MIGs Over Korea

U. S. Fifth Air Force Headquarters, Korea, June 18 (AP)—Allied warplanes today destroyed five Communist MIG-15 jets in a swirling battle high over Northern Korea.

Two other Russian-made MIGs were damaged, one of them by Capt. Donald Stuck of White Plains, N. Y.

The battle between 33 F-86 Sabre jets and 40 MIGs was fought near the Manchurian border. It was the second straight day of large-scale air fighting.

One MIG was destroyed and six damaged yesterday.

All allied planes returned safely.

Not since April 22, when four MIGs were destroyed and four damaged, had the air force inflicted such a toll on the Reds.

Leader of one flight today was Col. Francis S. Gabreski, a newcomer to Korea who shot down 28 German planes over Europe in World War 2.

Gabreski, formerly of Santa Monica, Calif. ,and Oil City, Pa., was named deputy commander of the Fourth Fighter Interceptor Wing only yesterday.

Pilots said they had never seen the Reds so aggressive as they were yesterday and today.

In yesterday's battle 20 Sabre jets battled 25 MIGs.

Lt. Ralph B. Gibson, Mt. Carmel, Ill., was credited with two MIGs destroyed. Single kills were scored by Maj. Richard D. Creighton of Baton Rouge, La.; Capt. Irwin A. Hesse of Jacksonville, Fla., and Lt. James E. Heckman of Washington, D. C.

The streaking jet planes tangled in dog fights from 28,000 feet down to low levels. The battle was six miles east of Sinuiju, on the northwestern Korean border.

Leaves for Europe

New York, June 18 (AP)—Screen Star Elizabeth Taylor left by plane for London early today to make a film in England. She was accompanied on the flight by a friend, Peggy Rutledge, of Los Angeles. Miss Taylor, a recent divorcee, arrived here by plane from Hollywood yesterday, and was met at the airport by screen actor Montgomery Clift.

As Pegler Sees It

immigration brought poor and turbulent Europeans tumbling ashore by the thousands, have we known such fierce criminality among the young people.

In Tucson, of late, where the cost of "education" literally threatens the homes of thousands, there have been several mysterious explosions at night. There is evidence that these are the work of wild young men who, of course, have had the "benefit" of such moral teaching as may be found in the public schools. In New York and Chicago, gangs of young criminals knife, beat and shoot. In New York a mob of high school thugs rioted at the city hall. Some apologists say the reason is that the public doesn't provide additional money to pay instructors to teach them to play. Who taught Ty Cobb to play?

I believe this criminality is traceable to the wickedness of the Roosevelt cult in encouraging mobs of union goons to throw acid at policemen, rifle the mails, destroy property and terrorize whole cities. All that is insurrection, but so well accepted that the unions have taken little steps to discredit anarchy lest their goons presently find themselves engaged by equally savage mobs of righteous citizens. Given spirited leadership, the decent people of Detroit or San Francisco, for examples, might take to the streets with guns and tire-irons and have it out the bloody way.

Eleanor Roosevelt sympathized with the bonus insurrection and sneered at General MacArthur for putting them to flight without firing a shot. It was written that he rode a white horse. If that was wrong what is the number of the regulation which holds that a great soldier on active service may ride a roan or bay but not a white horse?

Lately I have adverted to the almost incredible stupidity of those who dumped hundreds of millions of dollars worth of machinery, copper wire and other peace-time industrial equipment on Soviet Russia for her post-war development long after her crisis of 1943 had passed. The fools, and that is the most generous term they deserve, claim to have thought that Russia would be our friend. And these were "educated" men and women. What excuse had they for believing that we could ever expect anything but duplicity, hatred and war from Soviet Russia? With all their "education" were they too dumb to know the record?

Harry Hopkins was beyond question a Communist, though probably not a member of their party. Many Communists aren't. He gave himself away when, with the war well won, he wrote happily over the prospect of our drafting both men and women for enforced labor at fixed wages wherever any commissar should send us, the wife to one area, the husband to another. Hopkins gloated over the thought of a genteel, moral woman in a religious American home, compelled to keep boarding-house for any riff-raff that might be billeted upon her by some group of terrorists with a grudge against her. It was vicious.

That told me all about Harry Hopkins. That was what he wanted. So when his biographer whines that nobody has ever apologized to his memory, I ask "Why should I?" Robert Sherwood writes that Hopkins sacrificed much in devoted service to our country. That is incorrect. Hopkins served Stalin and Soviet Russia, not my country. He admired Stalin. He had contempt for the Americans who were "too damned dumb to understand." He earned the honor of burial in the Kremlin.

These are some facts of this terrible turn in our country. Let any Harvard Ph.D., who dares try to refute them.

As Pegler Sees It

immigration brought poor and turbulent Europeans tumbling ashore by the thousands, have we known such fierce criminality among the young people.

In Tucson, of late, where the cost of "education" literally threatens the homes of thousands, there have been several mysterious explosions at night. There is evidence that these are the work of wild young men who, of course, have had the "benefit" of such moral teaching as may be found in the public schools. In New York and Chicago, gangs of young criminals knife, beat and shoot. In New York a mob of high school thugs rioted at the city hall. Some apologists say the reason is that the public doesn't provide additional money to pay instructors to teach them to play. Who taught Ty Cobb to play?

I believe this criminality is traceable to the wickedness of the Roosevelt cult in encouraging mobs of union goons to throw acid at policemen, rifle the mails, destroy property and terrorize whole cities. All that is insurrection, but so well accepted that the unions have taken little steps to discredit anarchy lest their goons presently find themselves engaged by equally savage mobs of righteous citizens. Given spirited leadership, the decent people of Detroit or San Francisco, for examples, might take to the streets with guns and tire-irons and have it out the bloody way.

Eleanor Roosevelt sympathized with the bonus insurrection and sneered at General MacArthur for putting them to flight without firing a shot. It was written that he rode a white horse. If that was wrong what is the number of the regulation which holds that a great soldier on active service may ride a roan or bay but not a white horse?

Lately I have adverted to the almost incredible stupidity of those who dumped hundreds of millions of dollars worth of machinery, copper wire and other peace-time industrial equipment on Soviet Russia for her post-war development long after her crisis of 1943 had passed. The fools, and that is the most generous term they deserve, claim to have thought that Russia would be our friend. And these were "educated" men and women. What excuse had they for believing that we could ever expect anything but duplicity, hatred and war from Soviet Russia? With all their "education" were they too dumb to know the record?

Harry Hopkins was beyond question a Communist, though probably not a member of their party. Many Communists aren't. He gave himself away when, with the war well won, he wrote happily over the prospect of our drafting both men and women for enforced labor at fixed wages wherever any commissar should send us, the wife to one area, the husband to another. Hopkins gloated over the thought of a genteel, moral woman in a religious American home, compelled to keep boarding-house for any riff-raff that might be billeted upon her by some group of terrorists with a grudge against her. It was vicious.

That told me all about Harry Hopkins. That was what he wanted. So when his biographer whines that nobody has ever apologized to his memory, I ask "Why should I?" Robert Sherwood writes that Hopkins sacrificed much in devoted service to our country. That is incorrect. Hopkins served Stalin and Soviet Russia, not my country. He admired Stalin. He had contempt for the Americans who were "too damned dumb to understand." He earned the honor of burial in the Kremlin.

These are some facts of this terrible turn in our country. Let any Harvard Ph.D., who dares try to refute them.

One day, in a thoughtful mood, Lincoln's little son, Tad, went into the White House study, climbed up on his father's knee, and inquired: "Papa, what did you say when you proposed to mamma?" Mr. Lincoln tried to evade the question, but the youngster persisted. "Well," at last came the reluctant reply, "if you must know what I said, Tad, when I proposed to your mother, I said yes!"

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

Flower Exhibit Planned at Club

Woodstock, June 18 — The flower exhibit to be held on Saturday, June 30, at the Woodstock Country Club, sponsored by the Garden Club of Woodstock, promises to be one of the outstanding events of the season. A varied program includes not only the display of many beautiful flower arrangements, but also an exhibit of flower paintings by well-known artists, and the showing of a remarkable color film entitled "Tropic Floral Wonderlands" by the noted film-lecturer James B. Pond. There will also be an exhibit of potted plants and other flowers by Nick Fox, the "Hudson Valley Gardner." The hour of admission will be from 1 to 5 p. m.

Mrs. Kathryn Van Ness, president of the Woodstock Garden Club, assisted by Mrs. George Laws, Mrs. R. W. Woiceske and Mrs. Frank Lynch have made the arrangements for the show. Mrs. Van Ness and her committee announce the following classifications for entries:

Arrangements in antique containers; all white arrangements; arrangements of roses (all colors); table arrangements (to include small side-table, hall-table, and coffee-table arrangements); house plants; specimens (or unusual plants); flowers as you like them; miniatures (not over eight inches high) and miniature gardens (in trays not to exceed 18 x 24 inches).

All entries must be at the Country Club not later than 11 a. m. Saturday, since the board of judges is to make decisions at noon. The judges include: Kenneth Wilson, town supervisor; Robert Elwyn, movie director; the Rev. Harvey I. Todd, pastor of the Dutch Reformed Church; John Pike, watercolor artist, and Fred Tripicco, landscape gardener.

Pond will show his exotic color films at 4 p. m., "taking his audience on a grand tour of Florida and Nassau, showing, one after another, pictures of tropical flowers, flowering trees, and weird fruits that have been brought to Florida from all over the world—further taking his audience to the Bahamas for shots of the Royal Poinciana tree in bloom."

A cordial invitation has been extended to the Kingston, New Paltz, and West Park Garden Clubs to participate in this exhibit, and it is hoped that such a comprehensive and unique occasion will produce a large attendance. Further information may be obtained by telephoning Mrs. Van Ness at Woodstock 2828.

Searchers Push Hunt For Missing Youth

Merrick, N. Y., June 18 (AP)—Hundreds of volunteers and soldiers pursued their hunt today for an eight-year-old boy missing since Saturday afternoon.

The searchers fanned out over the desolate salt marches of southern Long Island through the night looking for Robert Richartz, of 10 Rugby road, Merrick.

About 500 friends and neighbors of the Richartz family joined 150 soldiers from Mitchel Field in the hunt.

More than 100 police, volunteer firemen and civil defense workers from Merrick and Freeport also participated.

The boy was last seen by his mother at their home. His parents theorized that he may have gone to Freeport alone to see stock car races. They said auto racing fascinated him.

His father, Edward Richartz, owns a fishing boat drydock at Freeport.

General Is Back

New York, June 18 (AP)—General Douglas MacArthur is back in New York city after a four-day trip to Texas, a visit he described as "short but delightful." He returned with his wife and son Saturday night.

Pond. There will also be an exhibit of potted plants and other flowers by Nick Fox, the "Hudson Valley Gardner." The hour of admission will be from 1 to 5 p. m.

Mrs. Kathryn Van Ness, president of the Woodstock Garden Club, assisted by Mrs. George Laws, Mrs. R. W. Woiceske and Mrs. Frank Lynch have made the arrangements for the show. Mrs. Van Ness and her committee announce the following classifications for entries:

Arrangements in antique containers; all white arrangements; arrangements of roses (all colors); table arrangements (to include small side-table, hall-table, and coffee-table arrangements); house plants; specimens (or unusual plants); flowers as you like them; miniatures (not over eight inches high) and miniature gardens (in trays not to exceed 18 x 24 inches).

All entries must be at the Country Club not later than 11 a. m. Saturday, since the board of judges is to make decisions at noon. The judges include: Kenneth Wilson, town supervisor; Robert Elwyn, movie director; the Rev. Harvey I. Todd, pastor of the Dutch Reformed Church; John Pike, watercolor artist, and Fred Tripicco, landscape gardener.

Pond will show his exotic color films at 4 p. m., "taking his audience on a grand tour of Florida and Nassau, showing, one after another, pictures of tropical flowers, flowering trees, and weird fruits that have been brought to Florida from all over the world—further taking his audience to the Bahamas for shots of the Royal Poinciana tree in bloom."

A cordial invitation has been extended to the Kingston, New Paltz, and West Park Garden Clubs to participate in this exhibit, and it is hoped that such a comprehensive and unique occasion will produce a large attendance. Further information may be obtained by telephoning Mrs. Van Ness at Woodstock 2828.

Searchers Push Hunt For Missing Youth

Merrick, N. Y., June 18 (AP)—Hundreds of volunteers and soldiers pursued their hunt today for an eight-year-old boy missing since Saturday afternoon.

The searchers fanned out over the desolate salt marches of southern Long Island through the night looking for Robert Richartz, of 10 Rugby road, Merrick.

About 500 friends and neighbors of the Richartz family joined 150 soldiers from Mitchel Field in the hunt.

More than 100 police, volunteer firemen and civil defense workers from Merrick and Freeport also participated.

The boy was last seen by his mother at their home. His parents theorized that he may have gone to Freeport alone to see stock car races. They said auto racing fascinated him.

His father, Edward Richartz, owns a fishing boat drydock at Freeport.

Miss Osterhoudt, who attained the highest academic standing in her class, was a science major.

While at Keuka she was a member of Sigma Lambda Sigma, Keuka College honor society, and was awarded the Strasenburgh prize in chemistry during her freshman year.

Miss Osterhoudt, college authorities announced today, plans to work as a laboratory technician in Strong Memorial Hospital, Rochester.

Marbletown Legion, Auxiliary, Install Officers at Meeting

High Falls, June 18—The Town of Marbletown American Legion, Post No. 1512, and its auxiliary held a joint installation meeting Thursday in th Lomontville fire hall, with the Rev. Clarance Brown of Kingston, chaplain of the Ulster County American Legion and a past post and county commander of three counties, as installing officer.

New Legion officers are August Mastracola, commander; George Thornblade, first vice-commander; Harry Wikane, second vice-commander; Ernest Jansen, adjutant; Joseph Greenberg, treasurer; Frank Altieri, chaplain and Robert Sutton, welfare officer.

The Rev. Mr. Brown presented the immediate past commander, Mr. Greenberg, with a past commander's pin, praising him for his year of service to the community's veterans. In his charge to the post following the installation, the Rev. Mr. Brown urged more "pats on the back" and fewer criticisms. This, he said, would be a great boost to the morals of any set of officers. He also urged members to faithfully uphold the Legion's high ideals, and to constantly strive to live up to its principles of justice, freedom, and democracy as expressed in the preamble.

Mrs. Charles Maley, Wallkill, county chairman of the American Legion Auxiliary, installed the following auxiliary officers: Mrs. Frank Altieri, president; Mrs. Mark Bryant, first vice-president; Mrs. Joseph Hoffman, second vice-president; Mrs. George Kornstone, secretary; Mrs. Robert Sutton, treasurer; Mrs. Frank Pavlik, chaplain; Mrs. Ernest Jansen, historian, and Mrs. Sterling Jansen, sergeant-at-arms.

Committee Members

During the auxiliary's brief business meeting the poppy chairman reported that $90 had been collected for rehabilitation and child welfare work among veterans and their families, and Mrs. Altieri named the following committees: Mrs. Joseph Greenberg, Americanism; Mrs. Frank Esper, Mountain Legion Camp; Mrs. Thornblade, cancer; Mrs. George Williams, child welfare; Mrs. Edward Muller, community service; Mrs. Kornstone, constitution and by-laws; Mrs. Pavlik, coupon chairman; Mrs. Thomas Donnelly, education of war orphans; Mrs. Fred Brown, Empire State news; the Mmes. Ernest Jansen, Issac Graham and Fred Brown, finance committee; Mrs. Hoffman, Girls' State; Mrs. Jansen, historian; Mrs. Robert Sutton, junior activities; Mrs. Ray LeFevre, legislation; Mrs. Graham, membership; Mrs. Bryant, national security; Mrs. Edward Muller, Pan-Americanism; Mrs. Jansen, radio and publicity; Mrs. Hoffman, rehabilitation; Mrs. Pavlik, past presidents' parley, and Mrs. Jansen, poppies.

It was also announced that two auxiliary members have been nominated for county offices: Mrs. Graham for county chairman, and Mrs. Jansen for treasurer.

The post served a buffet supper under the direction of George Thornblade at the same meeting.

Leaders' Club Picnic

Approximately 35 Girl Scout leaders of the Ulster Girl Scout Council, held a picnic meeting June 11 at Lawton Park. Refreshments were prepared and served by Mrs. Joseph Fabysack's committee including the Mmes. Jeremy Bouchard, Charles Beehler, George McDonough and Miss Marguerite Flaherty. During the short business meeting, with Mrs. Bouchard, vice-president, presiding, fall and winter programs, and plans for the workshop were discussed. The first meeting of the fall season, it was announced, will be held at St. John's parish house, September 10. The program theme for the coming fall and winter season will be of a civic nature.

HOME BUREAU

Kerhonkson Unit

A committee meeting on project planning for Kerhonkson Unit No. 1, Home Bureau's coming season, was held June 11 at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Kenneth Tompkins. The group's final meeting was a covered dish supper June 13 at the home of Mrs. Henry Decker, with Mrs. Siegfried Abrahams as co-hostess, which 20 members attended. Following the supper Dr. R. G. Hallaway gave the opening lesson on first aid. The second lesson will be given June 19 at the home of Mrs. Roy Conklin. Meanwhile, on June 15 rags were distributed to members taking the course of toothbrush rugs, by the leaders, Mrs. Neil Olsen and Mrs. Francis McCauley, at the latter's home.

Mothers' Club

The Mothers' Club of Boy Scout Troop No. 9 of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer will meet at the church Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. All members are urged to attend.

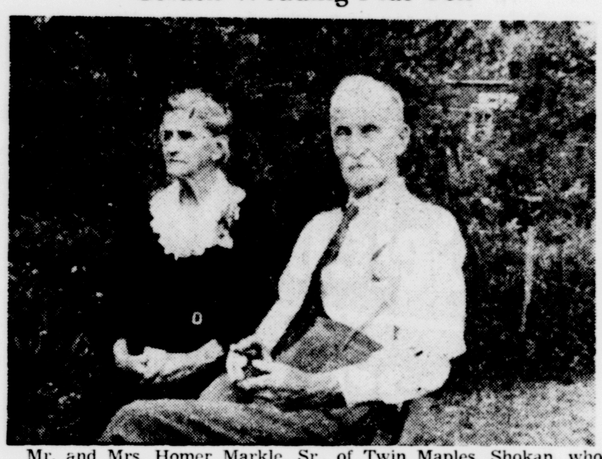
Golden Wedding Plus Ten



Mr. and Mrs. Homer Markle, Sr., of Twin Maples, Shokan, who celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary Friday, June 8. The couple, she is the former Julia Bellows, were married in New York, where, as a young man, Mr. Markle was employed in the tanning industry. Later, after the 19th century became the 20th, they moved to Glen Cove, L. I. where Mr. Markle followed his original trade, working for the E. R. Ladew Leather Concern. In 1927 they established their home in Shokan. Mr. Markle, now 90, is the son of the late Thomas and Mathilda Snow Markle. He served for 12 years on the Olive board of assessors, and both he and his wife are members of the Shokan Reformed Church. The couple are the parents of four children: Harry, Bedford, O., Mrs. Leonard Ferry, Bethel, Conn, Mrs. Edward Swanson and Homer Markle, Jr., of Shokan. There are several grandchildren.

Marbletown Legion, Auxiliary, Install Officers at Meeting

High Falls, June 18—The Town of Marbletown American Legion, Post No. 1512, and its auxiliary held a joint installation meeting Thursday in th Lomontville fire hall, with the Rev. Clarence Brown of Kingston, chaplain of the Ulster County American Legion and a past post and county commander of three counties, as installing officer.

New Legion officers are August Mastracola, commander; George Thornblade, first vice-commander; Harry Wikane, second vice-commander; Ernest Jansen, adjutant; Joseph Greenberg, treasurer; Frank Altieri, chaplain and Robert Sutton, welfare officer.

The Rev. Mr. Brown presented the immediate past commander, Mr. Greenberg, with a past commander's pin, praising him for his year of service to the community's veterans. In his charge to the post following the installation, the Rev. Mr. Brown urged more "pats on the back" and fewer criticisms. This, he said, would be a great boost to the morals of any set of officers. He also urged members to faithfully uphold the Legion's high ideals, and to constantly strive to live up to its principles of justice, freedom, and democracy as expressed in the preamble.

Mrs. Charles Maley, Wallkill, county chairman of the American Legion Auxiliary, installed the following auxiliary officers: Mrs. Frank Altieri, president; Mrs. Mark Bryant, first vice-president; Mrs. Joseph Hoffman, second vice-president; Mrs. George Kornstone, secretary; Mrs. Robert Sutton, treasurer; Mrs. Frank Pavlik, chaplain; Mrs. Ernest Jansen, historian, and Mrs. Sterling Jansen, sergeant-at-arms.

Committee Members

During the auxiliary's brief business meeting the poppy chairman reported that $90 had been collected for rehabilitation and child welfare work among veterans and their families, and Mrs. Altieri named the following committees: Mrs. Joseph Greenberg, Americanism; Mrs. Frank Esper, Mountain Legion Camp; Mrs. Thornblade, cancer; Mrs. George Williams, child welfare; Mrs. Edward Muller, community service; Mrs. Kornstone, constitution and by-laws; Mrs. Pavlik, coupon chairman; Mrs. Thomas Donnelly, education of war orphans; Mrs. Fred Brown, Empire State news; the Mmes. Ernest Jansen, Issac Graham and Fred Brown, finance committee; Mrs. Hoffman, Girls' State; Mrs. Jansen, historian; Mrs. Robert Sutton, junior activities; Mrs. Ray LeFevre, legislation; Mrs. Graham, membership; Mrs. Bryant, national security; Mrs. Edward Muller, Pan-Americanism; Mrs. Jansen, radio and publicity; Mrs. Hoffman, rehabilitation; Mrs. Pavlik, past presidents' parley, and Mrs. Jansen, poppies.

It was also announced that two auxiliary members have been nominated for county offices: Mrs. Graham for county chairman, and Mrs. Jansen for treasurer.

The post served a buffet supper under the direction of George Thornblade at the same meeting.

Leaders' Club Picnic

Approximately 35 Girl Scout leaders of the Ulster Girl Scout Council, held a picnic meeting June 11 at Lawton Park. Refreshments were prepared and served by Mrs. Joseph Fabysack's committee including the Mmes. Jeremy Bouchard, Charles Beehler, George McDonough and Miss Marguerite Flaherty. During the short business meeting, with Mrs. Bouchard, vice-president, presiding, fall and winter programs, and plans for the workshop were discussed. The first meeting of the fall season, it was announced, will be held at St. John's parish house, September 10. The program theme for the coming fall and winter season will be of a civic nature.

Coach House Players To Complete Season With Gala Banquet

Coach House Players will close a successful first season Thursday with a Dutch treat banquet at the Governor Clinton Hotel, starting at 6:30 p. m., and emceed by Ed Eckert who will introduce guests and announce the program.

Other summer plans announced by the Players include a picnic July 22 at Mrs. Kay Burgevin's Woodstock home for those who are still in town, and a fall fashion show August 30, which will open the fall season. Proceeds from the review will be used to purchase seats for the Coach House Theatre and Art Center.

Although Players consider the year officially closed, several committees will function throughout the summer, meeting with W. Irving Rose, president, for their instructions. These will include play reading, renovations, house and grounds, and membership.

At the group's last meeting a vote of thanks was presented to President Rose for his "untiring efforts and hard work throughout the year."

Personal Notes

BRIDEGROOM'S FAMILY MUST NOT SHARE WEDDING

The question of payment continually arises: "My oldest daughter is one of several, all coming along to marriageable ages faster than we like to think. She is the first to have a wedding, and as our circumstances are modest we do not want to spend our "all" on this one daughter and then in a year or two have nothing for the next one. Accordingly we'd like to keep the wedding very simple and the guest list limited to families. The groom's mother is upset. They are people of some means and have only this one child so they'd like to invite many friends as well as relatives. They have offered to share the expense to this end. I can understand their feeling as I'm sure you can understand mine. What would be the kindest thing for us to do?"

I think you would be putting yourself in a questionable situation to accept any help from the groom's family, and my suggestion is that you have a wedding within your own means and that the groom's family give as large a reception, or any other type of party they would like to, to welcome them home from their wedding trip.

Flaunting Rule Causes Complication

Dear Mrs. Post: I'm divorced and want to call myself by my maiden name again. The Court has given me permission. My name is Mary Brown. But shall I call myself Miss Mary Brown or Mrs. Mary Brown? The court makes no provision for that and you have said once married always a Mrs. Also, you've said that Mrs. followed by a woman's given name is not socially correct, all of which makes the situation very complicated.

Answer: It wouldn't be complicated if everyone followed the established custom and called themselves Mrs. Maidenname Married Name. But as long as you insist on taking back your maiden name, I see no alternative for Mrs. Mary Maidenname.

Salt on Tablecloth

Dear Mrs. Post: Someone tells me it is not wrong to put salt down on the tablecloth when there are no bread and butter plates. Is this true?

Answer: There is no objection—unless you dip something into it such as celery. But to merely pinch a little between your fingers would be all right.

Katherine Every's Troth Is Announced

KATHERINE PHAY EVERY

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Every of 134 O'Neil street announce the engagement of their daughter, Katherine Phay, to Arthur Allan Souers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Casper J. Souers of Hinsdale street, this city.

The bride-elect is a member of this year's graduating class at Kingston High School, and is now employed with the Aird-Don Co., Ten Broeck avenue.

Mr. Souers, whose schooling was interrupted by two years service with the U. S. Navy, graduated from Kingston High School with the class of '49. He is now employed by the Hoe Corp., Poughkeepsie.

The couple will be wed at the Reformed Church of the Comforter, Wynkoop place, Juny 7, at 3:30 p. m.

Body Is Found

Long Branch, N. J., June 18 (AP)—The body of a man who drowned after his boat capsized off Rockaway Point, L. I. last week was found floating off here yesterday. Police identified him as 32-year-old Clifford Charles Hamm of Ozone Park, Queens, N. Y. He and a companion were thrown into the waters off Rockaway Point last Saturday when their 14-foot fishing boat capsized. Robert Owens, 43, also of Ozone Park, was rescued within 10 minutes by a coast guard launch. Efforts to find Hamm at the time failed.

Bovine Queen Will Be Crowned

The coronation of "Queen Claridge Champion Bessie" will take place at Riverview Field, Poughkeepsie, at 2 p. m. Tuesday, June 19.

The coronation highlights area observance of June Dairy Month. It is sponsored by the Dairy Council of the Mid-Hudson Area.

Principal speaker will be Joseph Kilgallen, secretary to the New York State Department of Agriculture.

The queen, Claridge Champion Bessie, No. 2510722, is a registered Holstein in the herd of Clarence Eldridge, managed by Hugh Curtis of Pine Plains. She won the right to wear the crown because of her high record of 922 pounds of butterfat in 305 days. She produced 23,340 pounds of milk testing 3.9.

The Mid-Hudson Bovine Queen was chosen from entrants from Orange, Ulster and Dutchess counties.

In five years of milking, Queen Bessie produced 3,303 pounds of butterfat and 85,591 pounds of milk. She is a little more than seven years old. Not only is she a high producer, but she is a regular breeder and a transmitter of high dairy character. She comes from real aristocracy, her sire being Claridge Mineva Champion, and her dam, Overton Star Beauty.

Queen Bessie's lady-in-waiting is from Ulster county. She is Saunderskill Piebe Jolly, a seven-year-old registered Holstein owned by John L. Schoonmaker of Accord. Jolly's record was 738 pounds of butterfat and 21,030 pounds of milk in the 305 days.

The public is invited to the coronation ceremonies. Music, speaker and refreshments are all part of the ceremony.

Reception Honors Hirschell Mayes

A reception in honor of Hirschell Mayes, assistant grand lecturer of the 29th district, Order of Amaranth was held Monday night, June 11, in the Masonic Temple, this city.

A degree, entitled Ships Fraternal, was presented by the officers, who were dressed in colorful sailor hats and jackets. Mr. Mayes was also presented with a piece of luggage and several other gifts.

The homecoming of Vivien S. Kellenberger, grand faith of the grand court, '50-'51, was held immediately following the reception. She received a basket of mixed garden flowers, as well as other gifts.

Entertainment was provided by children from the Audrey Shultis School of Dance.

Holds Interviews

EDNA POOLE

First Class Personnel Mate Edna Poole, U. S. Navy recruiting officer for women, had a busy time Friday afternoon at the central post office where she interviewed 14 young women interested in the program offered by the Waves.

Miss Poole enlisted in New York in 1944 from Paterson, N. J., and took her Navy training at Hunter College. She attended the personnel school in 1948 at San Diego and in 1950 studied at the information school at Carlisle Barracks in Pennslyvania, later going to San Diego for further training. She was assigned in August, 1950 to New York headquarters and has been a traveling recruiter six months.

Chief Paul Cahill, who is in charge of Navy recruiting in the Kingston - Poughkeepsie area, said Miss Poole would return to Kingston at the end of July or early August. She also will be in attendance at the Dutchess County Fair in Rhinebeck where the Navy will have an exhibit. Young women interested in joining the Waves in the meantime may interview Chief Cahill or one of his assistants at the Kingston Post Office, or may write to him at Poughkeepsie Post Office. Robinson Speaks To Engineers

GEORGE S. ROBINSON

Pensacola, Fla., June 18—"The Navy Civil Engineer Corps is supervising the design and construction of 50 major contracts in this area, including a $5,000,000 power plant and a new jet airfield at Pensacola," Commander George S. Robinson, Civil Engineer Corps, USN, told the American Society of Civil Engineers in an address at Mobile, Ala., Saturday.

The officer-in-charge of construction on the Staff of Rear Admiral F. M. Hughes, Chief of Naval Air Basic Training, reviewed the background and function of the Civil Engineer Corps which has grown from a single civilian engineer assigned to the Navy 100 years ago to a corps of nearly 1300 highly trained engineers.

He told the group at Mobile, which met at the Battle House at 10:00 this morning of the variety of work in which the corps is engaged.

Entered in 1937

Commander Robinson entered the Navy in 1937. He was assistant public works officer in charge of construction in the Philippine Islands from 1938 to 1940. While on duty in Guatanamo, Cuba, from 1941 to 1944, he was decorated by the President of Haiti for his part in construction work in Haiti. In the early 1945 Commander Robinson was officer-in-charge of a Naval construction battalion on Okinawa. Commander Robinson reported to Pensacola in March of 1949.

Commander Robinson stated that complacent Americans could still be the undoing of America and the free world. He closed his remarks by urging the society to recognize the necessity for competent engineers in the armed services.

Commander Robinson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Reed of Saugerties, New York and married the former Miss Margaret C. Searle of Kingston.

Before entering the Navy, Commander Robinson held the position of bridge engineer in the Ulster County Highway Department.

Egg Output Jumps

Albany, N. Y., June 18 (AP)—Egg production in New York state increased last month to 18,900,000 dozen, five per cent more than the May, 1950, total. The State Agriculture Department also reported today that the total for the first five months of 1951 was 94,700,000 dozen, less than one per cent under production for the same period last year. Nationally, the five-month production was two per cent less than a year ago, the department said.

My friend Howard Dietz is famous in Hollywood, on Broadway, and in operatic circles for his ability to weave a plot or write a song that will drag in the paying customers. Hence when he tells a bridge story about the good old days I listen and enjoy myself without worrying too hard about the truth of the tale.

"West bid a spade on this hand just to keep the conversation going," said Dietz. "He wanted to make sure that the hand wasn't played at one heart."

We all agreed that West had acted against this great danger with a praiseworthy sense of duty.

"When East bid four spades, it was clear to North that the opponents must hold nine spades between them. Therefore he jumped to seven hearts at his next turn

"West suspected what was going on largely because his partner had not sacrificed at seven spades. Therefore he inserted a penalty double. Now it was South's turn to rely on the opponents to hold nine spades between them. If North had a void in spades there was bound to be a magnificent play for seven hearts. Therefore South redoubled.

"West led his singleton spade, and the defenders collected a mere 2800 points. Not a bad result on those cards, is it?"

We all agreed that West had managed to beat par for the hand. "I suppose you were West, Howard?" I asked, carefully keeping skepticism out of my voice.

"No," Dietz replied ruefully. "I was North. That's why I'm so conservative these days."

Who knows? Maybe it all happened just the way Dietz tells it. At any rate, his partner, Sherman Stearns, tells it the same way.

Rev. D. B. Quilty Ordained Sunday

REV. DONALD B. QUILTY

The Rev. Donald B. Quilty, C.Ss.R., son of Mrs. Dennis Quilty, of 43 Green street was ordained to the priesthood Sunday, at Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus by His Eminence Francis Cardinal Spellman.

On Sunday, June 24, Father Quilty will sing his first solemn high Mass at St. Joseph's Church, this city. The Rt. Rev. Stephen P. Connelly, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, will be the archpriest, the Rev. Karl Aschmann, C.Ss.R. of Mt. St. Alphonsus will be deacon and the Rev. John D. Simmons, senior curate at St. Joseph's Church, will be sub-deacon. The first Mass sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Frederick Prenatt, C.Ss.R., professor of homiletics and church history at Mt. St. Alphonsus.

Father Quilty attended primary school in Boston, Mass. and grammar school in St. Joseph's Parochial School, this city. After a year in the Myron J. Michael School, he studied at St. Mary's College, North East, Pennsylvania for six years, then at St. Mary's College, Ilchester, Maryland for another year. He recently completed five years' study at the Redemptorist Seminary at Esopus.

Father Quilty's father died in 1945. Other members of the family are Stephen G. Quilty of New York, Lawrence A. Quilty of this city and Mrs. Rita L. Belasco of Boston, Mass.

State Chairman Says Taft to Open Campaign

Bar Harbor, Me., June 18 (AP)—Maine Republican Chairman Ralph C. Masterman says he's had an "indication" that Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) may open a campaign for the Republican presidential nomination on Aug. 22 at a lobster dinner in Rockland.

Masterman said that was indicated to him in a telegram from Sen. Brewster (R-Me.).

Taft, however, hasn't said yet that he'd run or what his 1952 campaign aims are.

Masterman quoted Brewster as saying that Taft's appearance "can be made into a very significant event, with the amount of interest which will be stirring at that time."

SITTING ON TOP OF THE WORLD?

Is the '51 graduate sitting on top of the world financially..... or is the outlook bleak?

Our present school system has a savings plan whereby each student is allowed to save at school each "Bank Day".....a lesson in thrift taught at school that should be carried through to saving each "pay day" after graduation.

If the lesson of thrift has been well learned we have no need to fear for the financial future of the '51 grad.

We at the Kingston Savings Bank welcome all graduates who wish to continue their savings practice.

BRIDEGROOM'S FAMILY MUST NOT SHARE WEDDING

The question of payment continually arises: "My oldest daughter is one of several, all coming along to marriageable ages faster than we like to think. She is the first to have a wedding, and as our circumstances are modest we do not want to spend our "all" on this one daughter and then in a year or two have nothing for the next one. Accordingly we'd like to keep the wedding very simple and the guest list limited to families. The groom's mother is upset. They are people of some means and have only this one child so they'd like to invite many friends as well as relatives. They have offered to share the expense to this end. I can understand their feeling as I'm sure you can understand mine. What would be the kindest thing for us to do?"

I think you would be putting yourself in a questionable situation to accept any help from the groom's family, and my suggestion is that you have a wedding within your own means and that the groom's family give as large a reception, or any other type of party they would like to, to welcome them home from their wedding trip.

Flaunting Rule Causes Complication

Dear Mrs. Post: I'm divorced and want to call myself by my maiden name again. The Court has given me permission. My name is Mary Brown. But shall I call myself Miss Mary Brown or Mrs. Mary Brown? The court makes no provision for that and you have said once married always a Mrs. Also, you've said that Mrs. followed by a woman's given name is not socially correct, all of which makes the situation very complicated.

Answer: It wouldn't be complicated if everyone followed the established custom and called themselves Mrs. Maidenname Married Name. But as long as you insist on taking back your maiden name, I see no alternative for Mrs. Mary Maidenname.

Salt on Tablecloth

Dear Mrs. Post: Someone tells me it is not wrong to put salt down on the tablecloth when there are no bread and butter plates. Is this true?

Answer: There is no objection—unless you dip something into it such as celery. But to merely pinch a little between your fingers would be all right.

Katherine Every's Troth Is Announced

KATHERINE PHAY EVERY

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Every of 134 O'Neil street announce the engagement of their daughter, Katherine Phay, to Arthur Allan Souers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Casper J. Souers of Hinsdale street, this city.

The bride-elect is a member of this year's graduating class at Kingston High School, and is now employed with the Aird-Don Co., Ten Broeck avenue.

Mr. Souers, whose schooling was interrupted by two years service with the U. S. Navy, graduated from Kingston High School with the class of '49. He is now employed by the Hoe Corp., Poughkeepsie.

The couple will be wed at the Reformed Church of the Comforter, Wynkoop place, Juny 7, at 3:30 p. m.

Body Is Found

Long Branch, N. J., June 18 (AP)—The body of a man who drowned after his boat capsized off Rockaway Point, L. I. last week was found floating off here yesterday. Police identified him as 32-year-old Clifford Charles Hamm of Ozone Park, Queens, N. Y. He and a companion were thrown into the waters off Rockaway Point last Saturday when their 14-foot fishing boat capsized. Robert Owens, 43, also of Ozone Park, was rescued within 10 minutes by a coast guard launch. Efforts to find Hamm at the time failed.

Bovine Queen Will Be Crowned

The coronation of "Queen Claridge Champion Bessie" will take place at Riverview Field, Poughkeepsie, at 2 p. m. Tuesday, June 19.

The coronation highlights area observance of June Dairy Month. It is sponsored by the Dairy Council of the Mid-Hudson Area.

Principal speaker will be Joseph Kilgallen, secretary to the New York State Department of Agriculture.

The queen, Claridge Champion Bessie, No. 2510722, is a registered Holstein in the herd of Clarence Eldridge, managed by Hugh Curtis of Pine Plains. She won the right to wear the crown because of her high record of 922 pounds of butterfat in 305 days. She produced 23,340 pounds of milk testing 3.9.

The Mid-Hudson Bovine Queen was chosen from entrants from Orange, Ulster and Dutchess counties.

In five years of milking, Queen Bessie produced 3,303 pounds of butterfat and 85,591 pounds of milk. She is a little more than seven years old. Not only is she a high producer, but she is a regular breeder and a transmitter of high dairy character. She comes from real aristocracy, her sire being Claridge Mineva Champion, and her dam, Overton Star Beauty.

Queen Bessie's lady-in-waiting is from Ulster county. She is Saunderskill Piebe Jolly, a seven-year-old registered Holstein owned by John L. Schoonmaker of Accord. Jolly's record was 738 pounds of butterfat and 21,030 pounds of milk in the 305 days.

The public is invited to the coronation ceremonies. Music, speaker and refreshments are all part of the ceremony.

Reception Honors Hirschell Mayes

A reception in honor of Hirschell Mayes, assistant grand lecturer of the 29th district, Order of Amaranth was held Monday night, June 11, in the Masonic Temple, this city.

A degree, entitled Ships Fraternal, was presented by the officers, who were dressed in colorful sailor hats and jackets. Mr. Mayes was also presented with a piece of luggage and several other gifts.

The homecoming of Vivien S. Kellenberger, grand faith of the grand court, '50-'51, was held immediately following the reception. She received a basket of mixed garden flowers, as well as other gifts.

Entertainment was provided by children from the Audrey Shultis School of Dance.

Holds Interviews

EDNA POOLE

First Class Personnel Mate Edna Poole, U. S. Navy recruiting officer for women, had a busy time Friday afternoon at the central post office where she interviewed 14 young women interested in the program offered by the Waves.

Miss Poole enlisted in New York in 1944 from Paterson, N. J., and took her Navy training at Hunter College. She attended the personnel school in 1948 at San Diego and in 1950 studied at the information school at Carlisle Barracks in Pennslyvania, later going to San Diego for further training. She was assigned in August, 1950 to New York headquarters and has been a traveling recruiter six months.

Chief Paul Cahill, who is in charge of Navy recruiting in the Kingston - Poughkeepsie area, said Miss Poole would return to Kingston at the end of July or early August. She also will be in attendance at the Dutchess County Fair in Rhinebeck where the Navy will have an exhibit. Young women interested in joining the Waves in the meantime may interview Chief Cahill or one of his assistants at the Kingston Post Office, or may write to him at Poughkeepsie Post Office. Robinson Speaks To Engineers

Pensacola, Fla., June 18—"The Navy Civil Engineer Corps is supervising the design and construction of 50 major contracts in this area, including a $5,000,000 power plant and a new jet airfield at Pensacola," Commander George S. Robinson, Civil Engineer Corps, USN, told the American Society of Civil Engineers in an address at Mobile, Ala., Saturday.

The officer-in-charge of construction on the Staff of Rear Admiral F. M. Hughes, Chief of Naval Air Basic Training, reviewed the background and function of the Civil Engineer Corps which has grown from a single civilian engineer assigned to the Navy 100 years ago to a corps of nearly 1300 highly trained engineers.

He told the group at Mobile, which met at the Battle House at 10:00 this morning of the variety of work in which the corps is engaged.

Entered in 1937

Commander Robinson entered the Navy in 1937. He was assistant public works officer in charge of construction in the Philippine Islands from 1938 to 1940. While on duty in Guatanamo, Cuba, from 1941 to 1944, he was decorated by the President of Haiti for his part in construction work in Haiti. In the early 1945 Commander Robinson was officer-in-charge of a Naval construction battalion on Okinawa. Commander Robinson reported to Pensacola in March of 1949.

Commander Robinson stated that complacent Americans could still be the undoing of America and the free world. He closed his remarks by urging the society to recognize the necessity for competent engineers in the armed services.

Commander Robinson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Reed of Saugerties, New York and married the former Miss Margaret C. Searle of Kingston.

Before entering the Navy, Commander Robinson held the position of bridge engineer in the Ulster County Highway Department.

Egg Output Jumps

Albany, N. Y., June 18 (AP)—Egg production in New York state increased last month to 18,900,000 dozen, five per cent more than the May, 1950, total. The State Agriculture Department also reported today that the total for the first five months of 1951 was 94,700,000 dozen, less than one per cent under production for the same period last year. Nationally, the five-month production was two per cent less than a year ago, the department said.

My friend Howard Dietz is famous in Hollywood, on Broadway, and in operatic circles for his ability to weave a plot or write a song that will drag in the paying customers. Hence when he tells a bridge story about the good old days I listen and enjoy myself without worrying too hard about the truth of the tale.

"West bid a spade on this hand just to keep the conversation going," said Dietz. "He wanted to make sure that the hand wasn't played at one heart."

We all agreed that West had acted against this great danger with a praiseworthy sense of duty.

"When East bid four spades, it was clear to North that the opponents must hold nine spades between them. Therefore he jumped to seven hearts at his next turn.

"West suspected what was going on largely because his partner had not sacrificed at seven spades. Therefore he inserted a penalty double. Now it was South's turn to rely on the opponents to hold nine spades between them. If North had a void in spades there was bound to be a magnificent play for seven hearts. Therefore South redoubled.

"West led his singleton spade, and the defenders collected a mere 2800 points. Not a bad result on those cards, is it?"

We all agreed that West had managed to beat par for the hand. "I suppose you were West, Howard?" I asked, carefully keeping skepticism out of my voice.

"No," Dietz replied ruefully. "I was North. That's why I'm so conservative these days."

Who knows? Maybe it all happened just the way Dietz tells it. At any rate, his partner, Sherman Stearns, tells it the same way.

St. Alphonsus.

Father Quilty attended primary school in Boston, Mass. and grammar school in St. Joseph's Parochial School, this city. After a year in the Myron J. Michael School, he studied at St. Mary's College, North East, Pennsylvania for six years, then at St. Mary's College, Ilchester, Maryland for another year. He recently completed five years' study at the Redemptorist Seminary at Esopus.

Father Quilty's father died in 1945. Other members of the family are Stephen G. Quilty of New York, Lawrence A. Quilty of this city and Mrs. Rita L. Belasco of Boston, Mass.

State Chairman Says Taft to Open Campaign

Bar Harbor, Me., June 18 (AP)—Maine Republican Chairman Ralph C. Masterman says he's had an "indication" that Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) may open a campaign for the Republican presidential nomination on Aug. 22 at a lobster dinner in Rockland.

Masterman said that was indicated to him in a telegram from Sen. Brewster (R-Me.).

Taft, however, hasn't said yet that he'd run or what his 1952 campaign aims are.

Masterman quoted Brewster as saying that Taft's appearance "can be made into a very significant event, with the amount of interest which will be stirring at that time."

Colonials Defeat Amsterdam, 9-7 on Saturday; Lose Sunday's Game, 6-1

League Splits Season; 2nd Half Opens July 3

Business perked up financially and artistically for the Colonials over the week-end, with a total of 1144 paid admissions filing through the turnstiles for the two-game set the locals split with the Amsterdam Rugmakers.

The Colonials outslugged the visitors, 9 to 7, Saturday night before 825 customers, the largest attendance since opening night.

Amsterdam got brilliant two-hit pitching from Lou Paz, of nearby Montgomery, N. Y., to capture Sunday's afternoon game, 6 to 1, before 319 fans.

Split Season

Week-end developments in the Can-Am League and on the local scene intensified plans to keep the franchise rolling for the remainder of the season.

The Class C League adopted a split season schedule Saturday at a meeting in Oneonta. The move was made to boost attendance and help the financial condition of the second-division clubs.

Under a split schedule plan, the first half of the current season will end on July 2. On the next day, all teams will be given a clean slate for the second half. The team with the best overall record at the close of the season will take the pennant.

League President Albert E. Howghton of Schenectady and others attending Saturday's meeting said they believed the new plan might help boost interest in the clubs giving the weaker teams a chance to build up their second-half standings.

Seven-Run Rally

The Colonials enjoyed a seven-run inning Saturday night to highlight its seventh win of the season, 9 to 7. The Rugmakers assaulted starter Frank Seeley rather vigorously and led 6 to 1 when the Colonials came to bat in the bottom of the third.

Ten men batted, with Lou Kramberg hitting twice. Dennis Healey, Joel Kern, Sam Piacentino, Joe Niro and Jack Allen singled in the big frame; Lou Kramberg and Red Klinger walked and Tony Gomez inserted a pinch-hit double with the sacks loaded.

The Colonial barrage routed Don Sundlov, the Amsterdam starter and brought on Tom Mollica and Steve Krall, a swift right hander, contrived to check the Colonials with only two hits and a run for the rest of the way.

In Vince Canepa, however, they found a worthy foe. The veteran righty permitted only four hits and a run in the last six innings to register his third victory of the season.

Joe Niro rapped three singles and knocked in two runs in the Saturday game, while Healey, Piacentino and Jack Allen each had two hits. Bob Wehner homered for the Rugmakers in the second.

Paz was absolute master of the Colonials in Sunday's game. Lou Kramberg's solid single in the fourth and Sam Piacentino's ninth-inning homer were the only hits off the young ace. Sam was the only Colonial to advance past first base. Paz walked four and fanned six. Dick Connors, who was not too sharp in the early frames, was charged with the defeat.

COLONIAL CAPERS: The locals knocked off six double plays in the two games, four on Sunday. Jack Allen and Jack Crimston figured in double plays from the outfield. Piacentino made several spectacular catches in yesterday's game. His homer had the old Piacentino trademark, a long towering blast over the left field fence. David Petruski, of 41 Hudson street, was winner of the television set Saturday night. After a two-day stand in Rome, the Colonials return home for five straight days of action, starting with Wednesday's twi-night twinbill with the league leading Pittsfield Electrics. Front office burned up long distance wires over the week-end trying to land player help for the second half which opens on July 3. Amsterdam expected to deliver infielder in next few days. The first 200 ladies who enter the park for Wednesday's doubleheader will receive a beautiful orchid flown to Kingston fro Honolulu. Sunday's paid attendance of 319 following 825 turnout and Colonial triumph may have proved that the sunbaked concrete stands at municipal stadium are no inducement for fans on hot afternoons like yesterday. Next Sunday's contest probably will be switched to the mazdas.

Twaalfskill Upsets Wiltwyck in Inter-Club, 34-27

SCOREBOARD

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Attention Latin America!

Muchas Gracias, Habana! Viva Luis Aloma! Viva Crestes Minoso! Arriba Caracas! Arriba Chico Carrasquel

Meaning Manager Paul Richards and his Chicago White Sox are grateful to Havana, Cuba and Caracas, Venezuela for their contributions to American "beisbol."

Aloma, Minoso and Carrasquel were the big guns yesterday as the American League-leading Medias Blanca (White Sox) swept a double-header from the Athletics 4-1 and 9-0, to snap a three-game losing streak in Philadelphia.

Chicago's double win increased its first-place margin over New York to 3½ games despite the Yankees' 5-0 victory over Detroit. Boston's third-place Red Sox took two from St. Louis, 5-4 and 3-0, to remain five games off the pace. Washington swept a three-game series from Cleveland with a 5-1 triumph.

Brooks Pick Up

Brooklyn widened its National League lead over the New York Giants to six games with a 3-2 win at Chicago as Pittsburgh defeated the Giants, 11-5, in the first game of a twin bill. The second game was called in Pittsburgh's half of the eighth inning because of the Sunday law. The score was tied at 6-6. The game will be resumed July 24.

The St. Louis Cards won their third straight from the Philadelphia Phils, 5-4. Cincinnati and Boston divided a doubleheader. The Reds won the opener, 2-1. The Braves took the second, 5-0.

Yankee Allie Reynolds hurled his second shutout and sixth win of the year, limiting the Tigers to four hits.

Ted Williams batted in two runs in each game as the Red Sox kept pace with the league leaders. Ray Scarborough won his fourth in the opener and Mel Parnell twirled an eight-hit shutout for his seventh win.

Shutout for Sanford

Freddy Sanford, pitching his first game since his acquisition from the Yankees, won a three-hitter for Washington over Cleveland.

A home run by Roy Campanella with one out and Gil Hodges on base in the top of the ninth gave the Dodgers their 3-2 win in Chicago.

Howie Pollet made his first start for the Pirates and was credited with Pittsburgh's victory over the Giants.

The second game was called with one out and a man on first base in the Pirates' half of the eighth.

Stan Musial homered in St. Louis' half of the 10th to beat the Phils. It was Stan's second homer of the game and 14th of the season. Reliever Gerry Staley won his eighth game. Russ Meyer was the loser.

Rookie Chet Nichols shut out the Reds with eight hits to defeat Ewell Blackwell after Harry Perkowski of Cincinnati had outdueled Johnny Sain of Boston in the opener of the twin bill.

FOUR OF A KIND—ALL ACES

Winners Show Great Form On Home Greens

Boice-Hughes Halve Van Aken-Randall

Flashing almost perfect form on their home greens, Twaalfskill Golf Club swingers upset Wiltwyck, 34 to 27, Sunday in the first half of the annual inter-club series.

While Wiltwyck's stars racked up a good lead on the Hurley avenue links in matches involving lower handicap players, the high handicap Twaalfskill players piled up an even greater margin on the midtown fairways.

In the top foursome of the day, the Twaalfskill tandem of club champion, Alvin Boice, and runnerup George Hughes, halved their match with Bill Van Aken, Wiltwyck and city champion, and Leon Randall.

Boice defeated Van Aken, while Randall won over Hughes. The teams matched best balls.

Dick Davenport and Dick Overbagh fired low medals of 73 at Wiltwyck, while Charles J. Turck's 79 was the best round at Twaalfskill. Leon Randall fired 75, George Hughes had a 76 and Alvin Boice posted 78 in the unorthodox fashion of 42-36. Bill Van Aken soared into the 80s.

In other top bracket pairings, J. Watson Bailey and Dr. Fred Holcomb, Jr., of Wiltwyck downed John Van Gonsic and Ed Remmert of Twaalfskill, 2 to ½.

Clarence "Dubby" Raichle and Dick Davenport of Wiltwyck downed Lou Smith and Dan Shufeldt of Twaalfskill, 3 to 0.

Twaalfskill assured its victory with several 3-0 sweeps. Fabian Russell and Walton Fitzgerald whipped Stan Hankinson and Doug Kennedy via the 3-0 route.

Other three-point tandems for the winners were H. Barrows and John Matthews; Dick Overbagh and Jim Dwyer; Dr. Michael Diacovo and Charles J. Turck; Fred Ertel and Bob O'Reilly; while Allan Tobias and John Schoonmaker picked up 2½ points for Twaalfskill in their match with the Kantrowitz brothers.

Hogan Captures Third Straight Open Crown

Sensational 67 Turns Trick

Birmingham, Mich., June 18 (AP)—If he had chosen a career of gloves instead of golf, Ben Hogan undoubtedly would have been welterweight champion of the world.

If he had picked baseball instead of bunkers, it stands that he would have been another Ty Cobb.

Here is one of the great all-time competitors in sports.

He is a bulldog. He has nothing but contempt for odds.

For that reason the 38-year-old former caddy from Fort Worth, Tex., is more firmly entrenched today as king of golf.

Last Saturday he won the U. S. Open championship, the greatest test of them all, for the third time in four years. Actually it's the same as three in a row since he missed 1949 because of an automobile accident which was expected to sideline him for keeps.

At the same time—and what he said gave him the greatest satisfaction, he handed the trap-infested Oakland Hills, the course nobody could beat, a shellacking it will remember forever.

Hogan himself gave a good insight into his battling nature while chatting with newsmen after his Oakland Hills triumph.

"Somebody said I'll probably lose my incentive now that I've won the Open three times," he said. "That's tommyrot. Every time I step out on the course I'm going to do my darndest to win."

Beat Tough Course

Ben also had some remarks about the course that had baffled him and 161 other crack golfers for most of three days.

"I sure wanted to bring her to her knees," he said. "I was disappointed when I didn't do it in the morning—(he got a 71). I went out in the afternoon determined to do it."

And he did—with a blistering three-under-par 67.

Hogan's final two rounds of 71 and 67 gave him a 72-hole total of 287, the same score with which he won at Philadelphia's Merion a year ago.

He was five strokes back of Bobby Locke going into the final holes and was counted out. He was two strokes back of Locke and Jimmy Demaret after 54 holes.

Then came his amazing finish, for which he now owns the full copyright.

He beat the best golfers in the world — including British Open champion Locke and Argentina's spectacular Roberto De Vicenzo.

Only two men broke Oakland Hills' par 70, Hogan with his 67, Clayton Heafner with a 69 which gave him second place at 289. Locke was third with 291 and others were strung out from there.

Bob Oliner Gets Release

Big Bob Oliner, the light-hitting third sacker, who has had more than his share of trouble trying to find the handle on ground balls, drew his unconditional release from the Colonials today.

General Manager Addison Jones said the Colonials would return Manager Joel Kern to third base and try a newcomer, Duke Cross, Negro ex-House of David player, at shortstop in the next few days. Cross, a resident of Yonkers, was signed to a contract yesterday.

Jones also revealed that the Colonials are dickering with the Cleveland Indians for the contract of Russell Royster, Harrisburg, Pa., Negro right hander, who has a 7-0 record in the Class B Inter-state League.

Ismael "Chico" Alvarado, Puerto Rican southpaw, has been recalled by the St. Hyacinthe club of the Canadian Provincial League which is managed by Hank Camelli.

The Colonials are momentarily expecting the arrival of another new infielder, Jones said.

Faced with an approach shot of about 90 yards to the green, providing you are not hitting into a stiff wind, it will be a nine iron.

The idea is to get on the green as near the cup as possible so you can one putt.

Most of us, though, will settle just to get on the green and stay out of trouble.

The first thing to consider is the stance. Plant yourself firmly, lining the ball up between your feet, perhaps slightly to the right.

Lew Worsham

Remember, instead of a whole fairway at which to shoot, there's only a small greensward, surrounded by trouble.

Your grip is shortened, the left arm still straight.

The weight is slightly to the left.

Keep your eyes on the spot on the ball you expect to meet with the club.

The weight of the body shifts to the right at the start of the backswing.

At the top of the backswing, the shoulders are turned so the back faces the hole squarely, eyes still on the ball.

The wrists are cocked, the left arm is straight.

As the downswing progresses, the weight shifts back to the left.

Balance, so essential to any well-executed shot, still is maintained.

The follow through with the nine iron is shorter than is the case of longer clubs.

Oft-times players are prone to neglect following through because the shot generally is short.

As I wrote in the P.G.A.'s Teachers' Guide, don't.

After the follow through, you may raise your eyes to see the flight of the ball.

Up to this point, the eyes must remain steadfast in their original position.

NEXT: Jimmy Demaret on the seven iron.

TOP—At the top of the backswing, Claude Harmon's shoulders are turned so the back faces the hole squarely. (NEA)

Culloton, Black, Hoffman, Higgins Are Named Little League Coaches

KAA Chooses Veteran Stars

Appointment of four prominent local baseball figures as coaches for Kingston's first Little League program were announced today by Bob Umpleby, president of the Kingston Athletic Association, sponsors of Little League.

Heading the list is perhaps the city's best known baseball hero, Bernard A. "Bud" Culloton, a star flinger with the legendary original Colonials.

Others named include Joe Hoffman, veteran player and manager; Walt Black, a fabulous southpaw of the middle 30s, and Charlie Higgins.

Kingston fans will recognize the names of the first three immediately, and although Higgins is a comparative newcomer to the local scene, he has a solid background of high school and semi-pro experience in the Wilkes-Barre, Pa., area. He is associated locally with the Standard Furniture Company.

Umpleby Pleased

President Umpleby expressed confidence in the four selections and said they would lend valuable experience, color and class to the Little League setup.

"All four of these men have demonstrated interest in junior baseball through the years, including the recent KAA summer programs," Umpleby said. "We of KAA are very happy to be able to have their services."

Each coach will direct a team to be announced early this week and will work in conjunction with a "manager" selected by the kid players.

The greatest of Kingston pitchers (Myron Allen fans, please forgive) Culloton was the bellwether of the original Colonial staff, following his graduation from Fordham University where he was an all-time athletic great. He was signed by the Pittsburgh Pirates after losing a dazzling 10-inning exhibition to them at the old Fair Grounds and was a member of two National League pennant winners.

30-Year Veteran

Joe Hoffman has been part of the Kingston baseball scene for nearly 30 years. He played with the original Colonials and with virtually every semi-pro team of note in the area in the last three decades.

Upon his retirement as an active player, Hoffman took to coaching and managing and piloted the powerful Kingston Recreations for several seasons. In recent years he has been identified with the City Baseball League and his Chez Emile squads have dominated the twilight circuit for the past two seasons.

An unfortunate accident curbed Walt Black's pitching career about 15 years ago when he was at the peak of his form. An old Industrial League product, he was pitching phenomenal ball for John McCardle's All Stars.

The KAA's Little League is scheduled to start Saturday, June 23, at St. Mary's Field.

League Splits Season; 2nd Half Opens July 3

Business perked up financially and artistically for the Colonials over the week-end, with a total of 1144 paid admissions filing through the turnstiles for the two-game set the locals split with the Amsterdam Rugmakers.

The Colonials outslugged the visitors, 9 to 7, Saturday night before 825 customers, the largest attendance since opening night.

Amsterdam got brilliant two-hit pitching from Lou Paz, of nearby Montgomery, N. Y., to capture Sunday's afternoon game, 6 to 1, before 319 fans.

Split Season

Week-end developments in the Can-Am League and on the local scene intensified plans to keep the franchise rolling for the remainder of the season.

The Class C League adopted a split season schedule Saturday at a meeting in Oneonta. The move was made to boost attendance and help the financial condition of the second-division clubs.

Under a split schedule plan, the first half of the current season will end on July 2. On the next day, all teams will be given a clean slate for the second half. The team with the best overall record at the close of the season will take the pennant.

League President Albert E. Howghton of Schenectady and others attending Saturday's meeting said they believed the new plan might help boost interest in the clubs giving the weaker teams a chance to build up their second-half standings.

Seven-Run Rally

The Colonials enjoyed a seven-run inning Saturday night to highlight its seventh win of the season, 9 to 7. The Rugmakers assaulted starter Frank Seeley rather vigorously and led 6 to 1 when the Colonials came to bat in the bottom of the third.

Ten men batted, with Lou Kramberg hitting twice. Dennis Healey, Joel Kern, Sam Piacentino, Joe Niro and Jack Allen singled in the big frame; Lou Kramberg and Red Klinger walked and Tony Gomez inserted a pinch-hit double with the sacks loaded.

The Colonial barrage routed Don Sundlov, the Amsterdam starter and brought on Tom Mollica and Steve Krall, a swift right hander, contrived to check the Colonials with only two hits and a run for the rest of the way.

In Vince Canepa, however, they found a worthy foe. The veteran righty permitted only four hits and a run in the last six innings to register his third victory of the season.

Joe Niro rapped three singles and knocked in two runs in the Saturday game, while Healey, Piacentino and Jack Allen each had two hits. Bob Wehner homered for the Rugmakers in the second.

Paz was absolute master of the Colonials in Sunday's game. Lou Kramberg's solid single in the fourth and Sam Piacentino's ninth-inning homer were the only hits off the young ace. Sam was the only Colonial to advance past first base. Paz walked four and fanned six. Dick Connors, who was not too sharp in the early frames, was charged with the defeat.

COLONIAL CAPERS: The locals knocked off six double plays in the two games, four on Sunday. Jack Allen and Jack Crimston figured in double plays from the outfield. Piacentino made several spectacular catches in yesterday's game. His homer had the old Piacentino trademark, a long towering blast over the left field fence. David Petruski, of 41 Hudson street, was winner of the television set Saturday night. After a two-day stand in Rome, the Colonials return home for five straight days of action, starting with Wednesday's twi-night twin-bill with the league leading Pittsfield Electrics. Front office burned up long distance wires over the week-end trying to land player help for the second half which opens on July 3. Amsterdam expected to deliver infielder in next few days. The first 200 ladies who enter the park for Wednesday's doubleheader will receive a beautiful orchid flown to Kingston fro Honolulu. Sunday's paid attendance of 319 following 825 turnout and Colonial triumph may have proved that the sunbaked concrete stands at municipal stadium are no inducement for fans on hot afternoons like yesterday. Next Sunday's contest probably will be switched to the mazdas.

Twaalfskill Upsets Wiltwyck in Inter-Club, 34-27

THE SCOREBOARD

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Attention Latin America!

Muchas Gracias, Habana! Viva Luis Aloma! Viva Crestes Minoso! Arriba Caracas! Arriba Chico Carrasquel

Meaning Manager Paul Richards and his Chicago White Sox are grateful to Havana, Cuba and Caracas, Venezuela for their contributions to American "beisbol."

Aloma, Minoso and Carrasquel were the big guns yesterday as the American League-leading Medias Blanca (White Sox) swept a double-header from the Athletics 4-1 and 9-0, to snap a three-game losing streak in Philadelphia.

Chicago's double win increased its first-place margin over New York to 3½ games despite the Yankees' 5-0 victory over Detroit. Boston's third-place Red Sox took two from St. Louis, 5-4 and 3-0, to remain five games off the pace. Washington swept a three-game series from Cleveland with a 5-1 triumph.

Brooks Pick Up

Brooklyn widened its National League lead over the New York Giants to six games with a 3-2 win at Chicago as Pittsburgh defeated the Giants, 11-5, in the first game of a twin bill. The second game was called in Pittsburgh's half of the eighth inning because of the Sunday law. The score was tied at 6-6. The game will be resumed July 24.

The St. Louis Cards won their third straight from the Philadelphia Phils, 5-4. Cincinnati and Boston divided a doubleheader. The Reds won the opener, 2-1. The Braves took the second, 5-0.

Yankee Allie Reynolds hurled his second shutout and sixth win of the year, limiting the Tigers to four hits.

Ted Williams batted in two runs in each game as the Red Sox kept pace with the league leaders. Ray Scarborough won his fourth in the opener and Mel Parnell twirled an eight-hit shutout for his seventh win.

Shutout for Sanford

Freddy Sanford, pitching his first game since his acquisition from the Yankees, won a three-hitter for Washington over Cleveland.

A home run by Roy Campanella with one out and Gil Hodges on base in the top of the ninth gave the Dodgers their 3-2 win in Chicago.

Howie Pollet made his first start for the Pirates and was credited with Pittsburgh's victory over the Giants.

The second game was called with one out and a man on first base in the Pirates' half of the eighth.

Stan Musial homered in St. Louis' half of the 10th to beat the Phils. It was Stan's second homer of the game and 14th of the season. Reliever Gerry Staley won his eighth game. Russ Meyer was the loser.

Rookie Chet Nichols shut out the Reds with eight hits to defeat Ewell Blackwell after Harry Perkowski of Cincinnati had outdueled Johnny Sain of Boston in the opener of the twin bill.

Hogan Captures Third Straight Open Crown

Sensational 67 Turns Trick

Birmingham, Mich., June 18 (AP)—If he had chosen a career of gloves instead of golf, Ben Hogan undoubtedly would have been welterweight champion of the world.

If he had picked baseball instead of bunkers, it stands that he would have been another Ty Cobb.

Here is one of the great all-time competitors in sports.

He is a bulldog. He has nothing but contempt for odds.

For that reason the 38-year-old former caddy from Fort Worth, Tex., is more firmly entrenched today as king of golf.

Last Saturday he won the U. S. Open championship, the greatest test of them all, for the third time in four years. Actually it's the same as three in a row since he missed 1949 because of an automobile accident which was expected to sideline him for keeps.

At the same time—and what he said gave him the greatest satisfaction, he handed the trap-infested Oakland Hills, the course nobody could beat, a shellacking it will remember forever.

Hogan himself gave a good insight into his battling nature while chatting with newsmen after his Oakland Hills triumph.

"Somebody said I'll probably lose my incentive now that I've won the Open three times," he said. "That's tommyrot. Every time I step out on the course I'm going to do my darndest to win."

Beat Tough Course

Ben also had some remarks about the course that had baffled him and 161 other crack golfers for most of three days.

"I sure wanted to bring her to her knees," he said. "I was disappointed when I didn't do it in the morning—(he got a 71). I went out in the afternoon determined to do it."

And he did—with a blistering three-under-par 67.

Hogan's final two rounds of 71 and 67 gave him a 72-hole total of 287, the same score with which he won at Philadelphia's Merion a year ago.

He was five strokes back of Bobby Locke going into the final holes and was counted out. He was two strokes back of Locke and Jimmy Demaret after 54 holes.

Then came his amazing finish, for which he now owns the full copyright.

He beat the best golfers in the world — including British Open champion Locke and Argentina's spectacular Roberto De Vicenzo.

Only two men broke Oakland Hills' par 70, Hogan with his 67, Clayton Heafner with a 69 which gave him second place at 289. Locke was third with 291 and others were strung out from there.

Bob Oliner Gets Release

Big Bob Oliner, the light-hitting third sacker, who has had more than his share of trouble trying to find the handle on ground balls, drew his unconditional release from the Colonials today.

General Manager Addison Jones said the Colonials would return Manager Joel Kern to third base and try a newcomer, Duke Cross, Negro ex-House of David player, at shortstop in the next few days. Cross, a resident of Yonkers, was signed to a contract yesterday.

Jones also revealed that the Colonials are dickering with the Cleveland Indians for the contract of Russell Royster, Harrisburg, Pa., Negro right hander, who has a 7-0 record in the Class B Inter-state League.

Ismael "Chico" Alvarado, Puerto Rican southpaw, has been recalled by the St. Hyacinthe club of the Canadian Provincial League which is managed by Hank Camelli.

The Colonials are momentarily expecting the arrival of another new infielder, Jones said.

Winners Show Great Form On Home Greens

Boice-Hughes Halve Van Aken-Randall

Flashing almost perfect form on their home greens, Twaalfskill Golf Club swingers upset Wiltwyck, 34 to 27, Sunday in the first half of the annual inter-club series.

While Wiltwyck's stars racked up a good lead on the Hurley avenue links in matches involving lower handicap players, the high handicap Twaalfskill players piled up an even greater margin on the midtown fairways.

Boice defeated Van Aken, while Randall won over Hughes. The teams matched best balls.

Dick Davenport and Dick Overbagh fired low medals of 73 at Wiltwyck, while Charles J. Turck's 79 was the best round at Twaalfskill. Leon Randall fired 75, George Hughes had a 76 and Alvin Boice posted 78 in the unorthodox fashion of 42-36. Bill Van Aken soared into the 80s.

In other top bracket pairings, J. Watson Bailey and Dr. Fred Holcomb, Jr., of Wiltwyck downed John Van Gonsic and Ed Remmert of Twaalfskill, 2 to ½.

Clarence "Dubby" Raichle and Dick Davenport of Wiltwyck downed Lou Smith and Dan Shufeldt of Twaalfskill, 3 to 0.

Former U. S. Open Champion

Faced with an approach shot of about 90 yards to the green, providing you are not hitting into a stiff wind, it will be a nine iron.

Lew Worsham

The idea is to get on the green as near the cup as possible so you can one putt.

Most of us, though, will settle just to get on the green and stay out of trouble.

The first thing to consider is the stance. Plant yourself firmly, lining the ball up between your feet, perhaps slightly to the right.

Remember, instead of a whole fairway at which to shoot, there's only a small greensward, surrounded by trouble.

Your grip is shortened, the left arm still straight.

The weight is slightly to the left.

Keep your eyes on the spot on the ball you expect to meet with the club.

The weight of the body shifts to the right at the start of the backswing.

At the top of the backswing, the shoulders are turned so the back faces the hole squarely, eyes still on the ball.

The wrists are cocked, the left arm is straight.

As the downswing progresses, the weight shifts back to the left.

Balance, so essential to any well-executed shot, still is maintained.

The follow through with the nine iron is shorter than is the case of longer clubs.

Oft-times players are prone to neglect following through because the shot generally is short.

As I wrote in the P.G.A.'s Teachers' Guide, don't.

After the follow through, you may raise your eyes to see the flight of the ball.

Up to this point, the eyes must remain steadfast in their original position.

NEXT: Jimmy Demaret on the seven iron.

KAA Chooses Veteran Stars

Appointment of four prominent local baseball figures as coaches for Kingston's first Little League program were announced today by Bob Umpleby, president of the Kingston Athletic Association, sponsors of Little League.

Heading the list is perhaps the city's best known baseball hero, Bernard A. "Bud" Culloton, a star flinger with the legendary original Colonials.

Others named include Joe Hoffman, veteran player and manager; Walt Black, a fabulous southpaw of the middle 30s, and Charlie Higgins.

Kingston fans will recognize the names of the first three immediately, and although Higgins is a comparative newcomer to the local scene, he has a solid background of high school and semi-pro experience in the Wilkes-Barre, Pa., area. He is associated locally with the Standard Furniture Company.

Umpleby Pleased

President Umpleby expressed confidence in the four selections and said they would lend valuable experience, color and class to the Little League setup.

"All four of these men have demonstrated interest in junior baseball through the years, including the recent KAA summer programs," Umpleby said. "We of KAA are very happy to be able to have their services."

Each coach will direct a team to be announced early this week and will work in conjunction with a "manager" selected by the kid players.

The greatest of Kingston pitchers (Myron Allen fans, please forgive) Culloton was the bellwether of the original Colonial staff, following his graduation from Fordham University where he was an all-time athletic great. He was signed by the Pittsburgh Pirates after losing a dazzling 10-inning exhibition to them at the old Fair Grounds and was a member of two National League pennant winners.

30-Year Veteran

Joe Hoffman has been part of the Kingston baseball scene for nearly 30 years. He played with the original Colonials and with virtually every semi-pro team of note in the area in the last three decades.

Upon his retirement as an active player, Hoffman took to coaching and managing and piloted the powerful Kingston Recreations for several seasons. In recent years he has been identified with the City Baseball League and his Chez Emile squads have dominated the twilight circuit for the past two seasons.

An unfortunate accident curbed Walt Black's pitching career about 15 years ago when he was at the peak of his form. An old Industrial League product, he was pitching phenomenal ball for John McCardle's All Stars.

The KAA's Little League is scheduled to start Saturday, June 23, at St. Mary's Field.

Pretenders to Chez Emile's Twi Throne Face Rough Going in Games This Week

Old Caps, Wiltwyck Schedules Rugged

Three teams are in the thick of the City League pennant race, with Chez Emile in the catbird seat as the twilight tossers resume activities this evening at the Athletic Field.

Joe Hoffman's Chezzie have won five out of six starts, but Old Caps and Wiltwyck Motors, with identical records of 3 and 1, are as well off in the important "lost Column" as the league leaders.

Both teams, however, must take their remaining two sets in order to tie the leaders and that is a physical impossibility, since they clash head-on in Thursday's feature.

Jones Dairy, a perennial powerhouse that has dropped three straight, may prove bad medicine for Old Capitals in this evening's clash. Ferraro's Bowlodrome, a rugged club when their defense is up to snuff, may put Wiltwyck Motors through the crucible tomorrow evening.

Felipe Leads Hitters

"Flippy" Felipe, of Old Capitals, is leading the individual hitters with a rousing .555 average. Joe Messinger, the league statistician revealed today. He also leads in doubles with three.

The statistical leaders:
Batting—Felipe (OC), .555.
Runs—Lindhurst (CE), 6.
Runs batted in—Dulin (FB), 7.
Hits—Munson (BG) 6.
Doubles—Felipe (OC), 3.
Home Runs—Rathbun (WM), 2.
Pitching—Tierney (BG) 2-0.
Earned-run-average: Tierney (BG) and Searfoss (CE) 0.00.
Strikeouts—Watzka (FB) 28; Tierney (BG) 25.

Bandits Get $69

New York, June 18 (AP)—Nicola Gentile and his wife, Jenny, were held up in their restaurant at 874 Morris Park avenue, the Bronx, early today by two bandits who took $69. The robbers, one of whom was armed with a gun, had forced the couple to lie down in the kitchen. They then took Gentile's wallet and emptied the cash register.

Patty Berg Beats La Babe in Playoff

Great Neck, N. Y., June 18 (AP)—Patty Berg was counting the $5,000 grand prize, Babe Didrickson Zaharias was banking the $2,500 consolation prize, and the United Cerebral Palsy Fund was $23,000 richer today following the stirring climax of the Weathervane Women's Cross Country tournament.

Playing a marvelous short game to more than offset the Babe's tremendous wood shots, Patty carded a three over par 75 for the second 18 holes of the playoff yesterday at the Deepdale Golf Club to edge out her opponent by one stroke. They had tied at 71 for the first 18 holes Saturday at the Scarsdale Golf Club at Scarsdale, N. Y.

The two expert shomakers had tied at 601 strokes at the end of the 144 holes of the regular tournament, which was played in 36-hole installments at Dallas, Tex., Pebble Beach, Calif., Indianapolis, Ind., and White Plains, N. Y.

It was Patty all the way yesterday. She sank a 30-foot putt for a birdie on the first hole to gain a stroke, gained another on the second hole as Babe's rather erratic putter failed her, and never was headed thereafter.

Knights of Columbus Plan Third Degree

The regular meeting of Kingston Council, Knights of Columbus, will be held tonight at 8:30 o'clock, and plans will be completed for the elevation of more than 100 candidates to the third degree June 24 at the hall. Those attending will include many from various councils in the Hudson valley.

Sunday afternoon a large class of candidates received the first and second degrees.

Th third degree rites will be in charge of District Deputy Frank A. Reis, Grand Knight James V. Geary and a trained degree team from New York.

First Mixed White, Negro Membership Seen

New York, June 18 (AP) — A Brooklyn congregation plans to become the first in the history of the Augustana Lutheran Church to have a mixed white and Negro membership.

The acting pastor of St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church, student Kenneth W. Dugan, said yesterday the congregation's dwindling white membership prompted the decision. The congregation is located in a predominantly Negro neighborhood.

He said the congregation had a choice of moving out of the neighborhood or disappearing if it was to preserve its all-white congregation. So the members decided to "stay right there and serve the community," he asserted.

The Augustana Lutheran Church is a national body affiliated with the National Lutheran Council.

Taxi Driver Robbed

New York, June 18 (AP)—Taxi driver Bert Mattner, Brooklyn, was robbed of $12 by a fare at 246th street and Waldo avenue, the Bronx, shortly before midnight last night. Mattner told police the fare got in his cab in midtown Manhattan and announced a holdup shortly after the cab turned off the Henry Hudson Parkway at 246th street. He said he did not see what weapon the man carried.

Petain, Ordered To Hospital, May Never Make Switch

Paris, June 18 (AP)—President Vincent Auriol has commuted the life imprisonment sentence of Marshal Henri Philippe Petain to permanent confinement in a hospital—but Petain may never be moved from the military prison on Ile d'Yeu.

The President announced the decision yesterday a few minutes after the polls closed in France's national elections. The decision to change the sentence of the World War 1 hero of Verdun was reached June 8, but kept a secret to avoid political repercussions.

Petain, now 95, is so ill that doctors report he cannot be lifted from his bed, according to the marshal's wife. The order may do nothing more than change the administration of the fortress on the Ile d'Yeu from a military prison to a military medical service.

Petain, convicted of treason after World War II for his part in the Vichy government which ruled France after the Nazi victory, thus technically will die in a hospital rather than in a prison.

There was some talk that the old marshal might be taken to a private home on the Ile d'Yeu, but this depended wholly upon whether he recovered enough to be moved.

Petain first had been sentenced to death, but Gen. Charles De Gaulle, then chief of state, commuted the sentence to life imprisonment.

Funeral Is Tuesday

Washington, June 18 (AP)—The old Sandy Point ferry will take Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough to his eastern shore Maryland home for the last time today. The colorful, 73-year-old jurist died here Saturday night of a heart attack at the home of his daughter-in-law, Mrs. T. Alan Goldsborough, Jr. His body was to lie in state until noon today at the Hines Funeral Home here. Funeral services are planned for tomorrow at 2 p. m., at his Denton, Md., home.

Driver is Killed

Yonkers, N. Y., June 18 (AP)—The driver was killed and two women passengers seriously injured early today when their car crashed into a tree on the Bronx River Parkway near here. The driver was identified as Leonard Wolf, 29, of 11 Arnold avenue, Hicksville, N. Y. The two women were taken to Lawrence Hospital at Bronxville.

Wharton Receives Anti-Control Mail

Congressman J. Ernest Wharton of the 30th New York district advised The Freeman today that he is receiving a great deal of mail from housewives and others in opposition to price controls.

One constituent, describing herself as a disgusted housewife, writes that the administration's present controls are "vicious." Di Salle, she states, puts on a ceiling and the storekeeper, if below that figure, invariably raises his price to the ceiling. Consequently, she is paying more for most items than before controls. Sirloin, she points out, was 98 cents at her market before controls and $1.15 after, and so it goes.

Recently Congressman Wharton attacked the price administration as a puny political effort aimed to distract the public mind while political hacks are appointed to the public payroll as control directors, superviors and legal experts per tem.

Congressman Wharton states that his mail from this district is running 10 to 1 in opposition to price controls.

Old Caps, Wiltwyck Schedules Rugged

Three teams are in the thick of the City League pennant race, with Chez Emile in the catbird seat as the twilight tossers resume activities this evening at the Athletic Field.

Joe Hoffman's Chezzie have won five out of six starts, but Old Caps and Wiltwyck Motors, with identical records of 3 and 1, are as well off in the important "lost Column" as the league leaders.

Both teams, however, must take their remaining two sets in order to tie the leaders and that is a physical impossibility, since they clash head-on in Thursday's feature.

Jones Dairy, a perennial powerhouse that has dropped three straight, may prove bad medicine for Old Capitals in this evening's clash. Ferraro's Bowlodrome, a rugged club when their defense is up to snuff, may put Wiltwyck Motors through the crucible tomorrow evening.

Felipe Leads Hitters

"Flippy" Felipe, of Old Capitals, is leading the individual hitters with a rousing .555 average. Joe Messinger, the league statistician revealed today. He also leads in doubles with three.

The statistical leaders:
Batting—Felipe (OC), .555.
Runs—Lindhurst (CE), 6.
Runs batted in—Dulin (FB), 7.
Hits—Munson (BG) 6.
Doubles—Felipe (OC), 3.
Home Runs—Rathbun (WM), 2.
Pitching—Tierney (BG) 2-0.
Earned-run-average: Tierney (BG) and Searfoss (CE) 0.00.
Strikeouts—Watzka (FB) 28; Tierney (BG) 25.

Bandits Get $69

New York, June 18 (AP)—Nicola Gentile and his wife, Jenny, were held up in their restaurant at 874 Morris Park avenue, the Bronx, early today by two bandits who took $69. The robbers, one of whom was armed with a gun, had forced the couple to lie down in the kitchen. They then took Gentile's wallet and emptied the cash register.

Patty Berg Beats La Babe in Playoff

Great Neck, N. Y., June 18 (AP)—Patty Berg was counting the $5,000 grand prize, Babe Didrickson Zaharias was banking the $2,500 consolation prize, and the United Cerebral Palsy Fund was $23,000 richer today following the stirring climax of the Weathervane Women's Cross Country tournament.

Playing a marvelous short game to more than offset the Babe's tremendous wood shots, Patty carded a three over par 75 for the second 18 holes of the playoff yesterday at the Deepdale Golf Club to edge out her opponent by one stroke. They had tied at 71 for the first 18 holes Saturday at the Scarsdale Golf Club at Scarsdale, N. Y.

The two expert shomakers had tied at 601 strokes at the end of the 144 holes of the regular tournament, which was played in 36-hole installments at Dallas, Tex., Pebble Beach, Calif., Indianapolis, Ind., and White Plains, N. Y.

It was Patty all the way yesterday. She sank a 30-foot putt for a birdie on the first hole to gain a stroke, gained another on the second hole as Babe's rather erratic putter failed her, and never was headed thereafter.

Knights of Columbus Plan Third Degree

The regular meeting of Kingston Council, Knights of Columbus, will be held tonight at 8:30 o'clock, and plans will be completed for the elevation of more than 100 candidates to the third degree June 24 at the hall. Those attending will include many from various councils in the Hudson valley.

Sunday afternoon a large class of candidates received the first and second degrees.

Th third degree rites will be in charge of District Deputy Frank A. Reis, Grand Knight James V. Geary and a trained degree team from New York.

First Mixed White, Negro Membership Seen

New York, June 18 (AP) — A Brooklyn congregation plans to become the first in the history of the Augustana Lutheran Church to have a mixed white and Negro membership.

The acting pastor of St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church, student Kenneth W. Dugan, said yesterday the congregation's dwindling white membership prompted the decision. The congregation is located in a predominantly Negro neighborhood.

He said the congregation had a choice of moving out of the neighborhood or disappearing if it was to preserve its all-white congregation. So the members decided to "stay right there and serve the community," he asserted.

The Augustana Lutheran Church is a national body affiliated with the National Lutheran Council.

Taxi Driver Robbed

New York, June 18 (AP)—Taxi driver Bert Mattner, Brooklyn, was robbed of $12 by a fare at 246th street and Waldo avenue, the Bronx, shortly before midnight last night. Mattner told police the fare got in his cab in midtown Manhattan and announced a holdup shortly after the cab turned off the Henry Hudson Parkway at 246th street. He said he did not see what weapon the man carried.

Petain, Ordered To Hospital, May Never Make Switch

Paris, June 18 (AP)—President Vincent Auriol has commuted the life imprisonment sentence of Marshal Henri Philippe Petain to permanent confinement in a hospital—but Petain may never be moved from the military prison on Ile d'Yeu.

The President announced the decision yesterday a few minutes after the polls closed in France's national elections. The decision to change the sentence of the World War 1 hero of Verdun was reached June 8, but kept a secret to avoid political repercussions.

Petain, now 95, is so ill that doctors report he cannot be lifted from his bed, according to the marshal's wife. The order may do nothing more than change the administration of the fortress on the Ile d'Yeu from a military prison to a military medical service.

Petain, convicted of treason after World War II for his part in the Vichy government which ruled France after the Nazi victory, thus technically will die in a hospital rather than in a prison.

There was some talk that the old marshal might be taken to a private home on the Ile d'Yeu, but this depended wholly upon whether he recovered enough to be moved.

Petain first had been sentenced to death, but Gen. Charles De Gaulle, then chief of state, commuted the sentence to life imprisonment.

Funeral Is Tuesday

Washington, June 18 (AP)—The old Sandy Point ferry will take Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough to his eastern shore Maryland home for the last time today. The colorful, 73-year-old jurist died here Saturday night of a heart attack at the home of his daughter-in-law, Mrs. T. Alan Goldsborough, Jr. His body was to lie in state until noon today at the Hines Funeral Home here. Funeral services are planned for tomorrow at 2 p. m., at his Denton, Md., home.

Driver is Killed

Yonkers, N. Y., June 18 (AP)—The driver was killed and two women passengers seriously injured early today when their car crashed into a tree on the Bronx River Parkway near here. The driver was identified as Leonard Wolf, 29, of 11 Arnold avenue, Hicksville, N. Y. The two women were taken to Lawrence Hospital at Bronxville.

Wharton Receives Anti-Control Mail

Congressman J. Ernest Wharton of the 30th New York district advised The Freeman today that he is receiving a great deal of mail from housewives and others in opposition to price controls.

One constituent, describing herself as a disgusted housewife, writes that the administration's present controls are "vicious." Di Salle, she states, puts on a ceiling and the storekeeper, if below that figure, invariably raises his price to the ceiling. Consequently, she is paying more for most items than before controls. Sirloin, she points out, was 98 cents at her market before controls and $1.15 after, and so it goes.

Recently Congressman Wharton attacked the price administration as a puny political effort aimed to distract the public mind while political hacks are appointed to the public payroll as control directors, superviors and legal experts per tem.

Congressman Wharton states that his mail from this district is running 10 to 1 in opposition to price controls.

Fire Fund Holds Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Kingston City Fire Fund Association was held Sunday at Wiltwyck engine house on Fair street at 11 o'clock, followed by a dinner at Judie's. The Fire Fund Association was created and organized on March 4, 1878, and is one of the oldest firemanic organizations in the city.

All of the officers were re-elected. L. E. Dunne was re-named president; Edgar Harlow, vice-president; Edward J. Ryan, secretary. Francis S. Cashin was named treasurer for the 20th year. Mr. Cashin had represented Union Hose Company in the association for 38 years.

Delegates from the various fire companies who attended were:

Edward J. Ryan and Francis J. McCardle, Twaalfskill Hose.

Raymond L. Whitbeck, A. H. Wicks Rose Company.

John Maley, Cornell company.

Floyd Ellsworth, Cordts Hose.

Fred Albrecht, Rapid Hose.

Edgar Harlow, Rescue Hook and Ladder.

Francis S. Cashin, Union Hose.

Fred C. Harder and Edwin Kolts, Weiner Hose.

L. E. Dunne, Wiltwyck.

William B. Martin, Excelsior Hose.

Guests at the meeting were Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy, Commissioners Kelsch, Burr and Derrenbacher. Mayor Newkirk and Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly were unable to attend the dinner because of prior commitments. Francis Wynne, representing the old firemen, was a guest.

Following the dinner Chief Murphy spoke of the fine work which has been done by the volunteer firemen and the splendid co-operation between the volunteers and the members of the paid department since he has been fire chief. He also said the recent resignation of Seth Cole, who has represented the volunteer firemen before the state legislature for many years, would be a serious loss to them and it would be hard to replace Mr. Cole.

William B. Martin acted as toastmaster at the dinner and at the close of the meal several of the members gave brief talks, discussing matters of interest to the members.

Symington Makes Charge

Washington, June 18 (AP)—Administrator Stuart Symington of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation charged today a former RFC official, Allen E. Freeze, 52, of Dallas, accepted employment from an RFC borrower at the same time RFC was employing him at $10,750 a year. Symington told a news conference he has referred the case to the Justice Department for possible prosecution on criminal charges and he has instructed RFC's general counsel to bring a civil suit against Freeze. Freeze resigned as assistant comptroller of the RFC last September 28 to become vice president and comptroller of the Taxmass Corp., Dallas, at a salary of $22,500 a year. The salary since has been raised, Symington said.

Large Cache Found

Baghdad, Iraq, June 18 (AP)—Iraqi police say they have found a large cache of machine guns, bombs and ammunition in the former home of a prominent Jew. The police said they were led to the hidden firearms and explosives by an unidentified "foreign spy" who was arrested two months ago.

Admits War Over

Junji Inoue (above), 43-year-old Japanese Navy petty officer, still wearing parachute cloth clothing, is shown following his rescue last week from Anathan, Marianas Island by a U. S. Navy expedition. He was one of 19 Japanese soldiers, sailors and fishermen marooned on the tiny volcanic islands seven years ago. Inoue said most of the men he left behind are firmly convinced Japan is still at war with the United States and plan to defend themselves to the death. (U. S. Navy radiophoto via AP Wirephoto)

Alert Test Termed

and these are to be purchased in the near future. Another test will be given when they are installed.

All paid firemen and 95 volunteer and auxiliary firemen responded to the alert in an average time of five minutes. It is expected that an alert without advance notice may bring a slower response.

Ulster Hose Company was included because of its nearness to the city and heavily populated area it protects, and it responded with 15 men.

The sirens were reported as "barely audible" in the Washington and Hurley avenue area, the Ponckhockie section, Wilbur avenue and Abeel street, and Patrolman Gurnsey Burger, Jr., reported hearing no signal at Flatbush avenue and East Chester street.

Death Toll Is 40

Montreal, June 18 (AP)—The Grey Nuns Order announced today that 40 persons perished in the flames which swept through Ste. Cunegonde Orphanage and Old People's Home here Friday. The dead included 37 elderly women, an elderly man and two nuns. Five of the bodies remain unaccounted for in this city's worst fire in 24 years.

Stewart Soldiers Held for Assault

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 18 (AP)—Three air force soldiers were held on second-degree assault charges today in the stabbing of a local teen-ager in a cafe brawl.

The victim of the stabbing, Benhardt Gresch, 18, was reported in critical condition in Vassar Hospital.

Police said he was wounded in the body and legs with a pen knife in a fight with the soldiers outside a cafe after they argued with the cafe bartender who had refused to serve them drinks after hours.

Gresch had sided with the bartender, police said.

Held in Dutchess County Jail, pending a hearing Wednesday, were Morton M. Carrell, 23, of Claremore, Okla.; Guy T. Ozment, 18, of Toone, Tenn., Barry O. Dotson, 27, of Marbel City, Okla., all privates from Stewart Field airbase. They pleaded innocent at their arraignment today.

Two Guards Killed In U. S. Embassy

Havana, Cuba, June 18 (AP)—Two guards were found shot to death in the office of the United States embassy in downtown Havana today.

Details of the shooting were not immediately available. The embassy was closed to all except officials and they refused to talk about it on the telephone.

First reports said one of the dead was a Cuban civilian guard, while the other was a member of the U. S. Marine Corps. Marines are stationed at embassies abroad as special guards.

Dozens of Cuban police and Secret Service men aided U. S. officials in investigatiion of the deaths.

MacArthur Probe

scheduled to testify tomorrow. Russell said Harriman and the committee agreed that his testimony would cover ground already well covered by other witnesses.

Harriman was among the small group of top administration officials who took part in White House conferences which were held during the days preceeding the firing of MacArthur by President Truman on April 11.

"The committee unanimously approved a subcommittee's recommendation that it would be in the public interest to conclude the hearings at the earliest possible date," Russell said.

He added that no specific date was fixed, but "we should be though at the latest by the middle of next week."

May End This Week

The chairman said he saw some possibility of winding up by the end of this week.

Russell had no immediate word as to the hearing schedule for the four remaining witnesses.

General O'Donnell himself became a center of controversy last January when he returned from Korea and was quoted in an interview at March Air Base, California, as saying the United States could use "the ultimate weapon" with effectiveness in Korea.

A reporter asked what was meant by the "ultimate weapon" and O'Donnell was quoted as replying, "the atomic bomb."

O'Donnell is now commanding general of the 15th Air Force at March Air Base.

1,048,000 Vets Employed

Washington, June 18 (AP)—The number of veterans employed by the executive agencies of the government reached an all-time peak on April 1, the Civil Service Commission reported today. It said the number of persons getting preferential treatment accorded veterans on that date was 1,040,800. Of these, 995,200 were ex-servicemen, 26,400 were ex-servicewomen, and 19,200 were widows and mothers of deceased veterans or wives and mothers of totally disabled veterans. The 1,040,800 persons represented 47 per cent of the 2,196,316 total civilian employment in the executive branch of the government on April 1, the commission said.

Service Is Restored

New York, June 18 (AP)—Pan American World Airways restored normal Atlantic service from New York today as 1,000 striking CIO Transport Workers started to return to their jobs. Four overseas flights were canceled since the work stoppage started Friday, and 39 other [illegible] were delayed from one to 24 hours.

Several Escape Injury In New Paltz Crash

Several passengers in two cars escaped injury Sunday in a collision in New Paltz village at the junction of Route 32 and Broadhead street.

A car operated north on Route 32 by Randall Brooks, 16, of Gardiner, who had as passengers in his car Kenneth Brooks, 47, Madge Brooks, 37, and Nick Kuerstine, 72, of New Paltz, and a car owned and operated by Ernest Pascal, 56, of Woodside, collided when the Pascal car pulled into a drive and started to make a "U" turn. The cars came together broadside, troopers who investigated, report. There were no injuries.

Boy Is Found Alive

Lake Hopatcong, N. J., June 18 (AP)—A three-year-old boy, missing since Thursday, was found alive in a wooded area early today about a half-mile from his home. Rushed to nearby Dover General Hospital, the tot, Richard L. Dingham, was reported resting comfortably and in "fair" condition. A hospital spokesman said he was suffering from exposure and under nourishment. According to state police a member of a disbanding search party who wanted to look "a while longer" stumbled over the boy about midnight.

PICK OF PARIS—Romane Andrea, 25-year-old glamor girl, holds high the trophy she won as "the most beautiful pin-up of the year" in Paris' annual water fete. Though she won her title in a driving rain, no one accused the judges of being "all wet." (NEA-Acme photo by Staff Photographer Rene Henry.)

Chirlin Taken To Vassar Hospital

A truck owned by the Forst Packing Company, driven by Henry Filiatrult, 34, of 7 Lebert street, Kingston and a car owned and operated by Max Chirlin, 42, of 14 Warren street, were involved in an accident at West Park at 9:10 o'clock this morning. Chirlin was taken to Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie, suffering from a laceration of the scalp and an injury to his right knee. He was thrown from his car which was proceeding south on Route 9W.

State police at Highland made an investigation and reported the truck was proceeding south on 9W when it made a left turn off the road to make a delivery at the MacFarland restaurant.

The Chirlin car was proceeding south and struck the rear of the truck when the operator was unable to stop. The troopers reported the two cars came together with such force that Chirlin was thrown from his car. There was no arrest.

Three Men Hurt As Car Overturns

Three men were injured early this morning when their car overturned on route 9W two miles south of Saugerties at 3:45 o'clock. All were treated at the Dale Sanitarium in Saugerties and discharged.

Philip Ruggiero, 45, of Frankfort, was driving south on Route 9W when, according to the report made to state troopers at Lake Katrine, his car was forced off the road to the shoulder by a car coming north. The car went out of control and overturned on the south lane.

Ruggiero received a fractured right wrist and contusions of the hip. James Vedete, 43, Utica, reported a back injury and William Battaglia, 24, of Trenton, N. J., reported contusions of the shoulder.

The driver of the car said the offending machine was not identified, and he had no description of the car.

Three Persons Hurt In Local Accident

Three persons were injured in a car-truck collision at Mary's avenue and West O'Reilly street Saturday.

The police report at 6:10 p. m., listed the injured as Peter E. Scheid, 32, of 162 Wrentham street, who suffered injuries of the knees and right arm; Helen Scheid, same address, a scalp laceration, and William Kelder, 54, of Bloomington, scalp lacerations. All were treated at the Benedictine Hospital and discharged.

The police report said the truck, owned and operated by Kelder was headed west on O'Reilly street and the Scheid car was going north on Mary's avenue when they were in collision. The car was damaged on its front and the truck on its left side. Officer Louis Sapp, Jr., investigated.

64,246 Rent Hikes Filed by Landlords

New York, June 18 (AP)—Landlords in New York state filed 64,246 reports of voluntary leases with rent increases up to 15 per cent between March 15 and June 1.

The figure was reported last night by State Rent Administrator Joseph D. McGoldrick in his second report under the new rent and eviction regulations.

The average increase was 13 per cent. In 6,394 cases the tenants obtained additional services or facilities as a condition of signing leases for two years or more.

Of the leases filed, 9,272 were upstate.

During the same ten-week period, applications for rent increases covering 19,272 rental units in apartment buildings and dwelling houses were received from landlords claiming their properties were not earning four per cent of their equalized assessed valuations.

Of the 19,272 applications, 1,075 were filed in upstate communities.

The rent administration denied 824 of the upstate applications out of the 1,029 processed, and granted 205 for a total increase of $1,488 a month. McGoldrick said the applications "lacking merit" were disposed of quickly, and that therefore the percentage of denials might be lower on those still to be processed.

500 Persons See Kiddieland Rail Service Opening

Approximately 500 people were on hand Saturday night for the dedication ceremonies opening D-D's Kiddieland Express, a miniature train ride on 9W three miles north of Kingston.

Albert Di Donna, operator of the railroad and the drive-in restaurant nearby, drove a "gold" spike into one of the ties, the usual procedure in dedicating a railroad and there was a champagne christening.

Mrs. Arthur H. Wicks broke the bottle on the head end of the locomotive while her husband, State Senate Majority Leader Arthur H. Wicks looked on with a smile that reflected his well wishes for the success of the enterprise.

"It will be a grand thing for the kiddies," he remarked as he watched a flock of youngsters board the train.

The senator and Mrs. Wicks were passengers on the first ride prior to leaving on an out-of-town trip.

Harry Long, a retired New York Central System engineer with more than 48 years of service, piloted the model deisel streamliner for the initial ride.

Railroader Cuts Ribbon

Other railroaders took part in the ceremonies. Frank Vault, supervisor of tracks for the Central, cut the ribbon spread across the tracks in front of the train and presented pieces to his crew that laid the rails after their regular working time.

Alderman John Buboltz of the 4th Ward, a maintenance foreman on the Central, said the project was completed in 55 hours, and advised that it was one of the most difficult jobs he had ever worked on. The rails that were shipped in straight lengths had to be bent by hand for the various curves on the line.

The miniature train ride is an actual 1/3 scale model of one of the big General Motors deisel streamliners, and has many of the safety features of the regular trains such as air brakes and a low center of gravity which gives the illusion of speed but without actually speeding and prevents tipping or swaying.

There is room for 36 passengers in the cars, which have all-steel bodies.

Alderman at Large Joseph Kelly opened the ceremonies with a speech expressing well wishes for the railroad operators and a lot of enjoyment to the young riders.

Among other city officials on hand for the dedication was Fire Commissioner Charles Derrenbacher, whose two sons, Richard and Michael were on the first ride.

Sailing Is Canceled

New York, June 18 (AP)—Sailing of the American Export liner Elmira Victory was canceled today, the first ship in the port of New York to be affected by maritime labor disputes that tied up every major seaport in the nation. Two other American Export ships, the Exbrook and Exermont, are scheduled to sail tomorrow, but line officials said it was doubtful whether they would be able to leave. All three are combined passenger and cargo ships.

Bids to Open June 20 For Woodstock Road

Bids for resurfacing the main street of Woodstock from the Country Club bridge to a point near the Methodist Church are being sought by the State Department of Public Works. Bids will be opened June 20. The engineer's estimate of the cost of the job is $60,000.

Plans call for resurfacing the present concrete pavement with black-top and also the paving of the shoulders from curb to curb with the asphalt preparation. It is expected that the black-topping of the 1.34 miles can be completed in approximately 10 days, once the contract is awarded and the work commenced.

Fire Fund Holds Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Kingston City Fire Fund Association was held Sunday at Wiltwyck engine house on Fair street at 11 o'clock, followed by a dinner at Judie's. The Fire Fund Association was created and organized on March 4, 1878, and is one of the oldest firemanic organizations in the city.

All of the officers were re-elected. L. E. Dunne was re-named president; Edgar Harlow, vice-president; Edward J. Ryan, secretary. Francis S. Cashin was named treasurer for the 20th year. Mr. Cashin had represented Union Hose Company in the association for 38 years.

Delegates from the various fire companies who attended were:

Edward J. Ryan and Francis J. McCardle, Twaalfskill Hose.

Raymond L. Whitbeck, A. H. Wicks Rose Company.

John Maley, Cornell company.

Floyd Ellsworth, Cordts Hose.

Fred Albrecht, Rapid Hose.

Edgar Harlow, Rescue Hook and Ladder.

Francis S. Cashin, Union Hose.

Fred C. Harder and Edwin Kolts, Weiner Hose.

L. E. Dunne, Wiltwyck.

William B. Martin, Excelsior Hose.

Guests at the meeting were Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy, Commissioners Kelsch, Burr and Derrenbacher. Mayor Newkirk and Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly were unable to attend the dinner because of prior commitments. Francis Wynne, representing the old firemen, was a guest.

Following the dinner Chief Murphy spoke of the fine work which has been done by the volunteer firemen and the splendid co-operation between the volunteers and the members of the paid department since he has been fire chief. He also said the recent resignation of Seth Cole, who has represented the volunteer firemen before the state legislature for many years, would be a serious loss to them and it would be hard to replace Mr. Cole.

William B. Martin acted as toastmaster at the dinner and at the close of the meal several of the members gave brief talks, discussing matters of interest to the members.

Symington Makes Charge

Washington, June 18 (AP)—Administrator Stuart Symington of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation charged today a former RFC official, Allen E. Freeze, 52, of Dallas, accepted employment from an RFC borrower at the same time RFC was employing him at $10,750 a year. Symington told a news conference he has referred the case to the Justice Department for possible prosecution on criminal charges and he has instructed RFC's general counsel to bring a civil suit against Freeze. Freeze resigned as assistant comptroller of the RFC last September 28 to become vice president and comptroller of the Taxmass Corp., Dallas, at a salary of $22,500 a year. The salary since has been raised, Symington said.

Large Cache Found

Baghdad, Iraq, June 18 (AP)—Iraqi police say they have found a large cache of machine guns, bombs and ammunition in the former home of a prominent Jew. The police said they were led to the hidden firearms and explosives by an unidentified "foreign spy" who was arrested two months ago.

and these are to be purchased in the near future. Another test will be given when they are installed.

All paid firemen and 95 volunteer and auxiliary firemen responded to the alert in an average time of five minutes. It is expected that an alert without advance notice may bring a slower response.

Ulster Hose Company was included because of its nearness to the city and heavily populated area it protects, and it responded with 15 men.

The sirens were reported as "barely audible" in the Washington and Hurley avenue area, the Ponckhockie section, Wilbur avenue and Abeel street, and Patrolman Gurnsey Burger, Jr., reported hearing no signal at Flatbush avenue and East Chester street.

Death Toll Is 40

Montreal, June 18 (AP)—The Grey Nuns Order announced today that 40 persons perished in the flames which swept through Ste. Cunegonde Orphanage and Old People's Home here Friday. The dead included 37 elderly women, an elderly man and two nuns. Five of the bodies remain unaccounted for in this city's worst fire in 24 years.

Stewart Soldiers Held for Assault

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 18 (AP)—Three air force soldiers were held on second-degree assault charges today in the stabbing of a local teen-ager in a cafe brawl.

The victim of the stabbing, Benhardt Gresch, 18, was reported in critical condition in Vassar Hospital.

Police said he was wounded in the body and legs with a pen knife in a fight with the soldiers outside a cafe after they argued with the cafe bartender who had refused to serve them drinks after hours.

Gresch had sided with the bartender, police said.

Held in Dutchess County Jail, pending a hearing Wednesday, were Morton M. Carrell, 23, of Claremore, Okla.; Guy T. Ozment, 18, of Toone, Tenn., Barry O. Dotson, 27, of Marbel City, Okla., all privates from Stewart Field airbase. They pleaded innocent at their arraignment today.

Two Guards Killed In U. S. Embassy

Havana, Cuba, June 18 (AP)—Two guards were found shot to death in the office of the United States embassy in downtown Havana today.

Details of the shooting were not immediately available. The embassy was closed to all except officials and they refused to talk about it on the telephone.

First reports said one of the dead was a Cuban civilian guard, while the other was a member of the U. S. Marine Corps. Marines are stationed at embassies abroad as special guards.

Dozens of Cuban police and Secret Service men aided U. S. officials in investigation of the deaths.

MacArthur Probe

scheduled to testify tomorrow. Russell said Harriman and the committee agreed that his testimony would cover ground already well covered by other witnesses.

Harriman was among the small group of top administration officials who took part in White House conferences which were held during the days preceeding the firing of MacArthur by President Truman on April 11.

"The committee unanimously approved a subcommittee's recommendation that it would be in the public interest to conclude the hearings at the earliest possible date," Russell said.

He added that no specific date was fixed, but "we should be though at the latest by the middle of next week."

May End This Week

The chairman said he saw some possibility of winding up by the end of this week.

Russell had no immediate word as to the hearing schedule for the four remaining witnesses.

General O'Donnell himself became a center of controversy last January when he returned from Korea and was quoted in an interview at March Air Base, California, as saying the United States could use "the ultimate weapon" with effectiveness in Korea.

A reporter asked what was meant by the "ultimate weapon" and O'Donnell was quoted as replying, "the atomic bomb."

The White House took occasion to say that O'Donnell himself later backed away from an outright endorsement of use of the A-bomb.

O'Donnell is now commanding general of the 15th Air Force at March Air Base.

1,048,000 Vets Employed

Washington, June 18 (AP)—The number of veterans employed by the executive agencies of the government reached an all-time peak on April 1, the Civil Service Commission reported today. It said the number of persons getting preferential treatment accorded veterans on that date was 1,040,800. Of these, 995,200 were ex-servicemen, 26,400 were ex-servicewomen, and 19,200 were widows and mothers of deceased veterans or wives and mothers of totally disabled veterans. The 1,040,800 persons represented 47 per cent of the 2,196,316 total civilian employment in the executive branch of the government on April 1, the commission said.

Service Is Restored

Several Escape Injury In New Paltz Crash

Several passengers in two cars escaped injury Sunday in a collision in New Paltz village at the junction of Route 32 and Broadhead street.

A car operated north on Route 32 by Randall Brooks, 16, of Gardiner, who had as passengers in his car Kenneth Brooks, 47, Madge Brooks, 37, and Nick Kuerstine, 72, of New Paltz, and a car owned and operated by Ernest Pascal, 56, of Woodside, collided when the Pascal car pulled into a drive and started to make a "U" turn. The cars came together broadside, troopers who investigated, report. There were no injuries.

Boy Is Found Alive

Lake Hopatcong, N. J., June 18 (AP)—A three-year-old boy, missing since Thursday, was found alive in a wooded area early today about a half-mile from his home. Rushed to nearby Dover General Hospital, the tot, Richard L. Dingham, was reported resting comfortably and in "fair" condition. A hospital spokesman said he was suffering from exposure and under nourishment. According to state police a member of a disbanding search party who wanted to look "a while longer" stumbled over the boy about midnight.

Chirlin Taken To Vassar Hospital

A truck owned by the Forst Packing Company, driven by Henry Filiatrult, 34, of 7 Lebert street, Kingston and a car owned and operated by Max Chirlin, 42, of 14 Warren street, were involved in an accident at West Park at 9:10 o'clock this morning. Chirlin was taken to Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie, suffering from a laceration of the scalp and an injury to his right knee. He was thrown from his car which was proceeding south on Route 9W.

State police at Highland made an investigation and reported the truck was proceeding south on 9W when it made a left turn off the road to make a delivery at the MacFarland restaurant.

The Chirlin car was proceeding south and struck the rear of the truck when the operator was unable to stop. The troopers reported the two cars came together with such force that Chirlin was thrown from his car. There was no arrest.

Three Men Hurt As Car Overturns

Three men were injured early this morning when their car overturned on route 9W two miles south of Saugerties at 3:45 o'clock. All were treated at the Dale Sanitarium in Saugerties and discharged.

Philip Ruggiero, 45, of Frankfort, was driving south on Route 9W when, according to the report made to state troopers at Lake Katrine, his car was forced off the road to the shoulder by a car coming north. The car went out of control and overturned on the south lane.

Ruggiero received a fractured right wrist and contusions of the hip. James Vedete, 43, Utica, reported a back injury and William Battaglia, 24, of Trenton, N. J., reported contusions of the shoulder.

The driver of the car said the offending machine was not identified, and he had no description of the car.

Three Persons Hurt In Local Accident

Three persons were injured in a car-truck collision at Mary's avenue and West O'Reilly street Saturday.

The police report at 6:10 p. m., listed the injured as Peter E. Scheid, 32, of 162 Wrentham street, who suffered injuries of the knees and right arm; Helen Scheid, same address, a scalp laceration, and William Kelder, 54, of Bloomington, scalp lacerations. All were treated at the Benedictine Hospital and discharged.

The police report said the truck, owned and operated by Kelder was headed west on O'Reilly street and the Scheid car was going north on Mary's avenue when they were in collision. The car was damaged on its front and the truck on its left side. Officer Louis Sapp, Jr., investigated.

Honorary Degrees Awarded

Moose Lodge

ant District Attorney Vincent G. Connelly, Attorney Frank Martocci, a member who served as legal adviser in the purchase of the home; Bernard A. Feeney, former president of the board of education; Wesley J. Leinweber, new superintendent of Moosehaven, Orange Park, Fla., and Anthony Erena, vice president of District 5 and past deputy supreme governor of the Moose. They were introduced by Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly, master of ceremonies for the occasion.

Finest Clubhouse

Vice President Erena, a past governor of Kingston Lodge, gave a history of the local unit from the time of its inception on May 8, 1912, and expressed the pleasure of the members at being able to boast of "the finest clubhouse in the United States."

He referred to Director General Giles as an outstanding leader with 35 years of service to the Moose, and complimented him on being honored by the University of Maryland with an honorary degree of bachelor of social science.

Giles gave the address at the university's commencement exercises this year.

Visitors were present yesterday from Moose lodges in all areas of New York state, and the degrees for new members was conducted by the team from Salamanca, which holds the distinction of having won first place in national competition.

The drill team from Poughkeepsie Lodge which won a prize at the recent state convention gave a demonstration, and other entertainment was furnished by a group of youngsters including Marian Wolf and Sandra Mackey, tap dancers, Joseph Amato, Jr., impersonator, Betty Bunce and Kathleen Mehm. Music was furnished by Joe Myers and his orchestra.

Class of New Members

New members initiated Sunday were Edwin Marshall, John Hetsco, George Relyea, Gabriel Szekeres, Louis Clausi, Edward H. Feldmann, Charles M. Dagwell, John Gleason, Nicholas Dolfres, Michael J. Eigo, Alton Feistel, George Barnes, Amedy Wood, Fred Churchwell, Ignatius Prusak, John Miller, Lawrence Hyatt, Edward Mayer, William McElrath, Jr., Richard L. Goldsmith, John J. Scully, Charles Miller, James H. Longendyke, J. A. McDonald, Walter Gardeski, Michael R. Spada, Norman Sherry, William G. Nessell, Benedict Salerno, William J. Best, Paul Senecal, Murry Weiss, Nicholas Schwartz, and Edward Wyant.

Committees for the dedication were:

Kitchen—B. Sampson, Gordon Purhamus, Ray Barten, Burton Spray, Joseph Barris, Joseph Myers, Casper Zelickman and Elmer Williams.

"wasn't from around here and we probably won't get him in this area."

"But," he added, "we'll find him."

A cow that the rifle-toting slayer was transporting in the truck was believed to be one snatched from a farm at Sheffield, Mass., may 29.

The cow, abandoned with the truck, was examined by Nicholas Pshenesky of Sheffield, who said he was almost certain it was one of two stolen from his herd.

State police theorized that the killer apparently was headed for a cattle auction near Oneonta Thursday afternoon or one that night at Afton, south of here, when he was halted by Diffendale.

There was no indication why Diffendale had stopped the truck, although it had unmatching front and rear license plates, also stolen.

The truck, stolen from New Haven, Conn., last Dec. 30, had been used in several cow thefts in Connecticut and Massachusetts, police said.

State police were checking operators of auction sales held in the vicinity to see whether any could offer a description of the man who had driven the truck.

Teen-Age Dope

with 25 per cent coming from Chicago.

Dr. Vogel is the medical officer in charge of the Lexington Hospital and another at Fort Worth, Tex., with a total capacity of 2,400 beds for narcotics patients.

It was announced Saturday that 300 beds are to be added at the Fort Worth Hospital.

Manhattan Assistant District Attorney Irving Slonim told the Legion conference that a two-year probe of illegal dope sales showed that $100,000,000 worth of narcotics a year was peddled illicitly here.

The estimate applied to the past two years.

Austin McCormick, professor of criminology at the University of California, said the current narcotics addiction wave is a "temporary phenomenon" similar to the "habit of toting flasks during the 1920's, but much worse."

He said that at least one baby was born a narcotics addict because the mother was addicted. Drugs had to be administered to the new-born infant, he said.

Messinger Gets Award in Korea

Co. Edwin J. Messinger, who has been in Korea since last July with the 9th Regiment of the famous Second Division, has been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross, according to information received in Kingston. The award was made for outstanding service in the Korean campaign. It is expected that Col. Messinger will return shortly to the United States where he has been assigned to the National War College.

While at West Point Col. Messinger was an outstanding football player, carrying on the tradition which he earned while attending Kingston High School where he starred in football.

Col. Messinger is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob L. Messinger of this city, and is a brother of Mrs. George Hutt of Long Island and Mrs. Edward J. Luedtke of 165 Abruyn avenue.

Bridge Authority

issuing bonds and assuming the remaining debt on the Mid-Hudson bridge the way is cleared for construction of the Kingston-Rhnebeck structure.

To Sign Contract

Several months ago it was announced by the Bridge Authority that a resolution had been approved by the Authority to employ Dr. D. B. Steinman, internationally known bridge engineer, to design the bridge. That agreement had been prepared by the Bridge Authority's attorneys and it is expected the contract will be signed within the next two weeks by the Authority and Dr. Steinman.

New Power

fully phrased statement that the just-concluded Eniwetok series "indicate continuing improvement in weapons design."

But if you look elsewhere, you may find interesting evidence.

Consider the curious remark which Rep. F. Edward Hebert (D-La.), who attended one of the Eniwetok tests, says he heard made by Dr. Edward Teller, a top scientist of the Los Alamos laboratory:

"'In 1934 nobody had ever heard of the atom bomb and today it is obsolete.'"

Favors 1950 Census Bases

Niagara Falls, N. Y., June 18 (AP)—The New York State Conference of Mayors wants the Moore plan of state aid to localities based on the 1950 census instead of the 1940 population count. At the closing session of the conference's 42nd annual meeting Saturday, a resolution was adopted calling for "payment of local assistance on a more realistic basis which would increase the per capita payments to municipalities."

Legislators Begin Final Decision On Tax Increase

Washington, June 18 (AP)—Opposing political currents tugged today at the $7,233,000,000 tax increase bill, due for a final decision in the House this week.

Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) of the Ways and Means Committee wants to call the big revenue measure up in the House Wednesday under procedure limiting general debate to two days and barring amendments. The rules committee must pass on that. Doughton hopes to pass the bill and send it to the Senate by Friday.

Six Republican members of the ways and means group who voted against the bill have a chance to organize opposition to it at a general caucus of all House Republicans this afternoon.

Rep. Reed of New York, ranking ways and means Republican, said it now appears likely an attempt will be made to send the bill back to committee for redrafting without specific instructions.

Surprised at Opposition

"I have been surprised at the growing opposition to this bill shown both on the House floor and in the cloakrooms," he told a reporter.

Reed and Rep. Richard M. Simpson of Pennsylyania, among other Republicans, have been especially critical of the Democratic majority's decision to step up the voltage of the corporate excess profits tax without waiting for a further check on the impact of the measure which took effect only last year. They said the Democrats had agreed early in the hearings not to press for any changes in that levy this year, and that business had made its plans accordingly.

The excess profits tax revision and other proposed corporate tax increases account for $2,855,000,000 for the estimated additional revenue. Individual income taxes would rise by 12½ per cent, for another $2,847,000,000. Excise tax boosts and a new tax on wagering are counted on for $1,252,000,000. Miscellaneous changes would bring the estimated total increase to $7,233,000,000, compared with the $10,000,000,000 President Truman asked months ago.

Arrested for Assault

Robert Marshall, 25, of 54 Gill street, was arrested by his wife, Joan at 1:45 a. m., Sunday on a charge of third degree assault. The case was put over to July 9 when he appeared before City Judge Mino today. James H. Longendyke, 34, of 446 Delaware avenue, was arrested by his wife, Dorothy, at 5:10 p. m., Sunday on a charge of third degree assault. The charge was withdrawn in city court today.
